SITES STUDIED FOR NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY

Officers of Minnesota Guard Favor 3 Sites After Inspection Tour

Brigadier Generals Joseph E. Nelson and P. C. Bettenburg of St. Paul, officers of the Minnesota National Guard, accompanied by Captain Gordon L. Kinley, came by plane to Thief River Falls Monday morning, and spent the day here conferring with local officials on plans for the erection of an armory, probably in 1949.

Of eight prospective sites for the structure inspected by the guard officers, they voiced the view that three were most acceptable. These include the former Central school grounds on East Fourth st., the block comprising the west side park, and the site of the present court house, should that building be abandoned.

The officers stated that in the event an armory is erected here, the city would be expected to donate the site as well as to make a tax levy of not to exceed one-half mill to assist in retiring the bonds issued to finance construction, the levy to cease when the bonds are paid.

Mayor Harry E. Simons stated yesterday he favored submitting the matter to a vote of the people before any definite action is taken on the proposal. The guard officers also urged a full and free discussion of all the issues involved, so that the sentiments of local people may be learned.

General Nelson said this city is one of 16 communities in Minnesota in which early construction of armories is planned by the armory building commission. He also stated that the next session of Congress is expected to enact a law to subsidize construction, but that the commission plans to go forward with its program regardless of federal action.

General Bettenburg said the proposed armory would be approximately 120 feet square, and would require a site several times that size to provide parking facilities for National Gudrd vehicles.

It was also pointed out that the city would be allowed free use of the structure for non-profit events, paying only for the necessary heat and lights.

The Sons of Norway lodge will hold a meeting, followed by a social hour, this evening at 8 o'clock, Herman A. Kjos, president, stated today.

REGISTRATION FOR PEACETIME DRAFT TO START NEXT MONDAY

Persons born in 1926, Wednesday, September 8, or Thursday, September 9.

Persons born in 1927, Friday, September 10, or Saturday, September 11.

Persons born in 1928, Monday, September 13, or on Tuesday, September 14.

Persons born in 1929, Wednesday, September 15, or Thursday, September 16.

Persons born in 1930 before September 19, 1930, Friday, September 17, or Saturday, September 18.

Persons who were born on or after September 19, 1930, shall be registered on the day they attain the eighteenth anniversary of the day of their birth, or within five days thereafter.

President Truman Friday set many a mind at rest by officially deferring married men, farmers, all men with dependents and many others from the 21-month peacetime draft.

The deferments are far more liberal than they were during World War II.

Most of them had been predicted long ago, but they were not official until the president announced them Friday in a 30-page set of regulations that also ordered selective service to speed up induction machinery.

This will be accomplished by sending out the all-important classification questionnaires as soon as possible to single, non-father, non-veteran eligibles after men 18 through 25 register at their local boards between Aug. 30 and Sept. 18. Later, all except 18-year-olds must fill out the questionnaires.

These forms, which will go to draft-age men 19 through 25, must be filled out in 10 days and returned to draft boards which will use them to determine classifications. Youths of 18 are not eligible for the draft, but must register.

The classifications as listed by the president fall into 13 groups, with men available for military service listed as 1-A. Actual drafting of 1-A men will be by age, with the oldest called first.

There will be no lottery as in the last war. The call to uniform will be determined by classification (set by local boards) and by age.

These are the men who are exempt from the draft:

The law passed by congress automatically exempts war veterans with at least 90 days service between Pearl Harbor (Dec. 7, 1941) and V-J day (Sept. 2, 1945.) or with 12 months service between Sept. 16, 1940, and June 24, 1948 (the date the draft law went into effect).

Also exempt by law are ordained ministers, students studying for the ministry and conscientious objectors (from combatant service; they may be used in the military services in senon-combatant activities if they do not protest.)

Automatically deferred by the draft law are high school students up to graduation or the age of 20 (whichever comes first) and college students for the rest of the academic year. However, students must be doing all right in their studies.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Home is the Place to Be

One of the common complaints of parents, especially in summer time, is that the young ones just won't come in for supper. Over and over again mothers are heard to say "I've tried everything I know; scolding, spanking, and going without supper and none of them work. He just won't come in when it's time."

There are ways of dealing with this problem, some of which would be successful for one family and not solve your problem at all. There are no blanket formulas for changing children's behavior, but, as a rule, we can sort out general priciples.

In this instance, when a method works for one family to the complete satisfaction of both parents and children, there seem to be two factors in it. First, the family agreement about coming in at supper time is made with the children's help and understanding and secondly, in some way the home is made an interesting and desirable place to be at that time. How that is done depends on the age of the children, the interests of the various members of the family, and how much time the adults have to put into making the dinner hour and the activities before bedtime a joint family project.

Also helpful are such devices as giving the child a watch when he can tell time, enlisting the help of an older child in seeing that a younger one gets home at the right time, and having the children take part in helping to plan what the family can do that evening. When they slip, as they will, and miss supper, the important factor in heping them not to forget again is the realization that they have missed some fun at the table.

A casual but sincere expression of regret that the children were not there to share in the stories that were told or the plans that were made will go a long way toward taking the daring and excitement out of staying out late.

Heat Automatically Now

Approximately 36 per cent of the new houses built in the United States in 1947 included automatic heating equipment, according to a survey by Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company. Before the war only about 10 per cent of all non-farm dwellings used automatic controls.

Editorials....

Construction of 94,000 dwellings was started during the month of July, which is 13,000 more than for July a year ago. It is estimated that the total number of homes built in the country this year will exceed 900,000, a new all-time high. It would appear that we are doing a pretty fair job of solving the housing problem without government help.

During the recent hot days the demands on the city water system have greatly exceeded the plant capacity. Under this condition not sufficient time is given the water in the settling tank after treatment with the result that, shall we say, is not good. This happens to be another of those things that can't be corrected by scolding. The city is taking steps to correct the condition by the building of a new water system and a contract for the construction of a new system will be let as soon as possible. Some hard-to-get equipment is being ordered in advance to assure the earliest possible completion date. In other words everything is being done that can be done. Fortunately we will soon have cooler weather, the demand for water will decrease again and there will be little cause for complaint until another winter ends. This gives us at least one good reason to be glad winter is on the way.

National Guard officials visited here Monday to inspect available sites for an armory. They indicated that several of these sites would measure up to their requirements and indicated that they would be guided by the wishes of the community. One of the satisfactory sites is the present location of the court house which has been condemned and will have to be replaced. There is some sentiment in favor of converting the Auditorium into a combination city and county office building and this is a possibility that deserves serious consideration. We have several months to kick the ideas around so for a while we will have something to talk about. It is a problem for both the city and the country to consider.

Some time this month in one of our country's factories the 100 millionth automobile rolled off the assembly lines. The auto industry dates itself back to 1896 when the first factory production was started so these 100 million cars and trucks have been turned out in 52 years at an average rate of a little less than 2 million a year. This year's production is estimated at 5 million. The history of this development is an interesting story and especially so for those of us who have lived through the entire period of transition to this form of mechanized transportation. The horse, man's faithful servant thruout many centuries, is going the way of all things that no longer are needed. This particular piece of progress has not been an unmixed blessing.

We do not question the sincerity of Henry Wallace's desire for peace. We are sure that he does not want to plunge our nation into war and we are also sure that he would not want to see democracy replaced by dictatorship. We are certain that he is just as much interested in the welfare of our country as any of us. The thing we do not like about him is his insistence that anyone who is not on his side of every argument must necessarily be a bad citizen. Mr. Wallace and his friends are not the only people who want peace. As a matter of fact we know of no group that wants war. There always is room for a difference of opinion as to the best way to keep out of war and Wallace and his friends have a right to theirs. It so happens that most of our country's leaders are of the opinion that the way Wallace proposes to keep us out of war is not the right way and probably would involve us in a fight more certainly than the way they propose. The Wallace proposal to maintain peace by appeasment is not now in the world and it never has been a satisfactory way of dealing with gangsters.

Summary of Expenses Shows How People Live

Around 400 million dollars on restaurant tips.

More than 2½ billion dollars on personal care, with more than a billion dollars of this being spent in beauty parlors and barber shops.

Close to 600 million dollars for stationery and writing supplies.

More than 1.8 billion dollars for maids and domestic service.

Two and one-half billion dollars for medical and dental care, of which more than half went to doctors and about one-quarter to dentists.

Some 830 million dollars on expenses incident to death — funeral services, cemeteries and tombstones.

Close to 400 million dollars on taxicab fares and tips.

One and one-half billion dollars on reading matter—newspapers, books, magazines.

Over a billion dollars on musical instruments, led by radios.

Nearly 600 million dollars on flowers, seeds and potted plants.

Nearly 40 million dollars for household pets and veterinary service.

More than 40 million dollars on college football games, an amount, incidentally, about double that spent to attend professional baseball games.

Port of Marseille Termed Busiest on Mediterranean

The docks of Marseille, where a maritime workers' strike helped to lead to French cabinet reorganization, have made the cosmopolitan port the busiest on the Mediterranean. Ships of every nation to an average of 30 a day normally steam in and out of the harbor, says National Geographic society.

French colonization in North Africa and opening of the Suez canal developed Marseille as France's second largest city and its chief sea gateway. Recent estimates give Marseille about 610,000 population.

World War II, which destroyed three-fourths of France's harbor facilities, did a thorough job at Marseille. But by early 1947, only Marseille and less damaged Le Havre—of all French ports—were reported in condition to approach prewar trade volume.

Marseille's port-side Old Town was the site of ancient Greek Massalia, from which the modern city takes its name. Late in January, 1943, the occupying Nazis cleared the 40,000 dwellers out of the Old Town, and their dynamite charges leveled the historic area.

Many Farm Homes Lack Adequate Water System

Running water is perhaps the greatest single convenience which electrification offers to farm families, in the opinion of power-use experts of Rural Electrification administration. They estimate that a farm family of five with a fair amount of livestock would use about 300 tons of water in a year if they had to do the pumping and carrying by hand. If the same family had an electric pump they would—without sweat and toil—use more than twice as much water. This plentiful supply of running water would, in turn, show up in pleasanter living, healthier livestock and increased milk and egg production.

Yet despite the increasing number of electric-powered water systems installed during recent years, 75 per cent of the farm homes of the country are still without running water. Only 5 per cent of urban homes today lack running water.

To help put farm homes on a par with city dwellings, REA is encouraging REA-financed electric systems to assist their rural consumers in planning adequate water systems. The REA co-ops do not make installations or, generally speaking, sell equipment. They help by giving technical advice and pointing out the various factors which should be taken into account in buying a pump and planning a water system to meet the needs of a particular home and farm. They also underline the importance of getting a competent contractor to install the watering system.

Science Discovers New Fungus Family in Fields

Out of the teeming mold of woods, marshes and cultivated fields, organisms not known before frequently are brought to the eye of the microscope, and every now and then a new family comes to light and new knowledge is built up through persistent search. The family of fungi called zoopagaceae is such an example, containing now about 60 members, all described by Dr. Charles Drechsler of the U. S. department of agriculture, who set forth the first ones in 1935. He makes the guess that ultimately mycologists may find and describe as many as 400 or 500 members of this family.

Members of this family are either predators or parasites on animal life. Predators among these fungi capture their small victims—mostly amoebas and nematodes — and in the case of captured nematodes there is a visible indication of struggle—that is, if the field of battle is viewed through a microscope. The parasitic ones are quiet workers, puncturing and slowly draining the substance of victims that seem to offer no resistance to their own destruction.

Of the 60 members of this preying, parasitizing fungus family all except five live on amoebas or the closely related shelled rhizopoda. The five exceptions live on nematodes — four of them being predacious and one of them parasitic.

Dr. Drechsler says these fungi, the zoopagaceae, may be important, for example, in making compost effective in promoting soil hygiene.

Change in Debt Status

At the end of 1946, the total public and private debt stood at $393,400,000,000, a decrease of $14,700,000,000 from 1945. In addition to the decrease in federal debt, state and local governments showed a decline of 100 million dollars. The growth of private debt in 1946 continued in 1947. In the fields of noncorporate mortgages and consumers credit, rising construction activity and consumers' durable goods production, coupled with accelerated turn-over in land and building ownership and the end of governmental control of consumer credit terms, all led to higher debt totals.

LET'S GET TOGETHER

Three sisters got together in Minneapolis for the first time in their total of 196 years of life. Mrs. Olga Swanson, 70, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Hilda Westlund, 72, of California, were born in Sweden but had never seen each other. They met by chance at the home of a third sister, Mrs. Clara Lockrem, 54. Two brothers met for the first time in 55 years when Henry McCracken, Iowa, went to visit brother Leonard at International Falls.

In Memoriam

In memory of our loving son Leonard who passed away two years ago July 13.

I cannot say and will not say that he is dead.
He is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand.
And left us dreaming how very fair.
Its needs must be since he lingers there.
And you, oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and the glad return.
Think of him faring on as dear in the love of there as the love of here.
Think of him still as the same
I say he is not dead.
He is just away.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Sensky and family. 35p

Vic Jung Noses Out Keith Jorde to Win City Title 2d Time

Keith Jorde's five-foot putt for a four, and a possible chance to tie the match, swerved away from the cup on the 9th hole, and defending champion Vic Jung, being conceded the hole by Jorde when Keith missed the putt, won the city golf championship by a 2-up margin. It marked the second successive year that the two golfers, Jung and Jorde, had been the finalists, and it was Vic's second straight win over Keith. In the championship flight consolation, Kern Olson defeated Elwood Karwand, 1-up, on a match that was carried to the 10th hole.

In the championship finals, neither Jung nor Jorde played the brand of golf that they had exhibited in winning their first-round and semi-finals matches. Jung trounced Dr. R. Robertson, 4 and 3, in a first round match, and then shot a sub-par 34 to defeat veteran Hans Chommie in the semi-finals. Jorde bested Kern Olson in a first round engagement, and then eliminated Len Hurst in a ding-dong semi-finals match.

Jung won the 1st hole when he made a remarkable approach shot from behind the trees to the left on the green, the ball stopping six feet from the pin. Keith was over the green with his tee shot, and his chip ran 20 feet past the cup. Vic dropped his putt for a 3 and a win.

Both golfers halved hte long 2nd hole with 6's, with each golfer missing a shot. On the 3rd hole, Keith's tee shot was out of bounds to the right, and that stroke gave Jung the margin by which he won the hole, 5 to 6, and go 2-up.

On the 4th hole, Jung's tee shot found the rough to the left of the fairway, while Jorde was down the middle. Keith was on the green with his second shot and Jung was fifty feet short of the green. Jorde was down in two putts while Jung marked up a 5, and held 3 1-up advantage.

On the par 4 5th hole, Jorde, on the green with a fine second shot and 12-feet from the cup, dropped the putt for a birdie and brought the match to even terms. Jung's second shot was at the far edge of the green, and his chip stopped two feet from the cup.

What proved to be the deciding hole of the nine-hole match was the short 6th. Jorde's tee shot was to the left of the green, just short of a trap. Jung hit the green, being 15 feet to the left of the cup. Keith's chip shot failed to reach the green, stopping on the embarkment, and he required another chip and a putt for a four, while Jung had two putts for a three and a win.

They halved the 7th and 8th holes in par figures, and approached the 9th tee with Jung holding a 1-up lead. Both golfers had fine drives, with Jung's tee shot having the advantage.

On his second shot, Jorde was on the green and 25 feet to the right of the pin. Jung's second shot was below the green and the pin. Vic's chip stopped four feet over the cup, and Jorde's long putt was five feet short of the pin, and on his try for a four, his ball rolled around the cup. With Jung needing only a half for the match, Jorde conceded the four-footer and the match was over.

The tournament, with five flights of players, was conducted on a shortstop basis.

Third flight: winner, Dr. Ted Bratrud; runner-up, Russ Embury; consolation winner, C. W. Mattson; runner-up, Dr. M. O. Johnson.

Leaders in Loop Play Will Compete in Title Playoff Next Sunday

Results of Sunday's games:

Thief River Falls, 7, at St. Hilaire, 1.
Plummer, 0, at Crookston, 4.
Red Lake Falls, 18, at Winger, 3.
McIntosh, 5, at Erskine, 23.

Games on Sunday:

Plummer vs. Crookston.

The Crookston Pirates, behind the three-hit pitching of lefty Ken DuPuis, defeated the Plummer Red Sox, 4 to 0, at Crookston on Sunday and moved into tie for first place in the league standings. And with the league directors deciding at a meeting at Red Lake Falls on Tuesday night, that all postponed games remaining on the schedule are to be cancelled and that the league is to be considered as completing its schedule on last Sunday, the Pirates and Red Sox must play a championship playoff game to determine the league titlist and the representative in the regional playoffs next week. With the crowd capacity of the Plummer park very limited, it is expected that the Sunday's game will be played at Crookston's Highland park.

The Thieves concluded their regular schedule by upsetting the St. Hilaire Saints, 7 to 1, behind the strikeout pitching of chunky Phil LeGault. LeGault, although in trouble numerous times during the game, had enough "stuff" to pitch himself out of the tight spots and earn a deserved victory.

THIEVES DEFEAT ST. HILAIRE 7-1 THO SHORTHANDED

Victory Sunday Assures Locals of Participating in the League Playoffs

The Thieves, playing without the services of a number of regulars, surprised the St. Hilaire Saints in a Northern Minnesota baseball league game played on the St. Hilaire diamond Sunday afternoon, winning by a 7 to 1 score and assuring the locals of a berth in the league playoffs that are scheduled to be played following the regional tournament.

Elmer Zachar gave manager Myles Jackson's Saints a 1 to 0 lead in the 2nd inning when, after singling and advancing to second base on a fielder's choice he tallied on Larson's one-base hit.

St. Hilaire held that lead until the 4th inning when the Thieves erupted for four hits and five runs. Stan Cockrell, leading off the inning, was safe on an error. Phil LeGault was a strikeout victim, but Virg Evenstad, playing first base, scored Cockrell with a single. Palmer Ronholm drove a double down the third base line to score Evenstad with the second run. Johnny Powell singled, advancing Ronholm to third base. Powell stole second base, and with runners on second and third, Nicky Carlson poked a bunt past Woody Almquist, with Ronholm scoring on the play. Al Thompson's base hit tallied Powell and Carlson with the fourth and fifth runs of the frame.

The locals marked up a pair of runs in the 5th inning when Cockrell singled, LeGault doubled, and Powell's ground ball was fumbled by the shortstop.

Lefty Phil LeGault turned in a well-pitched game for the Thieves, being especially effective with men on base. In the 4th inning, with the bases loaded, LeGault whiffed Connie Swanson for the third out; and in the 6th inning with the bases again loaded and none out, LeGault forced Wes Olson to ground to Cockrell, who made the play at the plate to force Jacobson, made Swanson fowl out to catcher Merle Carlson, who dashed behind the screen back of home plate to make the catch, and struck out Basil Almquist for the third out.

Inter-club Golf Match May Wind up in Court; Papers Served Tuesday

Members of the Rotary club at their luncheon meeting Tuesday noon heard an informative discussion dealing with wills and estate matters, given by E. B. Benson. The meeting was enlivened by the appearance of Sheriff Arthur Rambeck, who is incidentally a member of the Lions club, and who in behalf of the Lions served papers on the Rotarians charging them with misrepresentation and with having caused damage to the Lions-Rotary inter-club golf trophy appraised at $947.77. Named on a Rotary committee to file an answer to the summons were Lloyd Bennes, F. E. Tunberg, Jim Roche and Theodore Quale.

An Apology to the Fans

Officers of the local ball club, in good faith, attended a Northern Minnesota baseball league meeting at Red Lake Falls ten days ago, and at which time it was agreed, by the directors and with the consent of Wally DuChamp, who had been recognized as the Plummer representative, and without a demurrer from Ray Ste. Marie, the Plummer club's manager and the league president, that the postponed game between the Red Sox and the Thieves should be played at Thief River Falls on Wednesday, August 25th, and that the result of the game would be considered in the league standings.

The league provisions on postponed games states that "All postponed games must be played before the end of the schedule at the convenience of the two teams involved." It so happened that the dates offered to the Plummer team previous to the close of the schedule were inconvenient as the Red Sox, with only one pitcher, were forced to conserve their hurling strength for their Sunday league games. In lieu of that fact, the league directors adopted a resolution stating that the game on August 25th would be considered as the close of the season. The local club accepted that decision, and so did Wally DuChamp and Ray Ste. Marie, and the officials here immediately made preparations for the game.

On Monday a hurry-up call from the league secretary stated that another meeting would be held at Red Lake Falls on Tuesday night. At this meeting, Wally DuChamp, who had attended the previous gathering, was not present; but all representatives of Plummer were George Saunders and Jesse DuChamp. The two Plummer representatives stated that the obligations agreed to at the previous meeting with regard to the play-off of the postponed game at Thief River Falls, were null and void as Wally DuChamp did not have authority to speak for the Plummer team and that president Ste. Marie and secretary Crabb should not have recognized Wally DuChamp as the Plummer representative. Saunders, who is apparently the Moses who interprets the league constitution for the Red Sox, stated that they would renege on the agreement voted at the previous meeting.

And if the league directors would not reconsider the motion made at that meeting, he, Saunders would "break the league wide open" by bringing charges that six of the member teams had been using players that had not been legally registered with the league secretary. He further enlightened the meeting that Red Lake Falls and Plummer were the only two teams that had fulfilled every jot and tittle of the league's roster provisions, and that if the Red Sox were forced to play that postponed game with the Thieves as a bona-fide league game, he would demand that every game in which an ineligible player participated be declared forfeited or no-contest.

With that "bludgeon" being held over their respective heads, and with the league threatened with disruption, the directors were browbeaten into reconsidering their previous resolution and, by a six to one vote, passed a motion that the scheduled Wednesday evening game would be only an "exhibition" and that the league had "officially" ended on Sunday, August 22nd, with Crookston and Plummer deadlocked for first place. League president Ste. Marie, by the authority vested in his office by the league rules, named Sunday, August 29th as the date for the championship playoff between the Red Sox and the Pirates, and a capacity crowd is expected.

Feeling that the local fans wouldn't be interested in game that had been scheduled as a league game, but which through threats and blusterings had been relegated to an exhibition and warm-up affair, the local club cancelled Wednesday's game with the Red Sox.

It is unfortunate that such a situation should arise, and we can't believe that it is the unanimous opinion of the Plummer Red Sox players that they want to win their games in a "smoke-filled" room rather than on the playing field. Such players as Dean Schoenauer, Ray Ste. Marie, Jesse DuChamp, Jim Gilbertson, Bobby DuChamp, LeRoy Westerlund, and Vern Hollman are much too competitive to play ball that way; but there are others of the Red Sox who fee the aches and pains of competition and old age so acutely that they would rather get the games off the schedule by subterfuge and protests of righteous indignation.

Oh yes, the second article of the league's constitution states that "The purpose of the Northern Minnesota League shall be to advance the interests of amateur baseball through the protection and promotion of benefits mutual to member clubs, their officers, patrons, and league officials."

WAR ASSETS ADMN. LIBERALIZES ITS SALES PROCEDURE

Fargo Office Announces Orderly Winding up of Merchandising Venture

R. M. Bergeson of the War Assets Administration, Fargo, N. Dak., was in this city Thursday and gave the following information on the orderly winding up of history's greatest merchandising venture—the disposal of 28 billion dollars worth of left over war supplies by February 28, 1949.

Recent congressional legislation ends further declarations of surplus property to W.A.A. by other governmental agencies as of June 30, 1948, and provides for the abolishment of W.A.A. by February 28, 1949.

Recent congressional legislation ends further declarations of surplus property to W.A.A. by other governmental agencies as of June 30, 1948, and provides for the abolishment of W.A.A. by February 28, 1949.

Congress also called for the discontinuance of the time consuming priority system on August 31, 1948. On that date, priorities end for veterans of World War II, state and local governments, and non-profit institutions. Under Public Law 697, the Federal Works Administration may obtain equipment and supplies for institutions engaged in training Veterans, and donations to schools and colleges will continue as provided by the Act.

After August 31, 1948, competitive bid methods of sale will be used exclusively for public offerings of personal property, which means that sales will be made to the highest bidder regardless of priority.

After August 31, 1948, the remaining personal property will consist of long supply, hard to sell items.

Regular programming of monthly surplus sales in the Chicago Region is steadily reducing warehouse inventories. This is in line with W.A.A.'s policy for the disposal of all personal property by the end of this year.

Detailed information about these sales can be secured from the W.A.A. Information Center, 440 deLendrecie Bldg., Fargo, N. Dak.; or from the War Assets Administration, Navy Pier, Chicago 90, Illinois.

TAKING OFF THE WRAPS . . . Since the end of the war there have been many pictures showing how military and naval planes were being given protective coverings to preserve them while in storage. Now the process is reversed. What with crises and an expanding defense program, planes now are unpickled. Here, at Litchfield, Ariz., naval air storage depot, a big plane depreserving program is under way.

DRIVERS TEST IS NO LONGER 'MUST' FOR ALL OVER 70

M. J. Hoffman, Highway Department Chief, Cites Change in Regulations

Licensed Minnesota drivers 70 years or more of age will no longer be indiscriminately required to take drivers examinations and road tests as a blanket condition to continuing the validity of their drivers licenses.

M. J. Hoffman, state highway commissioner, today announced the withdrawal of this requirement, which has been in effect as a departmental regulation since the driver examination law became operative the first of this year. The requirement is being rescinded, he said, after reviewing the results of its six months operation and re-evaluating its necessity from the standpoint of traffic safety.

Consistent with the rescinding of the regulation, the commissioner announced that persons of 70 years or older who have been denied the reissuance of a drivers license solely because of failure to comply with the blanket examination requirement will be issued valid drivers licenses upon request, provided there are no other circumstances indicating impairment of their ability to drive.

The regulation was originally established as a means for protecting both the individual concerned and the driving public. Commissioner Hoffman disclosed that, while the department has received many commendatory letters from persons of 70 or more who have taken the actual driving tests and have written to express their satisfaction at being able to demonstrate their driving ability, on the contrary some of those affected by the regulation have vigorously objected, especially where they could point to the fact they were veteran drivers with unblemished driving records.

In cases where specific information indicates a drivers license holder lacks ability to operate a motor vehicle with a reasonable degree of safety, due to poor vision, disability or unfavorable accident experience, then such driver, regardless of age, may be required to take a drivers examination.

The standard-gauge railroad track is 56½ inches wide.

U. S. Postal Savings deposits total over three billion dollars.

HIGHWAY PATROL NABS 451 IN JULY

Second Highest Mark of Any Month in 1948

Arrests by state highway patrolmen for traffic law violations during July reached the second highest mark for any month of the year with 1,865 motorists hauled into court, where they paid fines totalling $29,797.

A drive last month on motorists operating their cars and trucks with illegal or unsafe equipment established a 1948 record of 451 drivers arrested and 3,738 issued illegal equipment tags by highway patrolmen for a total of 5,113 violations detected. Foremost among these violations were faulty brakes and lights, 532 sets of illegal brakes being revealed and 2,791 cases of defective or inadequate lights.

Written and verbal warnings administered to 4,129 drivers during July, for traffic violations which patrolmen did not regard as justifying outright arrest, also set a record for the current year.

Among the drivers arrested by the state patrol last month, 85 were driving while drunk, 199 were arrested for careless driving, 224 for excessive speed, 143 for running through stop signs, 86 for improper passing, 169 for driving without a drivers license and 27 for driving over the center line. The latter offense, coupled with improper passing, has figured in the causes of many fatal head-on collisions and sideswipes this summer.

The 85 motorists arrested for driving while drunk paid fines totalling $7,121, and fines for careless driving and speeding added up to nearly $8,000.

Sedan Stolen

A 1947 Ford Sedan belonging to Marvin Smeby was stolen here last Tuesday in a bold daylight robbery.

Mr. Smeby had parked his car in front of his hardware Store. At about 11 o'clock that morning a large truck had backed up to the store to unload bottle gas. Mr. Smeby was outside at the time and saw a stranger wearing a dark hat and topcoat get into his car and start the motor. Mr. Smeby shouted at the man but could not get to his car as the truck was in the way. The robber was having trouble in getting started in the loose gravel of the street and Marvin ran around the truck to stop him, but as he came around the end of the truck the stranger got the car moving and with a burst of speed that nearly knocked Marvin down, sped out of town going west on highway 30.

Marvin and his father attempted to follow the thief in another car, but soon lost sight of the speeding car and returned to town to notify Sheriff O. T. Toftner and nearby radio stations of the theft.

Later in the afternoon the car was reported by a passerby to be abandoned on the road west of Sunnyside school, about 15 miles northwest of here. When Marvin went out to get his car he found everything in perfect order. None of his personal belongings or clothing, which was in the car was missing and the car itself was in perfect condition. Stains on the hood indicated that it had been boiling and upon examination, it was found that the radiator was low on water.

Old Barn Burns Down

Residents were attracted by a glare in the sky at about 9:30 Wednesday night and upon stepping outside, found that the whole town was lighted up by a large fire. The old barn belonging to Tonnes Nelson, on the south side of the river was a mass of flames. In a few minutes the entire structure was a heap of ashes on a smouldering heap of manure.

The barn, which had not been in use for several years was a frame structure about 40 ft. by 26 ft. with a hay loft and a leanto shed on the east side. It was about 45 years old. Exact cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that boys playing in and around the old structure accidently set it afire.

go with an Army job in Japan!

How times have changed.

Three years ago, when our first victorious combat men left Japan, much of it was a shambles. The Japanese people were so dazed by defeat they didn't know which way to turn. The life of an Army man often had its discomforts.

But look at him today! He's helped to start the rebuilding of Japan, to restore roads and railways, to inspire a tired and hungry people with the hope of Democracy. Under his guiding hand, courts of justice, woman suffrage and freedom of worship have been brought about. In Japan there is only one soldier for every 400 Japanese — the smallest per capita occupation army in the world.

The pay of a Private is 50% higher than three years ago, then another 20% higher overseas. And almost every cent can be banked. None of it goes for food, housing, medical or dental care, clothing, retirement annuity, or the opportunity to continue his education. The Army furnishes him equipment for organized sports. While on leave, he can ski in winter or visit summer resorts at a fraction of what these activities would cost him in the U. S.

An Army career in Japan is full of advantages such as these. Compare it with any job across the board — you'll find it hard to beat! Ask at your nearest Army and Air Force Recruiting Station for full details.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

By Arthur Naftalin

The September 14 primary, which is only two weeks from next Tuesday, is presenting an old problem to leaders in both the Republican and Democratic-Farmer-Labor Parties. This is the problem of keeping the party faithful at home in their own primary.

In each primary, a sizable number of ballots is invalidated because many voters stray from one column to the next in an effort to help both parties select their nominees.

Under our election laws a voter can vote in the primary of either party, but once having made his choice he must stay within that column. Thus, in the past, there have been large-scale invasions of primaries by the rank-and-file of the opposition.

This year, the situation is likely to confuse many voters, particularly those who are customarily regarded as independent. There is little question but what many voters would like to vote for one nominee in the primary of one party and for a second in the primary of the other party.

For example, in some Congressional districts there are interesting primary fights in one party with the candidate of the other party unopposed. Some Republicans or independents would like to jump into the DFL Congressional scrap to help either the Regular DFL'er or the Third Party candidate, but at the same time they want to vote in the contest between Governor Luther Youngdahl and State Auditor Stafford King for the GOP gubernatorial contest.

Similarily, in the Eighth district, the DFL candidate is unopposed but the GOP Congressional race is a three-cornered contest. Here voters who do not clearly understand the election laws may be tempted to ruin their ballots by voting in the GOP Congressional contest, then crossing over into the DFL primary contest for Senator between Hubert H. Humphrey, the endorsed candidate, and James Shields.

Observers have frequently noted the absence of strong partisan identification on the part of Minnesota voters. This is reflected in the extreme shifts in the size of voting in the various primaries. The size of the vote does not necessarily indicate the extent of support a particular party has. It is, rather, simply an indication of the extent of interest in the primary contests within that particular party.

This year, the situation will be especially interesting, because there are primary fights at the top of both tickets and Congressional contests in one or the other party in all the districts.

The Youngdahl-King contest for the GOP gubernatorial nomination is arousing strong feeling within the Republican organization. The Youngdahl forces are not dismissing the King threat lightly. They are busily arousing the party organization to support Youngdahl's renomination.

King's supporters are making much of the "dictatorship" issue, charging that Harold Stassen has sought to dictate the party's nominees and that the party primary should be an open affair in which the rank-and-file can choose the nominees without influence from the party officers.

By last week the King-Youngdahl clash had not yet emerged from the stage of intra-party maneuvering. Observers were waiting to see whether either side would reveal any basic differences of state issues. The prominence and popularity of both candidates, however, ensure a lively contest.

This is the season for the formation of volunteer committees. A great proliferation of them has already appeared, most noticeably in the contest between Senator Joseph H. Ball and Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey.

Committees of farmers supporting the two men have already clashed over Ball's farm record, the Ball committee claiming that its candidate deserves reelection on the basis of his record, the Humphrey committee claiming that Ball's votes against REA expansion and increasing soil conservation benefits have earned him the farmers' opposition.

Both camps announce that volunteer committees of veterans, businessmen, and laborers are being organized. Such committees can be expected to carry the brunt of the attack upon the opponent with the candidates themselves concentrating on the more positive aspects of their programs.

State election laws which restrict the amount that the candidate or the political party can spend in an election encourage the formation of volunteer committees. These committees, which cannot legally be subject to the control of the candidate, must file accounts of their expenditures, but there is no restriction on the amount they can spend nor is there an effective provision for the enforcement of such regulations as do exist.

Karen Elizabeth Kron Honored

Karen Elizabeth Kron, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kron, was honored at a shower held at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

For the occasion a special cake was baked by Mrs. Guy Antonious of Warren. The three layers of the cake were pink, blue, and white, and the top and sides were adorned with tiny dolls. This cake was used as a centerpiece for the table.

The afternoon was spent visiting and playing games, thought up by the hostesses, Mrs. Emil Hellquist, Mrs. Harold Sabo, and Mrs. Melvin Bottem, which were cleverly adapted to the occasion. The first of these was dressing a clothespin with a kleenex so as to make it look like a baby. Mrs. Lloyd Anderson was the winner. Following this the ladies tried pinning a diaper to an imaginary clothesline drawn on cloth. Mrs. Martin Swenson came the closest to doing this. In the final contest, a guessing game, Mrs. Lloyd Anderson also won. Cute prizes were awarded to the winners.

Boy Scouts Return from Colorado Trip

The results of a year's planning by nineteen Senior Scouts of Explorer Troop 60, sponsored by the Lutheran Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran Church, and their leader Morris Owen, were realized Sunday noon when they returned from their 2600-mile trip to Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado.

The high point of the trip was was the 6½ mile hike into the Mummy Range to Lawn Lake. From there several of the boys tried to ascend Hagues Peak (13,562 feet in height.) Only three of them succeeded—Keith Rosengren, Maynard Wedul, and Jack Winter.

Another high spot of the trip occurred during the fifth day when the boys toured Wind Cave in South Dakota, one of the three most notable in the world.

Along the way to the Park they went through the Black Hills of South Dakota and the Badlands of North Dakota. During this time they also visited a gold mine in Lead, South Dakota. The next day many of the boys enjoyed a swim in Hot Springs.

In Cheyenne, Wyoming the boys were given permission to go through the maintainance plant of United Airlines, one of the largest in the United States.

After they set up base camp near Estes Park, Colorado, the boys were free much of the time to explore the mountains on their own, ride horses or view the sights. Most of them preferred the riding.

On Monday the sixteenth the boys took a motor sight-seeing trip along Trail Ridge Road, the highest continuous highway in the world. At noon they stopped for lunch above the line where trees cease to grow. An interesting feature of the day was the snowball fight which the boys had on one of the snow banks, wearing light summer clothing.

Sunday morning (15th) the boys and their drivers attended morning services at a church known as "The Community Church of the Rockies." During the service the scouts were given recognition by the pastor.

The boys stopped at Mount Rushmore on the way home to see the heads sculptured on its face, commonly known as the "Shrine of Democracy."

Since that was the only stop the scouts completed their journey home in about half the time.

CAR STALLED BUT CARR ARRIVED ANYWAY

Dertoit Lakes—Mrs. Donald Carr, 29, felt it wise to start for the maternity ward about 1:00 a. m. The car ran out of gas, so Mrs. Carr roused some neighbors and phoned for a cab. When he got back to the car there were three Carrs—mama, baby daughter, and the stalled vehicle. The cab pushed the birthplace to the hospital, the startled police investigated and were satisfied, and Donna Carr has a good start along life's highway.

Library and Chemical Laboratory Recently Added to Facilities

"Enrollment at Bemidji state teachers college may top last year's 508," announced Registrar J. P. Martin today. Registration will begin at 9:00 a. m., September 7, in the college gymnasium where both faculty counsellors and older student 'guides' will assist new students in selecting their programs.

Beginning students may take any one of a number of courses from the two to four year preparation for teaching with an associate in education or a bachelor of science degree to the pre-professional and general education offering associate in arts and bachelor of arts degrees.

A recently completed library and a chemistry laboratory add to the resources of the college in providing complete and thorough education at minimum cost. October will see the start of construction on the laboratory school, the facilities of which will further enhance practical teacher training.

Mr. Martin urged prospective students to make application at once to insure proper registration in September.

AIR PARCELS POST SERVICE GOES INTO EFFECT SEPT. 1ST

Parcel Transit Time to be Sharply Cut, Says Postmaster Anderson

With the inauguration of nationwide—worldwide air parcel post September 1, the United States can boast of the most modern and expeditious delivery service in the world, according to Postmaster Andrew Anderson.

The new highly specialized airborne service, enacted into law by the 80th Congress, will afford patrons of more than 42,000 postoffices in America and its possessions unexcelled shipping facilities. Transit time will be reduced to a fraction of that required by other modes of transportation.

Postmaster Anderson pointed out that air parcel post packages will receive the same particular consideration shown air mail in routing. In addition, identical doorstep delivery will be given to air parcel post as is afforded other forms of mail, making the airborne mail service unique in every respect.

He added that distinct air parcel post stickers, printed in red, white and blue and bearing the likeness of winged package with the earth's globe underneath, will soon be available without cost at the local postoffice to apply to outgoing packages.

87 Pct. July Drivers License Revocations Due to Intoxication

The drivers license bureau of the state highway department today reported 402 drivers license revocations and 1,911 suspensions during July, for a total of 2,313 such punitive actions as compared with 2,095 in July a year ago.

Drunken driving was the cause of 329 revocations and 20 more were the result of the permit holder being committed as an inebriate, hence approximately 87 per cent of all Minnesota motorists whose drivers licenses were revoked can attribute their loss of driving privileges to intoxication. Speeding was the cause of 25 revocations, hit-and run driving 18, and careless driving 10.

Speeding also accounted for 233 license suspensions, careless driving for 91 and driving away after an accident for seven.

Care of Felt Hats

To remove the dirt and dust from a felt hat, rub the entire surface with fine sandpaper. Art gum may be used, too. A rubber sponge also is excellent for cleaning felt hats but is more satisfactory for brushing woolen suits, coats and dresses.

Primary E[illegible]ion Ballots Published in Times This Week

Lively Competition For Three Posts as County Commissioner

Meriting careful study by readers of the Times is the official sample ballot listing all candidates in the September 14 primary election, published elsewhere in this issue. The lengthy state ballot reveals that there is no dearth of aspirants for office.

Right and left-wing candidates are struggling for control of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party, while on the Republican ticket the principal contest is the race between Luther W. Youngdahl, incumbent, and Stafford King, now state auditor, for the governorship nomination.

Interest in rural Pennington county centers in the three cornered race for county commissioner in the first, third and fifth districts.

In Thief River Falls the polls for all four wards will be open in the Auditorium from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m. Serving as judges of election will be:

First ward: Harry Kinghorn, Mrs. Leonard Hanson and Mrs. Clarence Knudsen.

Second ward: Russell Olson, Gaston Ward and Yvonne Bredeson.

Third ward: H. B. Rafteseth, W. P. Wilson and Hulda Swanson.

Fourth ward: Ben Erickson, Martha Fuller and Lucille Hulbert.

The rooms are furnished in Simon's new hospital functional metal furniture.

Besides the medical patients to be hospitalized on this floor, there are four rooms that have been decorated and furnished in a nursery theme to take care of the isolated children's cases of this community. The murals in the pediatric section have been done by Mrs. Glen Arhart, a member of the St. Luke's staff.

Hostesses on the floor for open house that day will be Miss Verda Eckstein, Miss Edna Millander and Mrs. Howard Langlie practical nurses, who have recently completed two years of nurses aid work at St. Luke's Hospital and were eligible to take the practical nurses exams to become licensed practical nurses.

A total of 119 men of ages 24 and 25 were registered in Pennington county under peacetime selective service Monday thru Wednesday, it was announced, by Owen Olson, chief clerk of the local board. Eight men were registered in Goodridge, all the others filing their names at the Thief River Falls office in the veterans room in the Auditorium basement.

County Schools to Open Doors for Fall Term on Tuesday Morning Sept. 7

CITY PROJECTS FOR NEXT YEAR ARE DISCUSSED

Council Gets Proposal to Convert Auditorium to City Hall-Court House

The city council at an adjourned session Monday evening devoted the major part of its attention to a consideration of various projects that will require action during coming months.

Following a brief discussion of sites that may be available for the proposed new armory, it was indicated that the city planning board will be asked to make a study of the matter and sound out local sentiment.

It also was agreed that the council should accept the invitation of the county board to meet with that body next Tuesday, September 7, and discuss the possibility of remodeling the municipal Auditorium into a joint city hall and court house, the present court house structure having been condemned by the state fire marshal.

City Engineer Douglas Stewart sugested the advisability of proceeding at an early date to draft a program of engineering projects to be undertaken in 1949 so that preliminary work may be disposed of during the winter months.

Stewart stated that petitions have been filed for many blocks of sidewalk, curb and gutter installation, as well as for street oiling and storm sewers. He recommended that a plan be worked out for financing street surfacing and storm sewer work by special assessment or otherwise. No immediate action was taken.

Stewart also pointed out the need of replacing the present steam boiler used in thawing out storm sewer drains in the early spring months, which equipment he said is in hazardous condition. He was instructed to prepare a call for bids, to be opened September 20, on a new steamer as well as on a new two-ton truck for the street department to replace the present ten-year-old equipment.

No objectors being present at a hearing set for Monday night, the council approved special building permits to M. C. Gulbranson for remodeling the Mrs. Anna Barzen residence on Riverside av. into a funeral home, and to Nels G. Olson for an addition to a lumber storage shed located near his residence on Tindolph av. S. Both applications were accompanied by approving petitions signed by more than 75 per cent of the adjoining property owners.

School Faculty of 68 in Thief River Falls Is Complete, Says Claffy

Boys and girls in this area will resume their studies next Tuesday, September 7, when all Pennington county schools will open for the fall term.

Teachers have been secured for virtually all rural schools in the county, all of which will hold nine month terms, Mrs. A. C. Matheson, superintendent, stated. Several schools with small enrollments have combined with others, while some are transporting their pupils to Thief River Falls, Goodridge and St. Hilaire. Districts 105 and 73 adjacent to this city have consolidated with the local school district, No. 18.

Supt. W. G. Claffy of the Thief River Falls schools said that all pupils are asked to report Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, while seventh graders attending school here for the first time are asked to meet with Miss Lyda Batten, Lincoln junior high school principal, in the high school auditorium Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. A general meeting of the faculty will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Claffy stated that the school faculty this year comprises 68 members, one more than last year. Of these, 16 junior-senior high school teachers are new here this year, while five grade teachers are serving their first term.

The annual school census is now being completed by Mrs. Ruth Legvold, and is expected to reveal the likelihood of an increase this fall in the number of pupils in the grades and possibly also in Lincoln high school.

Major improvement projects carried out in the local school plant during the summer months include the repainting of the auditorium and halls in the Knox building, as well as of most of the rooms in the old Lincoln building and exterior woodwork in all the schools.

Mr. Claffy reported that the electric flood light system on the Lincoln school football field has been greatly improved, a total of 60,000 watts now being available compared to the former 48,000 watts.

Most of the rural schools also have been redecorated with fresh paint, Mrs. Matheson said, adding that several schools have installed oil burners and electric lights, making it possible to have radios, hot lunches and audio-visual aids.

Arguments for New State Constitution

As a public service this newspaper is printing the first article in a series of six devoted to the problem of constitutional revision in Minnesota. Each article is written by a prominent Minnesotan and is designed to acquaint the citizens of the state with important aspects of Minnesota's constitutional problem.

The work and findings of the Minnesota Constitutional Commission, established by the 1947 legislature to recommend changes in Minnesota's 91-year old basic law, provide a basis for most of the discussions.

The opinions expressed by the authors are entirely their own, and do not necessarily reflect the opinions held by either this newspaper or the Minnesota Constitutional Commission.

By Charles B. Cheney

Minnesota became a state ninety years ago, is still operating under the constitution that was adopted at that time. What changes have taken place in those ninety years!

It is high time, certainly, to tackle the job of a new constitution in dead earnest. Every citizen should welcome the signs of activity we note in the news this year.

The Constitutional Commission, created by the last legislature, is supplying needed leadership. It has been carrying on research through committees, which have worked out proposed changes, and those approved by the whole commission will be reported to the new legislature of 1949.

Then what? Well, the legislature could draft a flock of amendments to the old constitution and submit them to the people at the 1950 election. But a better way is to call a new constitutional convention, to redraft the whole constitution, bring it up to date, wipe out its obsolete provisions, and incorporate the many needed changes.

In the past ninety years the constitution has been amended no less than 74 times. That is patchwork. It is time to take the state's measure for a new suit.

Drafting an entire new constitution is a tremendous task, not to be done in a hurry. That is why the work of the Constitutional Commission should be of great value. It has been opening up many ideas for improvement in our fundamental law. They have been debated, publicized and weeded out.

The fathers of 1858 threw strong bulwarks about the constitution they drafted. It has been fairly easy to amend it but a complete revision is a process taking years—four at least.

First it takes a two-thirds majority in both houses of the legislature, and it can only submit the following question to a vote of the people: "Shall a constitutional convention be called?"

Suppose the legislature takes that step this winter. Then the proposal must go on the general election ballot of 1950. If it carries on the popular vote, then the next legislature in 1951, would provide for electing delegates to a convention. Those delegates after weeks and months of deliberation would frame the new document, and the voters again would act, either adopting or rejecting the proposed constitution in 1952.

That process can be speeded up as the legislature proposed last year. In the November election Minnesota voters will pass on a new plan. If they adopt the amendment we shall see on the ballot, the coming legislature will have power to call a constitutional convention, to provide for electing delegates by districts, without waiting for popular sanction.

Make no mistake. Nothing would be taken out of the hands of the people. They still would have a vote to approve or disapprove the new constitution submitted by the convention. It still would take at least two years to get the new document. Surely in these modern days with our newspapers and our radio to inform the people that is long enough.

There is still another possible plan. A second amendment to be voted on this fall would enable submitting two or more amendments in bloc, for a single vote. If that carries and the legislature still procrastinates the convention idea, it could bundle up a sheaf of the amendments to be suggested by the current constitutional commission and submit them. But that again would be piece work, patching.

There will be controversy over some of the changes that have been suggested and debated. That is a good thing. It is time for the people of Minnesota to do some thinking about their constitution.

We have a suggestion for a shorter state ballot; for a revision of our judicial system to do away with popularity contests in electing judges. We have the problem of dedicated funds, as part of the general plan for better state financial control.

Then we need to clear out some of the dead wood, some of the relics of past generations. Sections that are obsolete do no harm, perhaps, but they certainly look funny today. For instance, the present constitution says that only men may vote, except in school elections. It says that United States senators shall be elected by the legislature. It says the legislature may hold secret sessions. It says that every bill passed by the legislature must first be read "at length" before each body, at least twice. It says half the state senate shall be elected at each election, a rule nullified by legal opinion. It says the state may not contract any debt over $250,000, a limit which has been destroyed by court decisions and by other provisions.

It says that after every census the legislature "shall" reapportion the legislative districts, but fails to cope with the difficulty of legislative inertia. No one can make the legislature act if it doesn't want to, and there is no other way now to a fair distribution of legislative districts.

It is true that many provisions of the constitution have been interpreted by the courts, creating precedents. Revisers of the constitution would not need to disturb those precedents or to change the existing language.

To sum up—we have a good start now toward a new constitution and we should strike while the iron is hot. By all means let us speed things up by passing those two amendments on the November ballot. There's nothing to be afraid of. The people will say the final word.

Highway Department Has Exhibit at State Fair

Spring load restrictions—the reasons why they are essential during the spring thawing period on some 7,650 miles of Minnesota trunk highways and what it would cost the people of the state to improve trunk routes to the point where restricted mileage could be materially reduced, constitute the central theme of the state highway department's exhibit at this year's Minnesota state fair.

Aside from pertinent information about the state's trunk system, its maintenance problems construction needs and financial limitations, a dominant note of the 131-foot long display, in the state exhibits building on Machinery Hill, is traffic safety and accident prevention.

THE OLD FIREHORSE NEVER DID THIS

Chatfield firemen manned the firetruck at the sound of an alarm, but didn't go any place—the battery was dead. They rolled the truck into the street, a passing bus driver gave them a push, and a burning auto was saved. Mrs. D. F. Larson heard the door bell at her home near Farmington, but there was no one at the door. Then she noticed fire under the floorboards, summoned help, and saved the house. Flames had shorted the doorbell wires and turned in their own alarm.

DIFFERENT WAYS OF GETTING THERE

Sam Lien owns a home in New Richmond, Wis., and has a good job in Minneapolis. So twice a day six days a week fifty weeks a year Sam commutes in a 1935 jalopy the 50 miles to work and 50 miles back home, 30,000 miles a year. With a pile of junk, $2.80 worth of nuts and bolts, and a $50 motor Mrs. Peter Tretter and her children built a Rube Goldberg vehicle that stands them in good stead on marketing and business trips in and around Pierz.

Boy Scout Leaders Tell Rotary Club of Recent Journey to Colorado

Scoutmaster Morris Owen and Eagle Scout Hewitt Flom were speakers at the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday noon, giving highlights of the journey made by their troop in August to Rocky Mountain national park in Colorado. They were presented to the club by A. F. Berge, program chairman. Jim Roche, secretary of the Civic and Commerce association, discussed the Pennington county booth now on exhibit at the state fair. In its business session, the club voted to meet in the Rex Cafe starting next Tuesday, instead of in the C. & C. rooms as at present.

FOR BETTER ROADS

Pennington County automobile dealers have gone on record as favoring the adoption of an amendment to the constitution to be voted on in the general election that would give counties one-half of the gas tax receipts instead of the present one-third. The action was taken at a meeting this week following a discussion of road problems at both the state and local levels.

Minnesota needs better roads and this is generally recognized. There is only one way to get better roads and that is to build better roads. We do not get better roads merely by shifting mileage from a township system to a county system or from a county system to a state system. Whether they are township, county or state roads, they can be improved only as the money to pay for the cost of improvement is made available. If we want better roads faster then we will have to make more money available.

Adoption of the gas tax amendment will make more money available for farm-to-market roads. The present 4c gas tax is producing about 24 million dollars. If the amendment is adopted the countries will receive 12 instead of 8 of these 24 millions.

The question properly has been raised as to whether this fifty-fifty split would be fair to our trunk highway system. If providing more money for road improvement at the local level would curb the demand to add more miles to the trunk highway system then the fifty-fifty split would be fair to the state system. More money is becoming available for the improvement of the state system because less money is needed for debt service. In a short time all of the state highway debt will be paid and then the more than 4 million dollars that has gone into debt service each year will be available for new construction. The state system will be better off if the amendment is adopted than if it is not adopted and the trunk highway mileage is substantially increased.

If the amendment is adopted it is quite likely that the legislature will increase the gas tax for a limited period in order that we may get caught up with road building that was delayed during the war at both the state and local levels. A one cent increase would bring the total receipts to 30 million dollars. Where the counties now receive 8 million they would then receive 15 millions or nearly twice as much. And the state will also have several million more dollars for new construction than have been available during the period of debt, retirement.

There is opposition to the proposal from the misinformed leaders of the large cities as is to be expected, and their opposition may defeat the measure. The only hope for its adoption is in the solid support of Minnesota farmers and residents of the smaller cities. The automobile dealers in Pennington county have pointed the way for a co-operative effort that may give Minnesota a better road program.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor of Times:

In an editorial in the Times of Aug. 26th you say in part, "The Wallace proposal to maintain peace by appeasement is not new in the world and it has never been a satisfactory way of dealing with gangsters."

As to whether other Nations are gangsters or not depends upon who is describing them and from what position you look at them. Some would contend that anyone advocating the use of force or physical violence are gangsters.

Germany is a glaring example of what can happen to a nation that proposes to force its views upon the world by military power.

The more modern and Christian way of accomplishing world leadership is by kindness and consideration of the other Nations views, along with persuasive argument supported by friendly action wherever possible.

Being firm in our dealings is always right, but saying that we are going to get "tough" is always wrong in diplomatic relations.

The proper way to settle our dispute with Russia is thru the U. N. I believe, and I think this is the general opinion of the supporters of Henry Wallace.

PAVING PROJECT MAKES PROGRESS DURING THE WEEK

South Lane Finished on East Third st; to Start on Main av. N. Tuesday

With favorable weather during the past week, the Woodrich Construction company paving crew made good progress during the past week, completing the concrete strip in the south lane of East Third st. to connect with the paving west of the Soo Line tracks.

K. V. Pearson, project engineer for the state highway department, stated that the equipment would be moved Friday to the south end of Riverside av. to complete the double lane being installed there.

It is planned, he added, to start next Tuesday, weather permitting, on the work of paving half the width of Main av. N. from Sixth to Ninth sts., following which the north lane on East Third st. will be installed.

Completion of the work of surfacing East Eighth st. was delayed this week when the Jay W. Craig company ran short of bituminous material. Pending the arrival of a new supply, the contractor started work on the contract entered into with the city for the bituminous surfacing of Pennington av.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

More Thought on Insecurity

How often have you seen the distress of a small child whose mother threatens him with "All right, if you don't come I'll go off and leave you." The youngster, who is gazing at the displays in store windows or watching ants crawling on the sidewalk, responds with a howl of protest. The same element is involved when the parents of older children attempt to teach wandering offspring to come in at night by locking them out if they are late.

From the point of view of the child's future adjustment, the bad part of such practices is the fear and uncertainty that they arouse. The child, who may have doubts as to his acceptance in the family anyway, is suddenly overwhelmed with his own helplessness in the face of rejection by those from whom he needs support and protection.

Parents may think that the child knows they love him and would not really abandon him, but he has no understanding of parental toes and can only judge by behavior. Quite often such handling by parents is part of a pattern of inconsistency in which one day the child is allowed to do something which is punished the next day.

There may be a good deal of confusion in the child's mind as to what is expected of him and if he follows his own interests he can hardly be blamed when no one has taken the trouble to enlist his cooperation in doing what is planned by the adults.

One of the things that goes along with affection for and acceptance of the child is including him in conversations and plans. He will be more apt to do what you want if he knows beforehand that it is part of the program and, if possible, why you are going to do it.

To threaten him with abandonment or rejection if he does not comply with your wishes implies that he has no part in your plans and, most important, that you could get along just as well or better without him. This only increases his confusion and insecurity and actually much better cooperation would result if he were made to feel a really important part of what you are doing.

Preventing Erosion

Slowing down the speed of run-off water and dividing drainage areas so that large amounts of water do not concentrate on one place are necessary to prevent erosion on plowed land.

Home-Made Dust Mops

Outing-flannel cases slipped over the broom will make it into a good dust mop. The cases can be fastened on with a draw-string and in this way be easily removed for washing.

Dry Cleaning

Only safe way to dry clean is to send clothes to the cleaners. But if you insist on cleaning at home, never do it in the house. The tiniest spark—even the static electricity from rubbing wool or silk—can ignite some fumes. Baseball Tourney Slated at Warren Friday thru Sunday

Northwestern Minnesota's baseball fans will focus their attention on the Warren ball park on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, for there and then the second region's Class B tournament will be in progress. The Crookston Pirates, the defending regional champions, will be on hand to defend their laurels for the Pirates, by a decisive 13 to 3 score, defeated Plummer in a Northern Minnesota championship game on Sunday and earned a berth in the regional tourney. Crookston, with their nifty left-hander, Ken DuPuis, in condition, have been installed as one of the favorites along with Warroad and Nellsville.

First round games scheduled for Friday afternoon will find Hallock meeting Ada at 1:00 P. M.; and the Crookston Pirates playing Warroad at 3:00 p. m. On Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p. m. Nellsville will tangle with Friday's first game winner; and Alvarado will meet the winner of the Crookston vs. Warroad game.

Nellsville, with the pitching of husky right-hander Stan Breklee, and with the assistance of Gus Isaacson, is favored to reach the finals, for the Red River Valley league champions, getting a first round bye, is favored to defeat either Hallock or Ada, the upper bracket's first round contenders.

Warroad will require all the defensive and offensive maneuvers they possess in order to get past their first round opponent, the Crookston Pirates. It's probable that manager Pallie Martin will name Oliver Acobee, a right-hander, as Warroad's starting pitcher. One thing is certain, Warroad will put the tournament's classiest shortstop on the field, having Donald "Chickie" Dumais playing that position.

CHEVROLET TEAM SCORES UPSET WIN OVER OENS 13 TO 1

Chevs Now Will Enter Softball Loop Finals Against Poppler Team

Ardel Robinson's Northern Chevrolet softball team, playing inspired ball, provided the upset of the season on Tuesday night when, by an overwhelming 13 to 1 score, they eliminated the defending city champions, the Oen's, from the championship playoffs. As a result of their surprising win, the Northern Chevrolet have advanced into the best out-of-three finals series against the league champion Poppler's, the first game of the series to be played tonight.

Eleven errors by the usually reliable Oen's fielders contributed greatly to the rout on Tuesday night, but the Northern Chevrolet batters aided their winning cause by clubbing Milt Reierson for eight hits in the four innings that he hurled.

Husky Gordy Kaushagen turned in one of his best pitched games for the Chev, giving up but three hits, one being of the "scratch" variety.

Three errors, Kaushagen's double and Rog Tunberg's single, gave the Northern Chev four runs in the 1st inning. And in the 3rd frame, four Oen's errors, plus singles by Kaushagen, Ronholm, and Korsmo, added five runs to the Northern Chev. total.

CROOKSTON WHIPS PLUMMER 13 TO 3; WIN LEAGUE TITLE

Pirates to Represent League in Regional Tournament at Warren

Lefty Ken DuPuis continued his uncanny mastery over the Plummer Red Sox on Sunday as he pitched the defending champion Crookston Pirates to a lopsided 13 to 3 win over the Red Sox in a Northern Minnesota baseball league championship playoff game at Crookston's Highland Park.

As a result of their win the Pirates will represent the Northern Minny League in the regional tournament that will be played on the Warren diamond on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Crookston will play the Warroad nine in a first round game at 3:00 P. M. Friday afternoon.

Sunday's game, which was made necessary when the protest appealed to the State Amateur board by the Thief River Falls team was denied and left the league schedule as completed on August 22nd with Crookston and Plummer tied for first place, found the Crookston Pirates completely outplaying the Red Sox, and with every Pirate batter connecting for at least one hit and scoring a run, manager Bill Lakies gave ample proof of their right to the league championship.

In the 1st inning, after Toddie Johnson had flied out to left field and Andy Carey had popped to second baseman Dean Schoenauer, Johnny Merell was given a "life" when Ste. Marie muffed a high fly. Merell stole second and third, and with the walking Jimmy Medved on first base, Merell tallied on a double steal, with Medved taking second.

The Pirates made it 2 to 0 in the 4th inning when singles by Willis Swanson and Ken DuPuis, plus a pair of errors, permitted Swanson to tramp across the plate. A fumble on Bud Schraeder's ground ball, a stolen base, and Merell's line single down the right field foul line, added another run to the Pirate total in the 5th inning.

And in the 6th inning, the Pirates, bunching six hits, getting one base on balls, and with a Plummer error, shoved six runs over the plate to "break-up" the game. A run in the 7th frame, and a three-run cluster in the 8th inning, boosted the Crookston total to thirteen runs.

Meanwhile the Red Sox, except for Jesse DuChamp, who clubbed out a pair of singles and a double, were helpless before the southpaw slants of DuPuis. In the 4th inning, with Jesse DuChamp on third base, and Ste. Marie on second, and only one out, DuPuis struck out Wally DuChamp and George Saunders to retire the side. And in the 6th inning, with Jesse DuChamp again in scoring position on third base, the Pirate left-hander whiffed Wally DuChamp for the third out.

ROSEAU REFUGE DEDICATION SET

Conservation Groups to Celebrate October 7th

The culmination of 30 years of work came Friday, August 20, when the Roseau Conservation Club met to hear resident Rognlie read a letter from Frank Blair, revealing the date of the inauguration for the Roseau River game refuge and public hunting grounds, as October 7th.

Roseau county groups have attempted for more than 30 years to have something done about flood conditions along the Roseau river, and when the Conservation Club took over, approximately three years ago, with the intention of turning the bog area into a gigantic "duck factory" little progress had been made.

Working in conjunction with the Northwest Association of Conservation Clubs, the Roseau group, headed by H. B. M. Rognlie, was instrumental in securing the final approval for the 36,000-acre project which will aid flood control and provide one of the nation's greatest wildlife breeding grounds.

POPPLERS, CHEVS OPEN TITLE SERIES HERE THIS EVENING

Second Game of Series Is Scheduled for Next Tuesday Night, Sept. 7

The league-champion Poppler's Furniture will meet the Northern Chevrolet nine tonight in the first game of the best-of-three series to decide the city softball championship. The second game of the series will be played on Tuesday night, and if a third and deciding game is necessary, that game will be played next Thursday night.

The finalist for the championship series were decided by the elimination games played on Tuesday and Wednesday. Tuesday night the Northern Chevrolet surprised the defending city champions, Oen's and rolled up a 13 to 1 win; and last night the fast-running Poppler's team, getting no-hit and no-run pitching from Bobby Carlson for five innings, defeated the scrappy Bridgeman's team, 14 to 1. Bridgeman's entered the playoffs by beating Ole Ness' Eagles team, 11 to 1, in a game to determine fourth place on Monday night.

Last night's semi-finals game between the red-jerseyed Poppler's and the green-clad Bridgeman's, found the Poppler's making ample use of their team speed to score six runs in the 2nd inning and build up a comfortable lead. The win may have been costly for the Poppler's, for in the 7th inning, while stretching a single into a double, Phil LeGault turned his ankle as he slid into second base. It's doubtful if the powerful left-fielder will be able to play in tonight's game.

Minnesota Families Get $13,246,000 Insurance Benefits in Six Months

Minnesota families received $13,246,000 in life insurance death benefit payments in the first half of this year, compared with $11,155,000 in the corresponding period of last year and $7,921,000 in the first half of 1941, it was reported today by the Institute of Life Insurance.

The number of policies becoming claims in the first six months was 7,230 which compares with 6,791 in the corresponding period of the previous year and 5,398 in the first half of 1941.

Of the agregate payments in this state, $10,108,000 was under 3,432 ordinary policies; $2,479,000 was under 1,268 group life insurance policies; and $659,000 was under 2,530 industrial insurance policies.

For the nation as a whole, $734,946,000 was paid as death claims under 682,543 policies in the first half, compared with $677,204,000 under 659,118 policies in the corresponding period of last year and $507,869,000 under 563,080 policies in the first six months of 1941.

Keeping Score

.... With BUCK OLSON

Technically wrong, morally right

The local ball club, believing that they had been done an injustice when the Northern Minny league directors carried, by a 6 to 1 vote, a motion to consider the league schedule completed as of August 22nd, and as a consequence "throwing out" the game slated to have been played here against Plummer, appealed that action to the Minnesota State Amateur Baseball Association.

Glenn Carlson, together with Plummer's George Saunders, league president Ray Ste. Marie, and secretary Bob Crabb, appeared beore the five-man arbitration board on Friday night, and the decision rendered was against the local club.

Agreeing that the local club had a grievance, and gaining the impression that there had been a "meeting of the minds" as to the playing off of the postponed game, the arbitration board based their decision, and it was correct, on the fact that that "agreement" had not been put into the form of a motion, passed by the league directors, and entered into the minutes of the meeting. The league minutes failed to mention the results agreed upon at the meeting of August 11th, and therefore the local club's arguments before the state board were without proper foundation.

It's probable, though, that had we won the decision and forced the Red Sox to play here, that we would have denied the Crookston Pirates the fun they had on Sunday when they walloped Plummer, 13 to 3. As Crookston's Ken DuPuis said, "I'D rather pitch against Plummer than against Winger, Erskine, or McIntosh, the league's so-called weaker teams." In forty-seven innings of baseball, Plummer has scored but two runs off DuPuis left-handed slants.

But the team that deserves a vote of apology by the league, and which has been treated roughly, is the Winger Tigers. Winger had a postponed game with Crookston on its schedule, and which was to have been played at Winger. The league directors, without Winger having a representative present at the meeting, voted to cancel that game, and that action took a considerable sum of money out of Winger's treasury.

Good-by, Babe; Hello, Dick

There were rapid changes in the high school's hockey coaching position last week. Harold "Babe" Paulsen tendered his resignation in order to accept a coaching and teaching job with Michigan State College at East Lansing, Michigan; and the school board, after superintendent Bill Claffy had a few busy days interviewing candidates, hired Richard "Dick" Roberts to fill the hockey coaching spot here.

Babe, as a coach and as one of the starring players on the senior hockey Thieves, has made a host of friends here and, while they are sorry to see him leave, they realize that the move to Michigan State is an advancement. Babe is to coach hockey there and in addition, will be on the physical education staff.

In hiring Dick Roberts, the board has secured a young fellow that shoud develop into an able coach. Dick, or as he was called during his high school days at Warroad, Richy, graduated from the University of Minnesota last spring, and while at the "U" he was one of the mainstays of the Gopher hockey team, captain in his junior year.

Roberts is well-known to local hockey fans, having performed on the Arena rink as a member of the Warroad high school team before the war, and having played with the Roseau Independents against the Thieves a couple of times. Dick gained a certain amount of publicity due to his proficiency with the "kick shot".

For the Record

So that the archives will indelibly record the facts, we'll report that Dennis "Cotton" Langevin's softball team defeated the team managed by Stan Larson and Stretch Erickson, 10 to 8, last Tuesday evening, to sweep the two-game intra-fraternal series between the two Elks Club's teams.

Trailing by a 7 to 3 score going into the 6th inning, Langevin's team, called the Peter Hagens, poled out five hits and scored seven runs to "ice" the game. Cotton said that the victory was cheap, for all it cost was a broken finger by John Wettestad and a sprained wrist by Jarvis Prichard.

The Larson-Erickson squad revealed a knack at defensive play for they completed three double plays, one being so sharp that the base umpire didn't notice that the pivot-man was ten feet off the base.

SLUMP IN PRICES OF FARM PRODUCTS CITED BY BRANDT

Co-op Leader Says Farm Prices Are Not to Blame for High Living Costs

With living costs going up while prices on most farm products have shown a decided drop it is easily discernable that the price the farmer receives does not play such an important part in the high cost of living after all, John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, pointed out today.

"Consumers seem to feel that farm prices must go down if their cost of living is to be reduced," Brandt said.

"Just recently General Motors put into effect a 3c-an-hour wage increase as a compensating factor in the increased cost of living as determined by the government. This increase goes into effect at a time when most farm prices have taken a decided decline.

"In fact, the price of farm grains has been on the decline since early spring. These price declines as they affect farmers include wheat, corn, cotton, oats, barley, rye, and dairy products. The one exception is the price of meat.

"With the exception of butter and cheese, consumer prices do not reflect or follow the trend of farm prices. Possibly the only reason these two items follow in direct relationship is because in this line of endeavor the cooperative organizations exercise the greatest degree of control of the product fro mthe time it is produced until it reaches the retail store.

"When grains go down 20c, 30c 50c to $1 a bushel, the price of bread and various cereals, as well as beer and whisky, does not follow the downward trend. But if you were to follow the butter and cheese markets, you would note the price to the consumer changes the very next day, either up or down, as is reflected in the wholesale market of these products.

Brandt added that "much of the talk about the high cost of living is in reality the cost of high living."

Sources of Pitchblende

The Belgian Congo contains the largest proven pitchblende deposits. Elizabethville, near the mines, boomed during wartime to a town of 20,000, nearly all African natives. In 1940 it exported to the United States more than 1,000 tons of uranium ore. By 1943 the Belgian Congo shipments to the U. S. were cut in half, and Canada supplanted Africa as the principal source of U. S. supply.

"Knocking Man" IS COMING!

By Arthur Naftalin

The Statewide interest in the September 14 primary, which is now only one week from next Tuesday, is at a high level. It is not unlikely that the primary may attract as many as 1,000,000 voters and it is almost certain to be in excess of 800,000.

In 1946, an off-Presidential year when political interest customarily drops, the total Republican and Democratic-Farmer-Labor votes was only 552,000. Thus, it is apparent that the stay-at-home vote, by its silence played an important part in the campaign.

Leaders of both parties are aware of the importance of getting out the vote for their candidates. We can expect, therefore, an unusually strong emphasis on campaigns to register and get-out-the vote.

One evidence of the strong interest in this year's election is the large registered vote in Hennepin county. When registration closed last week 259,000 had registered in Minneapolis, and officials predict that the total for the general election may go as high as 285,000, to a new record.

There is a curious aspect to the large registration, however. In 1946, the Minneapolis registered total was 268,000 votes. Yet only 129,000 persons actually voted. This meant, under our state registration laws, that many thousands of voters were removed from the rolls.

The top contest, from the point of interest, in the September 14 primary is the race between Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl and State Auditor Stafford King for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

King found himself forced into a defensive role last week on the question of the return of slot machines. He categorically denied that his election would reverse existing policy and was moved to comment that he was "not the tool" of any syndicate, industrial, agricultural, labor, gambling, or political.

The Youngdahl forces claim they are confident of victory, but it is apparent that there is more than a little concern that King might surprise the state with an unusually large vote.

It is regarded as a certainty that incumbent Senator Joseph H. Ball and Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey will win their respective party nominations for the Senatorial position.

After the primary, the center of interest will, of course, shift to the Presidential race and the Senatorial clash. The Republicans announce that they are inviting a parade of national leaders, including Governor Dewey, Governor Warren, Senator Vandenburg, and Senator Lodge to enter Minnesota in an effort to help Ball win reelection.

The Humphrey camp follows the line that the GOP strategy is to Humphrey's advantage, because, the Humphrey followers say, the voters will react against outside interference" and will highlight the psychological advantage which Humphrey appears to have at this point in the campaign.

The latest Minnesota Poll, showing Humphrey with 49 per cent, Ball with 39 per cent, and Elmer Benson, if he runs as a Third party candidate, with 3 per cent, sent Humphrey's hopes for victory up.

But the Humphrey camp does not believe the poll figures can necessarily be translated into votes, because the stay-at-home vote, which is difficult to poll, tends to be larger among Democrats than Republicans, and, if the vote should be smaller than is presently anticipated, the gap between Humphrey and Ball could be significantly narrowed.

There is much concern among labor leaders over the governorship race in the primary. The endorsed candidate is Charles Halsted of Brainerd, the former leader of the liberal minority in the state legislature.

Halsted is opposed by three other candidates including Ray Moonan of Waseca, Frank Murphy of Northfield and Walter Johnson, of New York Mills. The fear is that Moonan and Murphy may dip into what might otherwise be Halsted votes among the old time Democrats, while Johnson, who is the Third Party candidate, might take some of the Farmer-Labor votes.

Halsted, however, has the full backing of Humphrey. They have been campaigning together. Johnson's repeated attacks upon Humphrey have further isolated the Third Party group from the regular DFL fold, and the regular DFL'ers are counting upon the Humphrey-Halsted tie-up to bring Halsted through the primary.

N. W. SCHOOL WILL PRESENT NEW HOG

Swine Day Set for Sept. 18 at Crookston School

Saturday, September 18, has been set as Swine Day at the Northwest School and Experiment Station at Crookston. Hog breeders from Minnesota and adjoining states will be present to witness the introduction of the new Minnesota No. 2 breed of swine and the sale of 100 animals.

The iniation of the new breed of swine and its acceptance as a breed in the Inbred Livestock Registry association will be the chief feature of the morning program which opens at 10:00 a. m. Dr. C. H. Bailey, dean and director of the Minnesota experiment station, will formally present the new breed of swine to President A. Olson of the Inbred Livestock Registry association. A parade of the 100 boars and gilts to be offered at auction on the afternoon sale will be a feature of the morning program.

The Minnesota No. 2 hog was produced through the active cooperation of the regional swine breeding laboratory of the Bureau of Animal Industry United States Department of Agriculture, the Minnesota experiment station and the Northwest School and Station, Crookston. Dr. L. M. Winters of University Farm, St. Paul, animal geneticist, is director of the Minnesota project; the work in producing the new breed was done at the Northwest School and experiment Station under the direction of O. M. Kiser and H. D. Fausch.

The Minnesota No. 2 hog was produced by crossing the Yorkshire, a bacon hog, on a purified fast-maturing inbred strain of Poland China swine; the resulting cross-bred has now been standarized as a breed. The Minnesota No. 2 hog produces a high-grade carcass with a minimum of lard and excellent hams and high-grade sides. Fast gains on market hogs have resulted with the Minnesota No. 2 crossed on other breeds of swine.

NEWFOLDEN

Johnson-Trochmann Vows

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the John F. Doran residence in Newfolden on Sunday, August 22 at 4:00 p. m., when Miss Eileen Audrey Johnson, daughter of Nels Johnson, of Thief River Falls became the bride of Norris Trochmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Trochmann, also of Thief River Falls.

In a room beautifully decorated with baskets of gladioli, asters, phlox and other assorted garden flowers and pink and white streamers, the nuptial vows were read by Rev. E. J. Raaum, pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran church, Newfolden. The double ring service was used. Miss Lenore Hall, of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, while the groom was attended by his brother, Ansel Trochmann, of Fergus Falls. Traditional nuptial music was played by Mrs. E. J. Raaum at the piano. About 125 relatives and friends were present.

The bride was beautifully attired in an aqua, street length dress of cable knit with a white lace peplum and wore a corsage of yellow roses. Her jewelry was a golden cross, a gift of the groom. The bridesmaid wore a pink gabardine street length dress with a corsage of yellow roses. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Hall, wore a medium blue dress and the groom's mother a navy blue dress. Both wore corsages of red roses. The groom, best man, fathers, and ushers, Reuben Wold, cousin of the groom and Vernon Hall, cousin of the bride all wore white carnations.

The bride was born and raised in this community, attended school here and was a member of the Newfolden High School graduating class of 1948. She is now employed as telephone operator by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company in Thief River Falls. The groom is a promising young farmer of the Thief River Falls community and attended Lincoln High school there. He served in the army from January 1945 to November 1946. He is now operating a farm near Thief River Falls in partnership with his father.

After the ceremony a wedding reception given by the bride and her relatives was held at the Doran home to about 125 guests. A three tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom and decked with sweet peas served as a centerpiece at the bridal table. Ice cream, cake, coffee, etc. was served. Mrs. Clifford Johnson, bride's sister-in-law, assisted by Mrs. John Ness, bride's aunt, poured. Waitresses were Mrs. Bernice Trochmann, groom's sister-in-law and Mrs. Magnus Bakke, bride's aunt. Decorating for the wedding and reception was directed by Mrs. Marvin Smeby. Flowers were furnished by Mrs. E. J. Raaum, Mrs. Hjalmer Haugen, Mrs. Annie Nelson and Mrs. Marvin Smeby.

Following the reception the bride donned a traveling costume a gray gabardine suit, and the young couple left for a short wedding trip to Crookston, Grand Forks and other points. They will be at home after September first at St. Paul Avenue Thief River Falls.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN SUFFERS SETBACK

198 Fatal Accidents In Minnesota During July

The safety campaign to save 40 lives in Minnesota in 1948 suffered a sharp set-back in July. Figures just released by the division of vital statistics, state department of health show that 198 fatal accidents occurred in the state in July compared with 155 in June this year and 183 in July, 1947.

From January through June, 1948, ninety-nine fewer fatal accidents occurred than in the comparable period last year. The heavy toll of July accidents resulted in a drop in the number of lives saved in the safety campaign which has as its slogan, "Save 400 lives in 1948, 399 and yours." A total of 1,116 fatal accidents occurred in the first seven months last year while 1,039 took place in the same period this year, representing a saving of 77 lives.

July accidents increased over previous months in almost all categories. There were 66 motor accident deaths, 73 home accident fatalities, 49 public accident deaths, other than motor vehicle deaths, 9 occupational deaths, and one fatality of a type not specified.

If this high accident rate continues, the gain in lives saved over 1947 will soon be wiped out.

U. of M. to Welcome New Students Sept. 20-26th

Life on the University of Minnesota campus will be explained to new students and incoming freshman during "New Students' Week" Monday, September 20, through Sunday, September 26.

In the week preceding the opening of fall quarter, September 27, the newcomers will not only learn how to get an education, but will also learn about the historical background of the University and about organizations on the campus.

The tentative program includes tours of "Things the Upperclassmen Never See," occupational discussions on "New and Old Professions for the Vocationally Undecided", games of bowling, billiards and bridge, movies, dances, attendance at a football scrimmage and open houses.

Convocations will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Northrop Memorial auditorium with members of the University staff explaining various phases of campus life to the newcomers.

Unpainted Furniture

Unpainted furniture was first offered in a commercial way about 1924. The offerings were very meager, consisting primarily of kitchen tables and chairs. Today unpainted furniture is available in better selection. It is especially popular with people who live doubled up in apartments.

THREE THINGS WILL HAPPEN!

A Worthington hen, probably influenced by the current struggle to make both ends meet, laid a semi-circular egg. An Easter Lily was in full bloom in the H. B. Bjerknes garden at Gonvick late in August. A bull on the Edwin Kelm farm near New Ulm was tormented and suffered a swollen mouth and lacerated hide when a swarm of bees attacked him. When Hank Tobiason of Lindstrom snoozed on the St. Croix his fishpole disappeared. He woke up and pursued it several hundred yards, finally retrieving the pole and a 16-pound catfish.

Thank You, Neighbors

The fifth season of extended union services has ended.

Reviewing the tent meetings of '48, we recognize our debt to the Lord and to His people. After the fire and "tentless tent" gatherings of '47, it was an unmixed delight on July 18, this year, to dedicate a brand new tent and new folding chairs, "extra fine," of which kind we hope to procure an additional supply by next summer, Lord willing.

Location of tent was ideal and satisfactory. Weather was favorable. Attendance on the whole very encouraging. Many communities far away and nearby were represented. We rejoice in the privilege of this gospel testimony in Thief River Falls. We are glad to know that many of the Lord's people were helped and that some came to Christ for personal experience of Salvation. Above all, we thank and praise the Lord for His protection and provision in our behalf.

There is grave solemnity in the thought of multitudes who pass up spiritual privilege. "The harvest is passed, the summer is ended, and we are not saved" (Jeremiah 8:20). It proved fatal long ago to fail to recognize divine visitation. Neglect is perilous also today.

Our sincere thanks to all of you who manifested deep interest and who helped, under God, to make these services memorable. We appreciate all donation of time, gift of energy and means.

In gratitude to God and by His grace, we will press on "while we have the opportunity."

We are glad to mention the tent meeting dates for 1949, Lord willing: July 17-August 14, inclusive. Please make note of this.

The NEW
Allis-Chalmers Model "G"
TRACTOR

with its rear-mounted 4 cylinder engine and its broad line of quick-hitch, front-mounted implements, represents a matched combination of motorized farm tools that fills a need on every farm, regardless of type or acreage.

For All Jobs on Some Farms and Some Jobs on All Farms!

It makes no difference whether you farm a large acreage or a small one, the ALLIS-CHALMERS MODEL "G" TRACTOR and its companion implements will adapt themselves profitably to some or all of your field operations.

Because of its low price and extreme operating economy, it is a tractor that operators of even the smallest acreages can afford to own. Because of its accuracy and precision in planting and seeding row-crops, it will profitably take the place of that last team of horses that have been kept by many farmers.

ANY YOUNGSTER CAN OPERATE IT AND THE NUMBER OF JOBS IT CAN DO ON A LARGE FARM DEPEND ON THE VISION OF THE FARMER.

The Model G comes fully equipped. Electric lights, starter, full size rubber tires and a swinging drawbar are standard equipment. Front and rear wheels are quickly adjustable to fit any row-crop spacing. The 4-speed transmission make possible speeds of 1 to 7 miles per hour.

For versatility, economy and all-round usefulness the Model G is truly in a class by itself—it sets a new standard in farm power. Like the rest of the Allis Chalmers line, it will pay for itself in a short time and make for better living on the farm. Best of all, you can get immediate delivery.

When a manufacturer produces a car so obviously ahead of the times as the Futuramic Oldsmobile, it's only natural that demand for that product should break all records. Add to this today's pent-up need for automobiles—plus continuing shortages of steel and other critical materials—and you'll see why we have a real problem on our hands. We value the good will of all our customers. We would like to provide all our customers with new Oldsmobile cars. But unfortunately, this can't be done overnight. That is why we are taking this opportunity to reaffirm publicly our POLICIES ON PRICES AND DELIVERIES. We believe that under present circumstances these policies constitute a sound basis for "fair play" to everybody. And we hope that, on this basis, we may continue to serve you.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ENROLLMENT IN LOCAL SCHOOLS HITS NEW PEAK

First-day Attendance Aggregates 1,799, up 80 from 1947 Figure

First-day enrollment in the Thief River Falls public schools Tuesday aggregated 1,799, the largest in history and 80 more than the previous record established in 1947, Supt. W. G. Claffy announced today.

Opening enrollments in the various schools this year and last was as follows:

	1947	1948
Lincoln	844	848
Knox	411	462
Northrop	251	241
Washington	213	248
	1,719	1,799

The figures reveal substantial increases in attendance at the Knox and Washington schools, with a slight decline in the Northrop. The increase is explained in part by the fact that grade pupils are being transported to the city schools from eleven closed rural schools, in addition to which the local district, No. 18, has been enlarged by the inclusion of Districts 73 and 165.

While some of the lower grades will need to be adjusted to equalize the enrollments, Mr. Claffy indicated that no additional teachers would be required. He added that all members of the school faculty were on hand for the opening Tuesday and for the teachers' meetings held that afternoon.

Mr. Claffy said that any former elementary and secondary school teachers interested in substitute teaching should register at his office in the Lincoln building.

ROCHE ADDRESSES LIONS WEDNESDAY

Tells of Meeting Held to Discuss Court House

James Roche, secretary of the Civic and Commerce association, was the guest speaker at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in the Rex Cafe.

He informed the group that the Pennington county board and city council, at a joint meeting Tuesday night, had decided it would not be practicable to attempt to convert the Auditorium into a combined court house and city council.

Mr. Roche added that the county board had authorized Chariman Paul Roy to appoint a seven-member commission to look into the feasibility of constructing a new court house in the near future to replace the present structure, which has been condemned by the state fire marshal.

H. O. Chommie pointed out the need for making provisions for a district court room and for chambers for Judge Paul A. Lundgren.

Ward Nichols reported on the showing at the Falls theatre last Thursday noon of a short film showing how to promote a campaign to reduce juvenile delinquency.

County Board Accepts Graveling, Ditch Jobs

The county board at its September session Tuesday accepted a graveling contract recently completed by Clifford Hedeen on State Aid Road 7 east from River Valley, and also accepted the Sanders-Black River ditch No. 1, work on which was carried out by Pahlen & company of Plummer. Delegations from Sanders, Norden and Deer Park townships also were present to request road improvements.

Temperatures Moderate In This Area Past Week

Weather conditions in this area during the past week were generally favorable for uninterrupted harvest operations. Light showers fell Sunday and Wednesday, bringing a total of .31 inch of rain, according to the KTRF gauge. Temperatures during the week ranged from a high of 91 Friday and 89 Saturday to lows of 41 Tuesday and 42 Wednesday.

The youngest, a four and one-half months old infant boy, was taken down Wednesday. The local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has been cooperating in making arrangements for transportation as well as rendering other assistance. IWVA REUNION COMING TO THIS CITY NEXT YEAR

War Veterans Alliance Accepts Invitation of T. R. Falls Delegation

The International War Veterans alliance, at its reunion in Winnipeg last week-end, voted to accept the invitation tendered by Mayor Harry E. Simons to hold its 1949 reunion in Thief River Falls.

Present to support Mayor Simons in his bid were officers of the local American Legion post and 40 & 8 voiture, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Civic and Commerce association and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The IWVA held its last convention in Thief River Falls in September, 1939, attracting a large attendance from Manitoba as well as Minnesota and North Dakota.

In the annual election of officers, Oscar Lewis of Bagley, past department commander of the American Legion, was named president for the ensuing year, and Oscar R. Cerny was named American director, succeeding M. R. Leverson. Mrs. Joe Herbranson of Warren was elected president of the IWVA auxiliary.

Several hundred Thief River Falls citizens were present at the Winnipeg reunion. Playing a prominent part was the Legion municipal band directed by Glen Ahre, which took part in the convention parade Saturday evening and in the memorial procession Sunday, as well as being a runnerup in the band competition, in which the Grafton, N. D., band placed first. Also participating in the program was the local Legion auxiliary trio, directed and accompanied by Mrs. H. F. Harrison.

The Thief River Falls 40 & 8 voiture contributed to the merriment by heading a torchlight parade Friday evening, with a 1902 model Jackson automobile driven by Harlan Bailey as a special feature.

One of the outstanding addresses delivered at the reunion was that of Rev. B. H. Wessling of Fergus Falls, former department chaplain of the American Legion, who discussed the devious methods employed by Communists to achieve their objectives.

JAYCEES PLAN TO SCOTCHLITE BIKES

To Hold Bicycle Safety Campaign Here Shortly

In common with similar groups in other communities, the local Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting last Thursday evening voted to sponsor a Scotchlite-bicycle campaign designed to protect bicycle riders who are on the streets after dark.

Roland Erickson, treasurer of the Jaycee Sports Carnival committee, reported that a modest surplus remained after all expenses in connection with the 1948 carnival had been paid.

For their services to the Junior Chamber, Harold C. Paulson and Malcolm Magnuson, retiring members, were given a vote of thanks.

James Muzzy Named State Outstanding Dairy Club Member

JAMES MUZZY

Of the Thief River Falls community, who Saturday was named Minnesota's outstanding 4-H dairy clubmember at the Minnesota state fair.—Minneapolis Tribune photo.

James Muzzy, 20, Thief River Falls, Friday received one of the highest honors given to 4-H club members at the Minnesota state fair when he was named oustanding dairy club member in the state.

The award, a DeLaval separator, is based on the quality of the dairy animal shown at the Minnesota state fair, the club member's dairy record for three or more years, and an oral examination given by University of Minnesota dairy specialists at the fair.

James placed high in the Holstein dairy 4-H competition during the first half of the fair to qualify for the final oral examination. He showed the top heifer in the 4-H Holstein heifer class, as well as the reserve champion Holstein animal.

Dairy honors are not new to the champion. During his 10 years in 4-H club work he has won eight out of 10 grand championships in the dairy heifer class at the Pennington county fair. Brownell of the state department of health is expected soon to make a periodical inspection of the local supply.

Three Candidates Speak in Local Park Saturday

Approximately twenty persons attended a political rally of the Wallace wing of the Democratic Farmer-Labor party Saturday afternoon in the West Side park.

Paul A. Harris, county chairman of the left wing group, introduced three speakers as the proponents of peace and plenty.

James Shields, candidate for the nomination for United States senator, denied that price supports under agricultural products are responsible for inflation. He blamed the manufacturers for creating artificial shortages of commodities, and favored a resumption of price controls. He also accused "Big business" of promoting war.

Walter Johnson of New York Mills, seeking the party's nomination for governor advocated a minimum of $100 a month for old-age pensions, as well as higher iron ore taxes.

Also speaking briefly was Martin Fredrickson of Clearwater county, candidate for lieutenant governor.

Manufactured in the St. Cloud reformatory, the new plates are of aluminum with black numerals, and are wider than the 1948 plates to make room for the legend "1949-Centennial-1949" across the bottom. The plates also are substantially lighter in weight than those currently in use.

Candidates in General Election to be Picked by Voters Next Tuesday

Brisk Contests in Rural Areas of County for 3 Commissioner Offices

The 1948 primary election campaign, in which right and left-wing factions are fighting control of the state D-F-L organization, and in which Governor Luther Youngdahl has what appears to have a formidable opponent for the Republican nomination for governor in the person of Stafford King, will reach its climax when voters go to the polls to express their choice next Tuesday, September 14.

Much local interest is being shown in the contests for county commissioner in three rural districts in Pennington county. In each district three well-known men are candidates, one of whom will be eliminated Tuesday in preparation for the general election November 2.

The commissioner candidates include: First district: Odin C. Hanson, Theodore P. Hyland, incumbent, and Frank Race, former member of the county board. Third district: Carl R. Anderson, Paul Roy, incumbent, and August Scholin. Fifth district: Simon Breiland, Waldie Christensen and Glenn Tasa. O. M. Mandt, the incumbent, is not a candidate for reelection.

Polls for all four wards in the city of Thief River Falls will be located as usual in the municipal Auditorium, and will be open from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m. Voting places in other parts of the county also will be open until 8 p. m.

Pre-election polls indicate a victory by Hubert H. Humphrey, right-wing D-F-L candidate for the nomination for United States senator, in his contest with James M. Shields, left-wing aspirant. The Republican nomination for senator is conceded to Joseph H. Ball, incumbent, who has two opponents.

Citizens are warned that in voting the consolidated ballot in the primaries, their ballot will be rejected if they vote for candidates of more than one party.

Voters who expect to be away from home next Tuesday may obtain absent voters ballots at the county auditor's office at the court house.

Further confusion is in prospect in connection with the D-F-L ballot due to the fact that the ballot gives no information as to whether the candidate is affiliated with the party's right wing or left wing, with the result that voters who have not made a careful study of the aspirants will have to do some guessing.

COMMISSION ON COURT HOUSE TO BE APPOINTED

To Advise County Board on Making Plans for New Structure Here

The first definite step toward the acquisition of a new Pennington county court house to replace the present antiquated structure, which has been condemned by the state fire marshal as unsafe for occupancy, was taken by the county board at its September session Tuesday when it instructed Chairman Paul Roy to appoint a seven-member commission to assist the board in arriving at suitable arrangements for a court house.

The commission, it was indicated, will include members of the county board and city council, as well as representatives of labor and of the rural areas of the county.

Members of the board Tuesday evening met in an informal conference with the city council to discuss the possibility of converting the Auditorium into a joint court house and city hall. While the sentiment revealed was that the proposal did not appear to be practicable, it is expected that the matter will be further explored by the court house commission before a definite decision is reached.

Judge Paul A. Lundgren appeared before the county board Tuesday to solicit its cooperation in arranging for a district court room and for chambers for the judge. The matter of working out a solution was left in the hands of the building committees of the board and city council together with Judge Lundgren and H. O. Chommie, judge of municipal court.

It was indicated at the joint meeting Tuesday evening that an effort would be made to provide the necessary space in the Auditorium.

Local Government Under Constitution

As a public service this newspaper is printing the second article in a series of six devoted to the problem of constitutional revision in Minnesota. Each article is written by a prominent Minnesotan and is designed to acquaint the citizens of the state with important aspects of Minnesota's constitutional problem. The work and findings of the Minnesota Constitutional Commission, established by the 1947 legislature to recommend changes in Minnesota's 91-year old basic law, will provide a basis for most of the discussions.

The opinions expressed by the authors are entirely their own, and do not necessarily reflect the opinions held by either this newspaper or the Minnesota Constitutional Commission.

By William Anderson
Professor of Political Science
University of Minnesota

Counties, cities, villages, towns and school districts constitute the system of units of local government in Minnesota. As in all the states, local government is important to the people not only for the services it renders but also for the continuing challenge and opportunity it presents to all citizens to gain experience and exercise influence in the conduct and improvement of popular self-government. It is primarily the responsibility of the people in each local community to conduct the local government. Its efficiency, its honesty, the quality and the quantity of its services, depend mainly upon the local citizens.

The duty of the state in connection with local government is not to take over the responsibility of the local people, but to create the conditions, and to give the stimulus and the supervision that are needed, to make good government both possible and sought-after in every community. It is the prevailing democratic view that it is better to risk occasional misgovernment here and there than to have the state legislative and executive departments constantly interfering in local affairs.

This brings us to the state constitution, because that document, as interpreted by the courts and applied in practice, sets the limits for state action in local as in other affairs. In general the Minnesota constitution puts very few important restrictions on what the legislature may do about local government. Through general laws, applicable to all the members of a class of governments and uniform in operation, the legislature can mold the system of local government largely according to its own judgment as to good public policy.

But legislative theory and legislative practice are sometimes far apart. In the early history of the state many legislative acts were passed that interfered with the governments of particular cities, counties, and other units. Many lobbyists for special privileges in cities hung around the legislature to promote the passage of bills that favored their interest at the expense of the local communities. Governors, and leaders in the legislature, denounced "the evil of special legislation."

Many cities and villages were placed in an interesting quandary by the prohibition against special legislation in 1892. Each place had its own special charter, and each one was accustomed to going to the legislature frequently to obtain desired amendments to its charter. Such amendments are needed from time to time, especially in cities that are growing and changing. To meet the needs of cities and villages for such changes, the legislature, following the lead of Missouri and California, proposed, and the voters in 1898 approved, another amendment to the constitution (Article IV, section 36) under which every city and village in the state may frame, adopt, and later amend a charter for its own government "as a city," provided that the charter is always kept in harmony with and subject to the constitution and laws of the state. In general this so-called "municipal home rule" provisions has worked well. Under it many villages have adopted charters as cities, and a total of over 80 cities now operate under "home rule charter."

Certain difficulties have appeared, however. For one thing, the vote required for charters and amendments is too high. The constitution requires a four-sevenths vote (over 57%) to adopt new charters, and an even higher majority, three-fifths (60%) to adopt charter amendments. Then, too, these majorities must be calculated not on the basis of those voting on the question, but on the total vote cast at the election. Thus, unless a special election is held just on charter questions, all voters who go to the election but fail to vote on a charter proposition, are in effect counted as having voted against it. Another difficulty arose recently when the state supreme court declared invalid a legislative act of 1909 under which about twenty cities had adopted second or even third home rule charters. The court ruled that a city may adopt only one home rule charter, and that thereafter all it can do is to amend that one.

To overcome these and certain other obstacles the Constitutional Commission has approved a proposal from its Local Government Committee to revise the home rule charter provision of the constitution. In addition, since the problems of many counties are coming more and more to be like those of cities, it is proposed (as is now lawful in several other states) to permit counties to adopt and amend home rule charters. The legislature, under the proposal, is to provide for local charter commissions for both cities and counties to propose charters and amendments thereto, and is to define the popular majorities by which such charters and amendments may be adopted.

As to towns (organized townships) and school districts, the present constitutional provisions are deemed to be generally satisfactory. Consequently no specific changes therein are being recommended.

These in brief are the main proposals for constitutional change that will effect local governments. If adopted they will enlarge the powers of the legislature to make local governments both stronger and more flexible to meet changing needs.

One Great American Trait

I always think it does a newspaper editor good to get out from behind his desk and see how folks in other parts of America look, and think, and act.

And that's what I've been doing these past weeks, touring the country from Michigan to Texas, California to Maine. It's a mighty encouraging experience. Not only because of the different points of view you run into—but because of the tolerance which reconciles those different points of view.

I mean the tolerance of a Pennsylvania farmer for the habits of his city cousin; the tolerance of folks who vote one way towards those who vote another; the tolerance of those who prefer spring water towards those who enjoy a moderate beverage like beer.

From where I sit, it's that great American trait of tolerance—respect for individual tastes and liberties—that makes this country strong. Let's never lose it!

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Adopting a Baby

When Jane and Fred realized that they couldn't have a child of their own they began to think about adopting one. You see, both of them wanted a child very much and had even dreamed of a little girl with blond curls who would come to live with them and share their love and security. But for some reason Jane and Fred kept right on dreaming and didn't act.

That happened many years ago and today Jane and Fred realize that they are now too old to adopt a baby. It was last summer that Jane remarked, "Yes, we often wish we had adopted a baby when we first thought of it."

Just how old is "too old" to adopt a baby? Psychologists tell us that age is not merely a matter of the number of years alone. However, we do know that as we become older we become more conservative and set in our ways. So if you are planning to adopt a baby, it would be well to discuss your situation with a member of the staff of a reliable child-placing agency and get expert help in making your decision.

It is always unwise for the adopting parents to deal directly with the real parent or through a third person. Thru years of training and experience the staff of a first rate agency with your cooperation is able to protect the child, the adopting parents and the real parents. First, it helps the mother of the child in making a wise decision. It encourages some couples to adopt a baby and dissuades others. Moreover, the agency watches the child during a period of probation in the new family so as to be sure that the arrangement is one of satisfaction and protection for all concerned.

It is wise to consider adoption ony when both parents are interested, and when both feel that they want a child more than anything else in the world. Then discuss the situation with the local official child-placing agency.

STATE HAS 20,594 TRAFFIC MISHAPS FIRST HALF OF '48

Highway Dept. Reveals Total of 69 Killed and 1,165 Injured in Period

An analysis of all reported traffic accidents in the first half-year of 1948, just completed and made public by the state highway department, brings to light that although Minnesota substantially reduced the number of persons killed and injured in traffic in the six months period as compared with same six months of 1947, the number of traffic accidents actually increased from 19,546 to 20,594.

The increase in the accident total is the result of an increase in the number of property damage accidents from 14,309 in the first half of 1947 to 15,549 during the corresponding period this year. This increase, approximately nine per cent, parallels closely this year's increase in traffic volume.

Fatalities, according to the half-year report, in the face of the increase in traffic volume were reduced from 245 a year ago to 216, and personal injuries in traffic were lowered from 7,554 to 7,473. Eleven hundred and eighty-seven accidents involved pedestrians, and as a result of them, 69 persons were killed and 1,165 injured. However, this also represents a substantial pedestrian-safety gain as compared with the first half of 1947 when 87 pedestrians were killed and 1,275 injured.

The largest number of killed and injured, and also the largest number of property damage accidents, were the results of motor vehicle collisions with other motor vehicles. There were 16,938 of this type of accidents, resulting in 75 deaths and 4,681 men, women and children injured.

NATIONAL GUARD DAY PROCLAIMED FOR SEPTEMBER 16

Governor Youngdahl Cites Services Given by State Organization

Governor Luther W. Youngdahl today proclaimed Thursday, September 16, as National Guard Day in Minnesota. The proclamation was issued in conjunction with a presidential proclamation setting that day for a nation-wide observance of National Guard Day.

This is the second observance of National Guard Day, which was first inaugurated on September 16 last year. In a statement accompanying the proclamation the Governor cited the growth of the Minnesota National Guard from 2700 officers and men a year ago to over 7000 today. He also alluded to the peace-time services performed by the Guard during the past year in floods, fire, and civil disturbances.

Referring to the wartime role of the National Guard, he said, "It is a source of pride that our Minnesota National Guard has performed notably for the state and nation in our past wars. We can rest assured that in the future, should the need arise, our Minnesota National Guard will again be a bulwark in the armed might of our country."

The state adjutant general's office announced that plans are being made for appropriate observance of National Guard Day in all cities and towns where National Guard units are located. Many organizations are planning "Open House" in their armories for the general public; others are planning parades, demonstrations and displays of army equipment.

States Increase Outlay For Planning Activities

Accenting industrial development, 39 states are spending more than eight million dollars this biennium on urban planning and related activities.

A recent nationwide survey by the Association of State Planning and Development Agencies discloses other major state planning activities include attracting tourists and research into new uses of natural resources.

New York is spending more than any other state on planning. The New York department of commerce, which is its state planning agency, received $1,700,000 for the current fiscal year. The Arkansas resources and development commission received $295,610 for 1947-48, compared to $214,958 in 1946-47.

Several states this year created new planning agencies or unified planning activities into a single agency. In California the new office of the director of planning and research is operating on a budget of $116,403 until July, 1948.

In Minnesota, an unusual activity of the new state department of business research and development is investigating violations of state anti-trust laws. Other major efforts in broader use of natural resources, diversification of industry and advertising scenic attractions.

In the South, the revamped Oklahoma planning and resources board will spend $1,200,000 over a two-year period to survey industrial possibilities of the state's resources, power, water and transportation facilities. The board will study extensively the availability of markets, labor, credit and industrial sites.

Anaplasmosis A Menace

Livestock producers in the southern states are calling on research workers to find a way to combat anaplasmosis, which kills 40 per cent of the cattle infected. It is presumed to be caused by a microscopic parasite spread by ticks or other carriers.

Editorials.....

Next Tuesday is election day, an opportunity for you to select the candidates of the party of your choice. The right to vote is a privilege that is denied to most of the people of the world. Many people who once were free now have no voice in their government. We still have freedom to say what we think and to vote as we please. These are responsibilities as well as privileges in our country. Vote Tuesday.

Labor Day provided another opportunity for the nation's politicians and labor organization leaders to beat their breasts with pride over what they had done for the workers of our country. We listened to several of these broadcast talks and they all followed pretty much the same pattern. We have no quarrel with politicians or labor-leaders but it occurred to us as they twisted their arms out of joint patting themselves on the back that they might also have some slight tribute to labor's greatest friend, the machine. It is the machine, more than anything else, that is responsible for our higher standard of living. It is the machine that has given us cheap food. A hundred years ago an average person had to work thirty days to eat thirty days. It required the labor of nearly three-fourths of our population to produce the food needed by all of the people. Now less than 15% of our farmers are able to provide us with our food and the energy of most of our people is applied to the production of other goods and the performance of other services. That is why we have a high standard of living. And who is responsible for giving us the machine? Maybe that credit should go to just about everybody except the politicians and the labor leaders.

Reports from the Berlin front run alternately hot and cold these days. Just when the situation appears to be hopeless suddenly there is an easing of the tension and the hope is renewed that a peaceful settlement of differences can be arranged. Then a new situation suddenly develops and everything appears to be growing from bad to worse. How long this series of crises can continue without resulting in an open clash is anybody's guess but it is reasonable to assume that there will be no easing of the tension until after the general election in our country. If the situation develops in the usual manner we may expect a gradual increase in the tension from now until election day. That was the pattern that preceded the elections in Italy and in France. Following the elections the Russians became suddenly friendly and cooperative. Between now and November we will be under a lot of pressure, but if we are not already slugging it out by election day maybe there will still be a good chance for another merry Christmas.

It seems to be generally agreed that if it were not for the government price support program agriculture probably would be taking the same kind of a nose dive that it did in 1920. Up to this time the government's guaranteed prices have cost but little because the natural price level of commodities was higher than the government floor. As a matter of fact farm commodity prices were pressing against the government maintained ceiling thruout the war years, but that day has passed. From now on, apparently, we are going to be back with all the old arguments over surpluses. We believe however that agriculture is going to receive more favorable consideration in these future arguments, not because of any greater love for the farmer but because of a better understanding of the need for maintaining a more stable economy. With our huge load of debt we cannot permit a return to depression prices without almost certain financial collapse for the entire country.

Looking Backward

1928—TWENTY YEARS AGO

The opening day enrollment in the Thief River Falls schools was 1,217 one more than a year ago, Supt. Morris Bye announced.—Orlando Bishop purchased the M. T. McFarland garage on West Third st.—A. M. Holte and associates purchased the Lyceum theater building from J. A. Brumund. Mr. Holte, formerly of Fosston, will be resident manager.—Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Thronson and children returned from a vacation trip to Iowa.

1938—TEN YEARS AGO

First-day enrollment in the local schools reached an all-time high mark of 1,487.—The federal Public Works administration approved a grant of $153,818 to the local school district, No. 18, to aid in financing the new Lincoln junior-senior high school building.—Mr. and Mrs. B. Dan Bjorkman returned from an extended sojourn in the Scandinavian countries.—The W. L. Carlisle family returned from Cass Lake, where Mrs. Carlisle and children had spent the summer months at Norway Beach.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

Farmers here are thankful for the reasonably dry season so far this year. Many farmers broke up some of their low land and seeded flax of which most is ripe and a good crop too.

It is encouraging to know the river project is well underway and when finished, thousands of acres more of the richest land along the rivers can be put into crops.

We are very grateful to our Senators, Congressman and Governor for their willingness and ability to get this project thru Congress, also thanks to the men on the home front that donated of their time and money to help get it done.

But we need more help from Washington to get the project finished.

I earnestly urge every voter in this territory to think this over carefully and help get the same men back in office for another term. A new man even if willing cannot help us as much as the ones we now have.

Respectfully,

H. T. Hanson

DAIRY PRODUCTS INSTITUTE AT 'U'

Second Annual Event Is Scheduled Sept. 20-23

The people who process milk and cream will study the latest wrinkles in their industry at the second annual Dairy Products Institute to be held at University Farm, September 20-23.

There will be a session at the institute that will affect someone in every local community in Minnesota, says W. B. Combs, professor of dairy husbandry, in charge of arrangements.

Six special sessions have been arranged. They include buttermakers, Sept. 20-21; cheesemakers, Sept. 20; ice cream manufacturers, Sept. 21; market milk producers, Sept. 22; dry milk manufacturers, Sept. 22-23; and dairy plant fieldmen and inspectors, Sept. 23.

A staff of 50 people, including outstanding speakers from Wisconsin, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Iowa, in addition to University of Minnesota and local experts, will appear on the program of the Institute.

Complete details concerning the course may be had by writing to J. O. Christianson, director of agricultural short courses, University Farm, St. Paul 1.

POTATO GROWERS WARNED OF BLIGHT

Too Early Harvesting May Cause Heavy Loss

Minnesota potato growers were warned today to take precautions in harvesting potato fields where late blight has been found. Too early harvesting may result in heavy losses from rot in storage, says R. C. Rose, University of Minnesota agricultural extension plant pathologist.

Some growers have already observed rotting potatoes in their fields and feel that they can salvage more potatoes by immediate or early harvest. On the contrary, too early a harvest will only increase the losses which will occur in storage.

Late blight always starts on the foliage where the fungus develops and produces spores, Rose added. Spores are produced in large numbers on the growing plants under moist conditions.

Rains are not necessary to provide the moisture. Dews at night or heavy top growth giving good shade will provide favorable conditions for development of the fungus. The fungus will grow and continue to produce spores as long as any part of the plant remains green.

Spore production stops when the top growth is completely dead and dried up, Rose says. When spores are being produced, many fall to the ground and some drop into cracks in the soil and come in contact with potatoes near the surface. These often develop tuber rot.

Tip On Dyeing

A good way to avoid streaks when dyeing materials is to dissolve the dye in about one cup of warm water, then strain through a thin cloth before adding it the rest of the liquid.

Spraying Time

Dormant sprays to control European red mite, San Jose scale, apple red bug, peach leaf curl, and rosy aphis should be applied when buds are green tipped and the temperature is above 40 degrees.

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Tobias Stene.

Twelve years have passed since that sad day.

But still within our aching hearts,

Her memory we keep.

Crookston Pirates Represent Region 2 in State Tourney

The Crookston Pirates, the Northern Minnesota League champions, defeated Nielsville, 4 to 2, in the finals of the regional Class B baseball tournament at Warren on Sunday afternoon and earned their second successive trip to the state tournament as representatives of the second region. It marked the second time, too, that the Pirates had taken the measure of Nielsville in a regional finals, for the two teams had been finalists in last year's tourney.

The Pirates, enroute to the championship, defeated Warroad 9 to 4, in a first round game on Friday afternoon, and then eliminated Alvarado in a semi-finals game on Saturday afternoon. Nielsville, drawing a first round bye, defeated Ada, 5 to 2, in a semi-finals game on Saturday afternoon.

Crookston, against the powerful Warroad nine on Friday afternoon, stole sixteen bases during the game, getting six of the base thefts in the 1st inning, to demoralize the northerners. Ken DuPuis, the Pirates neat left-hander, although touched for for six hits, including a double and a homerun by Jim Fish, kept the Warroad batters off balance most of the time. And, with his neat balk motion, DuPuis nipped a pair of Warroad runners off first base to dampen Warroad's scoring threats.

Saturday afternoon the Pirates, behind big George Saunders three-hit pitching, defeated Alvarado, 9 to 1. Saunders had a shut-out until the 6th inning when Chuck Bosard opened with a single, was sacrificed to second base, moved to third base on a fielder's choice, and scored on a bad throw by Toddie Johnson.

Sunday's championship game was well-played and well-pitched, with Nielsville's Stanton Brekke and Crookston's Willie Swanson hooking up in a fine hurling duel. The Pirates tallied what proved to be the winning run in the last half of the 8th inning when Jimmy Medved, first man to bat in the frame, was given a "life" when Jerome Jevning fumbled a ground ball. Medved stole second base. Bill Lakies was hit by a pitched ball, putting runners on first and second, and they were advanced when Ken DuPuis laid down a sacrifice bunt. Les Gullickson was out on a ground ball, short to first, with the runners holding their bases. Medved was trapped off third base, but on the play at the plate, as Jevning's throw to the catcher was high and wide, Jim slid across the rubber with the tie breaking run. Swanson slashed out a triple to the right field fence to score Lakes with the Pirates fourth run.

Swanson, while giving up but three hits, was in difficulty several times during the early innings, with Nielsville leaving eight runners stranded on the bases. Stanton Brekke, Nielsville's big right-hander, pitching his second complete game in two days, hurled steady ball for the losers and, given support by the infield, would perhaps have turned in a shutout for the Pirates didn't score an earned run off his delivery. Crookston's Swanson allowed but one earned run, that in the 1st inning when Eidamoe was hit by a pitched ball, advanced to third base on Ed Haugstad's dribbling grounder down the third base line, and scored on a wild pitch.

POPPLERS WIN CITY SOFTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Take Title by Winning Two Straight Games from Northern Chevs

The Poppler's Furniture team, scoring wins of 8 to 4 and 13 to 4 over the Northern Chevrolet in the finals, won the city softball championship and were awarded the trophy donated by radio station KTRF.

The fast-running Poppler's nine, winners of the league championship, defeated the Bridgeman's nine, 14 to 1, in a first round game last Wednesday night and then, in the best-out-of-three finals against the Northern Chevrolet team, the Poppler's marked up an 8 to 4 triumph on Thursday night, and ended the series by registering a 13 to 4 victory on Tuesday night.

In their game against the Northern Chevrolet on Thursday night, the Poppler's, on three bases on balls, an error, and Nicky Carlson's double, scored three runs in the 1st inning to gain a lead that they never relinquished. The Northern Chevrolet team made a splurge in their half of the opening inning when, with Johnny Powell on base, Swede Lund rifled a long homerun into right field.

Tuesday night's game found the Poppler's forced to re-vamp their lineup, for ankle and foot injuries had taken outfielders Phil LeGault and Stan Cockrell out of action, and centerfielder Jimmy Welton was out of town on business.

After three scoreless innings of play the Northern Chevrolet, on a single by Swede Lund, an infield out, a wild pitch, and an error on Gordy Kaushagen's ground ball, gave manager Ardel Robinson's team a 1 to 0 lead in the 4th inning.

Held hitless for four innings, the Poppler's erupted for four hits in the 5th frame and, coupled with four errors, scored seven runs in the top half of the inning. Bob Carlson led off with a single and advanced to second base when the ball went through the left fielder. Nicky Carlson dropped a bunt in front of the plate and when Gordy Kaushagen made a bad throw to first base, Bob Carlson scored and Nicky moved on to second. Baker laid down a bunt for a hit, and Poppler's had runners on first and third. Fielder's choices and errors permitted Nick Carlson, Baker, and Gus Carlson to score; and, with the bases loaded, Wally Tunberg slammed out a double into right field.

Poppler's racked up another six-run cluster in the 7th inning to boost their lead beyond the reach of the Northern Chevrolet.

ALL-STARS TO PLAY EXHIBITION GAME

Crookston Plays Sunday in Highland Park There

The Crookston Pirates, Northern Minnesota league champions and winners of the Second Region Class B title, will play an exhibition game on Sunday afternoon at Crookston's Highland Park against an All-Star team selected from the Northern Minny league. Each team in the league, excepting Crookston, has been permitted to name two of its players to the All-Star team. Ray Ste. Marie, as manager of the runner-up Plummer Red Sox, has been named as the manager of the All-Star team for Sunday's game.

A poll of the local team revealed that Phil LeGault and Stan Cockrell had been chosen to represent the Thieves; but the injuries received by the two players while participating in the softball tournament this past week will prevent the boys from playing on Sunday. In their stead, Merle Carlson and Blackie Stephens will be the Thieves delegation. Manager Ste. Marie has also requested that pitcher Harold Stroble be available for hurling duties against the Pirates.

PROWLERS MEET ROSEAU FRIDAY IN FOOTBALL OPENER

Lincoln High School Eleven Will Open 1948 Season on Local Field

Co-captains Al Williamson and Joe Bradley will lead the golden-helmeted Prowlers on the field Friday night for the opening game of the local school's eight-game schedule. And in meeting the Roseau high school eleven the blue-and-gold squad will be opening the season against a well-rated opponent.

Coaches Wayne Johnson and Bob Nick have been sending the Prowlers through intensive practice drills the past two weeks, but injuries, several of which have been serious, have disrupted the lineup. According to present plans, coaches Johnson and Nick intend to start Harley Wagner and Keith Rosengren at the ends; Harry Simons and Jerry Rasmussen at the tackles; co-captain Joe Bradley and Don Green at the guards; Harold Baker at center; co-captain Al Williamson at quarterback; Don Stadum at left halfback, and Wes Olson at fullback.

The right halfback position, which had been "ear-marked" for Jack Winter, will have to await the outcome of the week's practice sessions before being filled. Winter was injured in last week's scrimmage and an X-ray of his injured left knee revealed a chronic condition, and the doctors have advised the scrappy Prowler halfback to take a long rest. The X-ray pictures have been forwarded to Minneapolis for further study, and it is hoped that the reports will be encouraging.

Roseau will be making their first bow in varsity competition against the Prowlers in football, and it is reported that coaches Ambrose Kramer and Oscar Almquist will field a heavy line on Friday night, and in Joel Mead they will have a backfield man that will be a threat.

Benefit Baseball Game Next Sunday at Hallock

The Hallock Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles is sponsoring a benefit baseball game for the Duluth Dukes on Sunday afternoon, September 12, on the Hallock ball diamond. A game had previously been scheduled but due to a last minute conflict was postponed until Sept. 12. The game is to be played by Kittson County League stars selected from the Soo Line teams versus stars from the Great Northern teams. It will be recalled that practically the entire Duluth squad was wiped out by death and injury following a bus accident.

Cheers for the Poppler's

Sponsor Stan Larson is wearing a larger grin than usual these days, and with good reason, for on Tuesday night his team the Poppler's Furniture, put an official end to the softball season when they defeated the Northern Chevrolet, 13 to 4, to win the city championship and the splendid trophy awarded by Bud Arneson's KTRF station. And there's no quibble about the Poppler's right to the championship, for Glenn Carlson's team proved to have the speed, batting power, fielding ability, and the battery work that champions require. And on Tuesday night they gave evidence of their well-rounded strength when they trounced the Northern Chevrolet without having the benefit of their left-handed batting power, for Phil LeGault, Jim Welton, and Stan Cockrell were out of the Poppler's lineup.

As for an all-star game, or an all-star selection, it appears that the Poppler's with Blackie Stephens at first base, Wally Tunberg at second base; Nicky Carlson at shortstop, Jim LaFave at third base, Phil LeGault, Bob Baker, Jim Welton and Stan Cockrell in the outfield, Merle Carlson as catcher, and with Bob Carlson on the mound, are an all-star team of their own.

There may be several exhibition games played here within the next couple of weeks as teams from Roseau and Crookston have made inquiries and issued challenges to the city champions. And the Poppler's aren't a team to pass up any challenges.

All Regional Ball Team

After having spent three days in attending the Second Region's Class B baseball tournament at Warren on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, we've arrived at what we believe to have been the tourney's better players and the boys would line up in the following order: Pitcher, Ken DuPuis of Crookston; catcher, "Toughy" Carlson of Alvarado; first base, Ed Haugstad of Nielsville; second base, Les Gullickson of Crookston; shortstop, Don Dumais of Warroad; third base, Ken Orvik of Ada; left field, Bill Lakies of Crookston; centerfield, Earl Anderson of Ada; and right field, Jim Fish of Warroad.

DuPuis was easily the most polished pitcher in the tourney, and it was largely through his efforts that Crookston was able to defeat Warroad in their first round game, and the team that was potentially the tourney's strongest and best-balanced.

The tournament's catching was very ordinary, and it was Warroad's lack of a capable receiver that proved disastrous to their cause; but of the mitt-men in action, "Toughy" Carlson of Oslo, playing with Alvarado, was the best.

Left-handed Ed Haugstad of Nielsville, a good fielder and hard hitter, had an edge at first base. Second base honors were won by Crookston's Les Gullickson. Les is one of the most underrated players on the Pirate roster, but he more than filled the requirements of an all-star second baseman. In the three games played, Les had six hits in twelve trips to the plate.

At shortstop it's the 26-year old Don "Chick" Dumais, and everyone who saw him play is in agreement that he was the tournament's best shortfielder. Third base, by an edge, goes to Ada's Ken Orvik, a converted catcher who turned in a fine all-round game.

The outfielder of Lakies, Anderson, and Fish would provide plenty of batting power and adequate defensive ability.

The Pirates were Classy

There were teams in the regional, Warroad for instance, that had better personnel than the Crookston Pirates, but none of them were better coached or played as heads-up ball as the manager Bill Lakies club. Lakies deserves much credit for the Pirates triumph, and if Crookston continues to play that brand of ball in the state tournament at Shakopee where on Wednesday they meet the winner of the Lester Prairie vs. Bloomington game, the Second Region will be ably represented in the class B division.

STATE LEADERS IN CONSERVATION LAUD YOUNGDAHL

Dr. Edward Bratrud of This City Participates in Radio Discussion

Praising Governor Luther Youngdahl's program for protection and development of natural resources, leaders of Minnesota's top conservation and sportsmen's groups urged his re-election in a radio talk heard here this past week.

Those who took part in a round table discussion of the progress in conservation made during the past two years were Dr. A. R. Thompson of Henning, president of the Central Minnesota Conservation Association; Louis Thomas of Minneapolis, president of the United Sportsmens' clubs; Dr. Malcolm Hargraves of Rochester, division president of the Izaak Walton League; and Dr. Edward Bratrud of Thief River Falls, director of the Minnesota Game Protective League. Edward C. Dutro of Minneapolis, division president of the Izaak Walton League, was moderator.

They endorsed Youngdahl's strong stand against any diversion of game and fish funds to the general treasury.

"The protection of these game and fish funds from diversion or ulterior usage is of paramount importance to the continued success of our new state conservation program," said Dr. Bratrud. He cited endorsement of the Governor's program by the Pennington County Sportsmen's club and the Northwest Association of Conservation Clubs.

AIRPORT NEWS

Chuck Joyce of Wadena, flying a Cessna 120, was at the airport Wednesday. He had with him as a passenger Bill Holm, who was formerly a member of the staff of radio station KTRF.

Gene Allen flew his Taylorcraft to Bemidji Wednesday.

LeRoy Gosch from Chicago, Illinois, visited briefly at the airport on Thursday. He was flying a new Taylorcraft on a trip to Canada.

Ernie Barzen and Amos Cann flew the BT to Fargo Friday.

Oswald Stautz from Park River, N. Dak., stopped here Friday on his solo cross-country flight in an Aeronca Champion.

Some of the boys enjoyed a little rock-picking bee on Thursday evening and made at least one part of the runways a little safer for landing. Ed Utech from Bagley, who is working with the Hallett Construction Company on the paving work in the city, furnished the truck, and was assisted by Lloyd Vevea and son Jerry, Frannie Ness and Connie Chandler.

Ernie Barzen flew his BT to Grand Forks on Saturday to meet his brother John, who had just returned from a western trip.

The Nelson Brothers from Hawley, Minn., arrived Monday in their PT26 to visit with relatives near Carmel.

Kelly Peterson from Warren, flying his Luscombe, was a Monday visitor at the airport.

Thanks to the Northern Chevrolet Company for the use of its wrecker, and the assistance given by their shop foreman, Sam Nelson, and mechanic Arnold Kelly, the Link trainer was moved into the CAP headquarters last week. Bob Michalsky, Gust Frahm and Willis Johnson were on hand to help with the uncrating and moving.

MOTHER NATURE FRIVOLS AGAIN

It was a good blow while it lasted but not as disastrous as it might have been. More than a dozen trees, some four feet in diameter, were uprooted all around the Joe Phillips farm house near Wells, and the 100-foot wincharger was wrecked, but neither the house nor the 60-year old Christmas cactus in the yard was harmed. Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bell of Faribault cared for a robin that was blown from a nest at their summer cottage, and now have a persistent pet on their hands.

Value of Iron in Diet

Iron helps bodies to build the "red" of the blood. The red part of the blood, which is called hemoglobin, has the job of carrying oxygen from the air in the lungs to all parts of the body. Good sources of iron are liver, lean meat, spinach, apricots, dried beans and egg yolk.

N. W. SCHOOL TO DEDICATE NEW HOG

New Improved Type to be Introduced Sept. 18

A new breed of hogs will officially join the long list of established hog lines at a special dedication program at the University of Minnesota's branch experiment station at Crookston, Saturday, September 18.

The new line is the University's now well-known Minnesota No. 2. The new line is a cross of two inbred lines of Poland China with the Yorkshire and it has already proven itself a fast gainer and economical feeder.

The No. 2 will now take its place beside the already famous Minnesota No. 1 hog. Both of the new hogs were developed under the direction of L. M. Winters, University professor of animal husbandry.

Full details about the performance of the new line will be given as part of the dedication ceremony.

Two public auction sales of both No. 1 and No. 2 stock will be held in connection with the dedication. About 150 head of the No. 1 stock will be sold at the University's branch agricultural experiment station at Grand Rapids on Friday, September 17, and about 100 head of the No. 2 stock at Crookston on September 18.

Ironing Delicate Fabrics

When ironing net, lace, veilings and loosely woven fabrics of thick and thin threads the iron never should be moved to and fro. To avoid tearing these delicate fabrics it is best to press directly down on them and lift iron with each stroke. A pressing cloth also should be used.

A touch and you GO—that's DYNAFLOW!
Yes, it boils down to just about that. You start your engine, set a lever — and from then on your treadle foot takes over.
You press the accelerator — and move softly and smoothly away.
You speed up, slow down, halt completely — and your right foot alone, operating gas treadle and brake, does it all.
How come? Simply because Dynaflow Drive is the one passenger car drive in America that gets completely away from gears which function in fixed stages.
Changes in the way oil flows, instead of changes in gears, adjust your engine power to your driving requirements.
Whether you are starting out, climbing a hill, surging past others or cruising easily, there's nothing for you to do except feed gas.
For very fast starts, extreme pulls, reserve braking power, you flick the selector lever—and your engine seems suddenly to double in size.
For parking, there is a very special setting, exclusive to Dynaflow Drive, that rigidly locks rear wheels.
Even rough and chattery roads are made smoother by power that flows along through a cushion of oil — your whole car is "sweeter" in its feel, far silkier in its actions.
Quite rightfully is Dynaflow Drive called the most important development since the self-starter.
It's a basically different way of transmitting power — and one you should know about firsthand.
See what your Buick dealer can do about arranging that for you. The nearest sample of Dynaflow magic will make you want to place an order pronto, whether or not you have a car to trade!
Here's your Buick Dealer's Four-Square Selling Policy
1. NO PRICE PADDING. You receive an itemized bill of sale. We display all prices in our showroom.
2. NO "LOADING" OF ACCESSORIES. All cars are delivered with accessories as ordered; no "extras" except those you specify.
3. NO COMPULSORY TRADE-INS. We will accept your order and deliver your car with or without a car in trade.
4. NO COLLUSION WITH "GRAY MARKETEERS." We will not knowingly sell Buick cars to anyone who operates in the "gray market."

PAID ADVERTISEMENT—Prepared for Luther W. Youngdahl, Minneapolis, by Youngdahl for Governor Volunteer Committee, Donald M. Dickey, Wayzata, Chairman, for which regular rates have been paid.

Champion of the Youth . . .

LUTHER W. YOUNGDAHL
Governor of Minnesota, Candidate for Republican Nomination and Re-Election

All who have heard Governor Youngdahl speak know him above all as the champion of the youth. All over Minnesota, his pleas for better opportunities for boys and girls have stirred audiences. "The people went away from his meeting," one editor reported, "feeling they had had a revelation." He was almost mobbed at another meeting by the eager young people who crowded around him at the close of his meeting . . . "a tribute to a man who had captured their imagination and inspired them with dreams of a better land in which to live and work."

"Our youth are our most precious asset," he says.

Plan Conserves Youth

He obtained passage of an act providing for a Youth Conservation Commission, which now is directing the treatment of youthful offenders along lines that will best promote their rehabilitation and which is stimulating the organization of constructive activities to prevent boys and girls getting into trouble.

People Supported Him

All Minnesota recalls the successful fight he made to rid the state of slot machines. Operation of slot machines and other forms of gambling are a menace to the welfare of youth," he insisted. "Our great hope for the future," he said, "is to have boys and girls who are strong and reliant and have respect for law and government and the ideals upon which these institutions must rest. What can we expect of them if officials wink at the law?" He asked for passage of a law which would enable the law enforcement officers to rid the state of this illegal traffic. Men who profited from slot machines tried to block the legislation, but parents rose in such mass support of Governor Youngdahl that he swept all obstacles aside. "God bless you for trying to make Minnesota a cleaner and better place in which to bring up our children," parents wrote. One poll showed that 72% of the people, 81% in farm communities, approved of his program.

More Aid for Schools

He led in the fight for improvement of state school aid distribution and more ample school support, which, among other gains, increased state aid to local schools $11,000,000 a year. He recognized the plight of persons depending on old age assistance and aid to dependent children and obtained increases in their allowances. He championed a bill provided state aid for county public health nurses. He has undertaken far-reaching plans to improve care of the mentally ill. In many lines, he has improved the state's services.

All who want to continue the high character of state government Minnesota has enjoyed under Governor Youngdahl must go to the polls September 14th and vote for his renomination. Men who want to profit from slot machines, gambling and lax enforcement of the laws will do everything in their power to prevent his re-election. The people who want a decent environment in which to live and rear their children must furnish the votes to re-elect Governor Youngdahl and continue his fine work.

EDUCATORS SUPPORT GOVERNOR YOUNGDAHL

Indicative of the widespread support Governor Youngdahl is receiving, seven of Minnesota's leading educators in a recent broadcast praised the Governor's efforts in behalf of youth and asked for his re-election. Included were:

Dr. Charles Nelson Pace, president emeritus, Hamline University.

Dr. Edgar Carlson, president of Gustavus Adolphus College.

Dr. Merrill E. Jarchow, dean of men, Carleton College.

Dr. Clemens M. Granskou, president, St. Olaf College.

Prof. G. W. C. Ross, chairman, department of political science, St. Thomas College.

Dr. Charles J. Turck, president, Macalester College

Dr. J. O. Christianson, superintendent, School of Agriculture, University of Minnesota.

Typical of the position taken by the educators was the statement made by President Granskou of St. Olaf College:

"Once in a while we come across a man in public life whose public utterances and performance in office are of such high order that he truly can be classified as a candidate of the people rather than a representative of a particular party. Governor Youngdahl is a man of this caliber. . . . His pronouncements on political and moral questions are the convictions of a man of character. . . . He has demonstrated that he is not afraid to take risks for what he believes to be the right course of action and whose words and deeds thus command our respect, our loyalty and our continued support."

President Carlson of Gustavus Adolphus College said:

"We must be grateful for the inspiring leadership of our Governor and his comprehensive and forward-looking program of human welfare for the state of Minnesota. That gratitude we will express by retaining him in office with a record-breaking endorsement of his leadership and his program."

Candidate for

REPRESENTATIVE

Marshall County

An Independent in Politics

Due to extensive harvesting work, I will be unable to make a thorough canvass of all the voters in the county at this time, but I want to assure you that I will be very appreciative of your vote and support at the Primary Election on Sept. 14.

In order that you may know more about me, I will enumerate these few facts to help become acquainted—

I was born at Bancroft, Iowa, 62 years ago. I came to Marshall County 38 years ago and have lived in Moylan and Grand Plain townships ever since. I have served as Clerk of School District 91 for 35 years and have held all of the township offices except that of assessor. I served as director of the Goodridge Creamery for 20 years, and was secretary of the farmers telephone company for about 20 years and I also served two years as an AAA County Committeeman. I own and farm 1800 acres of land in Grand Plain and Moylan townships. Am married and have three daughters and one son.

ONCE IS ENOUGH!

Yes, one application of Dr. Salsbury's Vapo-Roost is enough to get rid of all the lice and feather mites in your laying house. Just spread a thin line of Vapo-Roost on roost poles. Fumes do the rest. Treatment remains effective for days — long enough to kill young lice which hatch later.

WALLACE WING OF STATE DFL PARTY SUFFERS SETBACK

Supreme Court Orders Rejection of Left-wing Presidential Electors

A year-long effort to capture the Minnesota Democratic Farmer-Labor party for Henry A. Wallace was halted abruptly Thursday by the state supreme court.

In a 4-0 decison written by Chief Justice Charles Loring, Mike Holm, secretary of state, was ordered to reject Wallace-wing presidential electors filed under the DFL party tag, and to accept the right-wing's electors supporting President Harry S. Truman.

Associate Justices Harry Peterson, Thomas Gallagher and Frank Gallagher, elected on a nonpartisan basis but with Democratic and Farmer-Labor party political backgrounds, did not participate in the decision, which was reached on briefs and without oral arguments.

Francis M. Smith, St. Paul attorney and a leading Wallace supporter, branded the decision a "brass knuckles rule." It now is necessary for Wallace supporters to get the former New Dealer's name on the Nov. 2 ballot by petition.

A reverse ruling by the court would have made President Truman the "third party candidate" and forced circulation of petitions to place his name on the ballot.

Candidates supporting Wallace appear on the September primary election ballot in the DFL column without reference to their presidential pledge.

The fight to take over the DFL party machinery began last February, in the DFL precinct caucuses. It raged through county and district conventions to the state convention called at Brainerd.

The Progressives, headed by Smith and Orville Olson, state campaign boss for the Wallace-Taylor ticket, went through the formalities of "rumping" from the Brainerd session. They had called a separate convention of Wallaceites in Minneapolis on the same days as the Brainerd meeting, June 12 and 13.

Smith then beat the regulars to the secretary of state's office by submitting a list of Wallace-pledged presidential electors June 14 under the DFL party label.

They were accepted as the secretary of state has no authority but to accept one list of electors under a party label.

Regular DFL's, thus blocked in filing presidential electors pledged to Mr. Truman, then petitioned the supreme court for the order ousting the Wallaceites' electors.

MARSHALL X-RAY SCHEDULE LISTED

Breakdown of Machine Delays Finish of Tests

Due to mechanical difficulties in the x-ray machine, the schedule for the Minnesota department of health's X-ray unit has been changed in the eastern part of Marshall County.

Appointment cards had already been sent to some areas, which necessitated the sending of a second letter to explain the change of schedule.

Response to date has been very good throughout the entire county, and it is hoped that those who have not taken advantage of this opportunity to have a free chest x-ray will do so on this return visit.

The new schedule which the unit will carry out is as follows: September 13, Strandquist 1 to 4:30 p. m. and 6 to 8:30 p. m.

September 17, Newfolden, 1 to 4:30 p. m. and 6 to 8:30 p. m.

September 18, Middle River, 1 to 4 p. m. and Holt, 6 to 8:30 p. m.

RUNS BUSY STORE AT 84

Marshall. — It froze every month of the year that Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Caron moved to this vicinity from Illinois in 1885. That's one of endless incidents this sprightly 84-year-old lady recalls as she waits on customers in the busy grocery store they started 25 years ago. Mr. Caron died in 1947, and Mrs. Caron vigorously carries on.

Problems of municipal government will be aired at the "grass roots" level during the annual series of regional meetings sponsored by the League of Minnesota Municipalities, according to C. C. Ludwig, executive secretary.

The series begins next week with meetings in Morris, Marshall, and Mountain Lake. The meeting for this section of the state will be in Red Lake Falls on Wednesday, Sept. 22, in the Green Lantern Cafe with Mayor H. B. Lane welcoming the visiting officials. Dinner will be served preceeding the meeting at 6 p. m.

The president of the league, Utilities Commissioner E. A. Boin, Duluth, and other members of the league executive committee with staff representatives will attend many of the meetings. County officials and legislators have been invited. State officials to be represented at the meetings will include M. J. Hoffmann, commissioner of highways; Dr. A. J. Chesley, secretary and executive officer, state department of health; Richard Golling, public examiner; L. L. Schroeder, commissioner of aeronautics; Dudley Ericson, liquor control commissioner, and Stuart Rothman, director, division of housing and redevelopment.

The proposed League legislative program, revised draft of the state constitution, and federal aid for construction of sewage plants are new subjects that will be brought to the floor. Origins of Plants

Whereas most common fruits and vegetables — apples, peaches, pears, asparagus, cabbage and its many relatives, beets, carrots and the onion group—have arisen in the old world, the Americas have provided the avocado, guava, mango, papaya and pineapples, among the favorites of northern and southern climes.

Don't forget to take your house plants indoors before danger of frost.

By Arthur Naftalin

Next Tuesday's primary elections ill not be lacking in exciting contests, but they are not likely to indicate, in a definitive way, how Minnesota will go in November. The big fights are yet to come in the November 2 general election.

Observers will be watching with keen interest the outcome of the contest between Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl and State Auditor Stafford King in the GOP primary fight in the second congressional district where former Governor Harold Stassen has personally intervened against the Republican incumbent.

The other point of main interest will be the numerous contests in the DFL primary between the regular endorsed candidates and the Third Party slate.

The Youngdahl-King contest has excited widespread interest, and observers have been having a difficult time gauging the trend. King has been waging a vigorous campaign, and reports from the southern part of the state which is normally a Republican stronghold indicate he has been gaining ground.

The interest in this contest has managers of the DFL campaigns worried. They fear that many DFL voters may cross over into the GOP column to help one or the other of the GOP candidates thus reducing the size of the DFL vote.

The proposed debate between Senator Joseph H. Ball and Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey is attracting considerable interest. Orville Freeman, state DFL chairman, has suggested that the two party organizations join in sponsoring a large public meeting at which the two candidates would debate some time after the primary.

Freeman's proposal called for setting up a bi-partisan committee that would arrange all the details, including the selection of debate topics. Ball's managers replied that Ball was willing to debate, but only on the Taft-Hartley Act or the return of price control.

The Humphrey camp declared its willingness to debate these issues, but holds that the topics should not be arbitrarily set by one side or the other but should be determined by a bi-partisan committee that would survey all the possibilities and arrive at a decision acceptable to both sides.

Harold Stassen's announcement that he is supporting Val Imm of Mankato against Republican incumbent Joseph P. O'Hara in the second congressional district has fired that contest with some excitement. It is apparent that Stassen has chosen a course risky to his continued prestige in Minnesota politics.

This is Stassen's home district. Victory for O'Hara would be interpreted as a setback for Stassen's influence in state politics. O'Hara struck back at Stassen's endorsement of his opponent by charging that Stassen is seeking to dictate the selection of party nominees.

The supreme court's decision ordering the acceptance of the regular DFL electors for the Presidential contest came as no surprise. It was apparent to observers that the claim of the Third Party group for recognition as the official DFL party organization was based on the most flimsy grounds.

The court decision now clarifies the presidential picture. It will be necessary for the Third Party group to circulate petitions in order to have Wallace electors on the ballot. In retrospect, it would appear that the Third party group, from the point of view of its own self-interest, has followed an ill advised course in attempting to take over the DFL.

The Third Party must now, with only a few weeks remaining before the general election, begin the huge task of building a complete new party.

That Hubert H. Humphrey continues to be the No. 1 target of the Communist-line forces in the state is apparent from the latest issue of the The Minnesota Leader, which is the organ of the Third Party group.

Almost the entire issue is devoted to an attack upon Humphrey. The Leader claims that Humphrey is in some kind of conspiracy with Senator Ball and Harold Stassen to ensure the re-election of Ball.

The Leader's hatred of Humphrey is so strong the editors in this latest edition make almost no attack upon Ball or the other Republican candidates. The regular DFL organization contends that this is further evidence to substantiate its claim that the Third Party movement is, in effect a subsidiary of the Republican party.

Use of Oil Stains

Oil stains composed of a color pigment, linseed oil, turpentine or benzine are considered the easiest to apply and are highly satisfactory for furniture finishing. They are transparent, clear and bright. The wood should first be sanded with the grain, not across. The brush is dipped about an inch deep into the stain, then wiped on the edge of the container. The stain is spread evenly. Wiping, soon after application of the stain, makes a lighter color and shows more of the grain.

In Case of Freezer Trouble

If the electric power goes off with the freezer full of food there is no need for panic. If the power cut-off is discovered at once and the trouble can be remedied in a few hours there's no need for worry at all. Nothing will thaw out But if the power is likely to remain off as long as 12 hours a 50 pound cake of dry ice (or more) should be sent for at once. It can be obtained from ice cream manufacturers, cold-storage warehouses, or creameries. The food should then be transferred from the freezing compartment to a storage compartment. Chunks of the dry ice should be put on cardboard on top of the packages.

L. YOUNGDAHL, HALSTAD BALL HUMPHREY WIN

Favored Candidates Nominated by Their Parties in Primary

A bitter critic and an outspoken defender of the Taft-Hartley act will compete Nov. 2 for one of Minnesota's senate seats.

The same precincts in the contest for the DFL nomination gave Humphrey 191,056 and James M. Shields of Minneapolis 21,551. Shields is a former national labor relations board regional director. He is a leader of the DFL "progressive" faction supporting Henry Wallace. Humphrey heads the pro-Truman "regular" wing of the party.

Governor Luther Youngdahl, Republican, was renominated over State Auditor Stafford King, and Charles L. Halsted, a "regular", was nominated for governor by the Democratic-Farmer-Laborites. Returns from 3,305 precincts gave Youngdahl 202,064 and King 140,084.

Returns from 3,221 precincts gave Halsted, 75,852; Ray Moonan of Minneapolis, 45691; and Walter Johnson of New York Mills, 34,109. Johnson had the indorsement of the 'progressive' group.

Gift of the Gods

The soybean was a gift of the gods to the hungry people of China, for Hou Tsi, one of the gods of agriculture, wishing to give his people a superior food, planted soybeans on the earth and taught the people how to use them, says Illinois State museum. In a land afflicted with famines, the soybean saved many a community and many a nation. It vitally influenced history, especially in a country where the food of most people was composed largely of vitamin-deficient rice. With soybeans in the diet, the people had a protein equivalent to meat, milk and eggs. These latter in the Orient always were luxury foods; only the well-to-do could afford them regularly, but anyone, however poor, could have soybeans. Today soybeans furnish protein to more than half the people of the world.

Population of Chinatown

San Francisco's Chinatown is the second largest Chinese community in the world outside of China itself. Singapore rates first. But Old Frisco's Oriental settlement, founded by ambitious Chinese laborers during California's gold rush, provide homes for over 20,000 Chinese folk in as many city blocks. Most of them are American born, so they are American citizens. Chinatown's main street is Grant avenue, formerly known as DuPont Gai (DuPont street to us).

Back Seat Drivers

At last, some one has a kind word for back seat drivers. The National Highway Users conference's safety department contends that this much maligned individual can help cut the nation's death and accident toll. In cases where the driver makes a mistake, remonstrance by the passenger might have checked the carelessness or undue speed. Still, on the other hand, too much advice or criticism can make the driver nervous or irritable and affect his judgment. The back seat driver must use his head too.

A national park since 1902, this area is being visited by tens of thousands of visitors during 1948, Oregon's territorial centennial year.

Farm Animals Require Extra Care in Winter

With farm animals getting in out of the cold, owners should double-check to see that winter quarters offer proper protection for livestock health.

American Foundation for Animal Health points out that winter housing presents a new set of hazards from disease, parasites and injuries, and suggests these five measures against winter losses:

1. Check animals and buildings for parasites—lice, ticks and mange.
2. Clean and disinfect barns and pens; then follow up with sanitary precautions all winter.
3. Check ventilation to avoid drafts that could cause swine influenza and cattle pneumonia.
4. Watch for nutritional deficiencies. Check with a veterinarian promptly if special winter deficiency symptoms appear.
5. Clean up loose nails and other sharp objects that may cause injuries.

Terracing Farmlands

After lands have been well terraced, the next most important step is the proper plowing of the terraces and the breaking of the land.

Flax Retting Art

Formerly an art in which the Belgians have been pre-eminent, the water retting of flax has been reduced to a science by the Australian council of scientific and industrial research. As a result of the experiments it has been possible to recommend to flax mills a basically sound retting procedure adapted to the type of straw grown in Australia, and which economizes time, labor, water and fuel. Up-to-date water retting is carried out in concrete tanks filled with warm water. The flax is steeped until bacterial action has separated the fibres from the woody portions by dissolving the pectic materials which bind them together.

Woolly Mammoth

The woolly mammoth is a close relative to the modern elephant. Perfectly preserved skeletons have been found in Siberia where they have lain frozen in the ice for thousands of years.

Early September is a good time to seed or reseed that lawn, says L. C. Snyder, extension horticulturist at University Farm.

Larger School Districts

Eleven school-survey committees have recommended the county as the approximate size for school administrative districts, University of Illinois reports. Reasons given by most of the committees for adopting the county type unit are: It equalizes the tax burden within the county; services can be offered at less per capita cost; it eliminates duplication of services within the county, and it is more adaptable to later changes. A special point frequently expressed in favor of the large district is that more efficient transportation can be provided at less per capita cost. Careful planning of attendance areas and transportation permits a system in which time spent on the school bus will not exceed 30 minutes for elementary pupils or 45 minutes for high school students.

Care of Shrubs

Shrubs require much less water and much less work than annual flowers. Proper care, such as pruning, spraying, dusting, and fertilizing, is important, of course, but shrubs have fewer destructive insects and diseases to combat than do tender plants. In selecting shrubbery, it is better to concentrate on six or seven favorite varieties. The bridal wreath, forsythia or golden bells, philadelphus or mock orange, and red bud are some of the plants which produce early spring blossoms and make excellent additions to the landscape.

Little Delaware

Delaware has fewer citizens than Rhode Island, and more people but far less territory than Nevada. The state is only 110 miles long. Its width varies from nine to 35 miles.

JEST JESTIN'

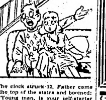
Difference of Opinion

ONE day a brokerage firm learned that in his lectures at Georgetown University Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan sometimes discussed pending cases. Immediately they had a smart idea. Why not have their lawyer enter the class at the university, and thereby garner some advance hints on court decisions which might affect the stock market? The deed was done.

One night the justice disclosed the principles involved in an important pending case, and set forth his conclusions. The broker's lawyer rushed away to his firm and counseled them to play the market to fit the anticipated ruling.

Came the decision, but the firm lost heavily in the market, because the decision had been contrary to the lawyer's expectation. When the lawyer anxiously sought the printed decision, he was struck by a single line printed at the bottom, which read: "Mr. Justice Harlan dissents."

WHIPPERSNAPPER



The clock struck 12. Father came to the top of the stairs and boomed: "Young man, is your self-starter broken?"

And he received this retort: "It doesn't matter as long as there is a crank in the house."

SHORT RETORT

One of the shortest letters on record was written by a New York renter in response to his landlord's notice to vacate the house at once. Aware of his rights under state regulations, the renter replied:

"Sir:
"I remain.
Yours truly,"

A Chestnut

"Darling," he cried, "I swear by this great tree, whose spreading branches shade us from the heat—by this noble tree I swear I have never liked another girl."

The girl smiled faintly. "You always say such appropriate things, Fred," she murmured. "This is a chestnut tree."

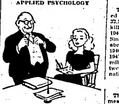
APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY



The new secretary was on the carpet. "Miss Brown," said the boss, "You're very attractive."

"Really?" blushed the typist.

"Yes, you dress well, your voice is modulated, your deportment is beyond criticism."

"You really shouldn't pay me so many compliments," she said.

"Oh, that's all right. I just wanted to put you in a cheerful mood before taking up the matter of punctuation and spelling."

Plenty of Room

Two ladies who had not seen each other for a long time met one day on the street.

"Oh, Mary," Blanche excitedly exclaimed. "I've had a lot happen to me since I saw you last. I had my teeth out and an electric stove and refrigerator put in."

Parting Seconds

A plump husband, who had been working in the garden, entered the house and said to his wife, "How come you bought those new work pants for me so cheap the other day?"

"I found them in a bargain basement," she answered "They were seconds."

1947 Traffic Toll

Traffic death toll in 1947 estimated by the national safety council at 32,500, which is 1,200 less than were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1946 and 7,469 less than in 1941. Since mileage in 1947 is estimated about 10 per cent more than in 1946 and 12 per cent above 1941, the 1947 fatality rate—deaths per 100 million vehicle miles—was between 8.5 and 9, the lowest in the nation's history, the council said.

Little Tail History

L. YOUNGDAHL. HALSTAD BALL HUMPHREY WIN

The same precincts in the contest for the DFL nomination gave Humphrey 191,056 and James M. Shields of Minneapolis 21,551. Shields is a former national labor relations board regional director. He is a leader of the DFL "progressive" faction supporting Henry Wallace. Humphrey heads the pro-Truman "regular" wing of the party.

Governor Luther Youngdahl, Republican, was renominated over State Auditor Stafford King, and Charles L. Halsted, a "regular", was nominated for governor by the Democratic-Farmer-Laborites. Returns from 3,305 precincts gave Youngdahl 202,064 and King 140,064.

Gift of the Gods

The soybean was a gift of the gods to the hungry people of China, for Hou Tsi, one of the gods of agriculture, wishing to give his people a superior food, planted soybeans on the earth and taught the people how to use them, says Illinois State museum. In a land afflicted with famines, the soybean saved many a community and many a nation. It vitally influenced history, especially in a country where the food of most people was composed largely of vitamin-deficient rice. With soybeans in the diet, the people had a protein equivalent to meat, milk and eggs. These latter in the Orient always were luxury foods; only the well-to-do could afford them regularly, but anyone, however poor, could have soybeans. Today soybeans furnish protein to more than half the people of the world.

Population of Chinatown

San Francisco's Chinatown is the second largest Chinese community in the world outside of China itself. Singapore rates first. But Old Frisco's Oriental settlement, founded by ambitious Chinese laborers during California's gold rush, provide homes for over 20,000 Chinese folk in as many city blocks. Most of them are American born; so they are American citizens. Chinatown's main street is Grant avenue, formerly known as DuPont Gai (DuPont street to us).

Back Seat Drivers

At last, some one has a kind word for back seat drivers. The National Highway Users conference's safety department contends that this much maligned individual can help cut the nation's death and accident toll. In cases where the driver makes a mistake, remonstrance by the passenger might have checked the carelessness or undue speed. Still, on the other hand, too much advice or criticism can make the driver nervous or irritable and affect his judgment. The back seat driver must use his head too.

Farm Animals Require Extra Care in Winter

With farm animals getting in out of the cold, owners should double-check to see that winter quarters offer proper protection for livestock health.

American Foundation for Animal Health points out that winter housing presents a new set of hazards from disease, parasites and injuries, and suggests these five measures against winter losses:

1. Check animals and buildings for parasites—lice, ticks and mange.
2. Clean and disinfect barns and pens; then follow up with sanitary precautions all winter.
3. Check ventilation to avoid drafts that could cause swine influenza and cattle pneumonia.
4. Watch for nutritional deficiencies. Check with a veterinarian promptly if special winter deficiency symptoms appear.
5. Clean up loose nails and other sharp objects that may cause injuries.

Terracing Farmlands

After lands have been well terraced, the next most important step is the proper plowing of the terraces and the breaking of the land.

Flax Retting Art

Formerly an art in which the Belgians have been pre-eminent, the water retting of flax has been reduced to a science by the Australian council of scientific and industrial research. As a result of the experiments it has been possible to recommend to flax mills a basically sound retting procedure adapted to the type of straw grown in Australia, and which economizes time, labor, water and fuel. Up-to-date water retting is carried out in concrete tanks filled with warm water. The flax is steeped until bacterial action has separated the fibres from the woody portions by dissolving the pectic materials which bind them together.

Woolly Mammoth

The woolly mammoth is a close relative to the modern elephant. Perfectly preserved skeletons have been found in Siberia where they have lain frozen in the ice for thousands of years.

Early September is a good time to seed or reseed that lawn, says L. C. Snyder, extension horticulturist at University Farm.

Larger School Districts

Eleven school-survey committees have recommended the county as the approximate size for school administrative districts, University of Illinois reports. Reasons given by most of the committees for adopting the county type unit are: It equalizes the tax burden within the county; services can be offered at less per capita cost; it eliminates duplication of services within the county, and it is more adaptable to later changes. A special point frequently expressed in favor of the large district is that more efficient transportation can be provided at less per capita cost. Careful planning of attendance areas and transportation permits a system in which time spent on the school bus will not exceed 30 minutes for elementary pupils or 45 minutes for high school students.

Care of Shrubs

Shrubs require much less water and much less work than annual flowers. Proper care, such as pruning, spraying, dusting, and fertilizing, is important, of course, but shrubs have fewer destructive insects and diseases to combat than do tender plants. In selecting shrubbery, it is better to concentrate on six or seven favorite varieties. The bridal wreath, forsythia or golden bells, philadelphus or mock orange, and red bud are some of the plants which produce early spring blossoms and make excellent additions to the landscape.

Little Delaware

Delaware has fewer citizens than Rhode Island, and more people but far less territory than Nevada. The state is only 110 miles long. Its width varies from nine to 35 miles.

JEST JESTIN'

Difference of Opinion

ONE day a brokerage firm learned that in his lectures at Georgetown University Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan sometimes discussed pending cases. Immediately they had a smart idea. Why not have their lawyer enter the class at the university, and thereby garner some advance hints on court decisions which might affect the stock market? The deed was done.

One night the justice disclosed the principles involved in an important pending case, and set forth his conclusions. The broker's lawyer rushed away to his firm and counseled them to play the market to fit the anticipated ruling.

Came the decision, but the firm lost heavily in the market, because the decision had been contrary to the lawyer's expectation. When the lawyer anxiously sought the printed decision, he was struck by a single line printed at the bottom, which read: "Mr. Justice Harlan dissents."

WHIPPERSNAPPER

The clock struck 12. Father came to the top of the stairs and boomed:

"Young man, is your self-starter broken?"

And he received this retort:

"It doesn't matter as long as there is a crank in the house."

SHORT RETORT

One of the shortest letters on record was written by a New York renter in response to his landlord's notice to vacate the house at once. Aware of his rights under state regulations, the renter replied:

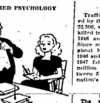
"Sir:
"I remain.
Yours truly."

A Chestnut

"Darling," he cried, "I swear by this great tree, whose spreading branches shade us from the heat—by this noble tree I swear I have never liked another girl."

The girl smiled faintly. "You always say such appropriate things, Fred," she murmured. "This is a chestnut tree."

APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY



The new secretary was on the carpet. "Miss Brown," said the boss, "You're very attractive."

"Really?" blushed the typist.

"Yes, you dress well, your voice is modulated, your deportment is beyond criticism."

"You really shouldn't pay me so many compliments," she said.

Plenty of Room

Two ladies who had not seen each other for a long time met one day on the street.

"Oh, Mary," Blanche excitedly exclaimed. "I've had a lot happen to me since I saw you last. I had my teeth out and an electric stove and refrigerator put in."

Parting Seconds

A plump husband, who had been working in the garden, entered the house and said to his wife, "How come you bought those new work pants for me so cheap the other day?"

"I found them in a bargain basement," she answered "They were seconds."

1947 Traffic Toll

Traffic death toll in 1947 estimated by the national safety council at 32,500, which is 1,200 less than were killed in motor vehicle accidents in 1946 and 7,469 less than in 1941. Since mileage in 1947 is estimated about 10 per cent more than in 1946 and 12 per cent above 1941, the 1947 fatality rate—deaths per 100 million vehicle miles—was between 8.5 and 9, the lowest in the nation's history, the council said.

Little Tall History

The word "pencil" originally meant a small, fine-pointed brush used in painting. The finer camel's hair and sable brushes used by artists still are called "pencils," and the word is derived from a Latin term meaning "little tail."

New egg grading regulations will go into effect soon and, as always, new regulations will cause confusion and a state of temporary unhappiness among all who must adjust themselves to a new set of rules. Unfortunately it is true that changes of this kind cause some actual hardship, but the changes are made in the interests of the greatest number and in this instance the greater number happens to include both the consumer and the producer. It is in the best interests of the future of the poultry industry in Minnesota that we maintain the highest possible quality of Minnesota poultry products. The Minnesota label on a carton of produce should in itself be a guarantee of top quality. That cannot be accomplished except through a statewide program of strict quality regulation. In matters of this kind however it is well to seek perfection gradually. Better that we make slow but steady progress in these matters that involve the thinking and the practice of so many people.

Every cloud has a silver lining and maybe there is a silved lining for agriculture in the cloud of lower prices that now hangs over us. With the exception of meat, farm products prices are down, some of them substantially reduced from the peaks of the past year. For those who are on the selling end of any transaction, lower prices are always a cause for gloom. But, comparing our present condition as an agricultural community with the condition that existed when prices broke in 1920, we are much better prepared for any economic storm that may come our way. We have had no land speculation and are not burdened with a topheavy load of debts. The price breaks are coming gradually and, most important they are not coming unexpectedly. Our prospect for surviving readjustment is much brighter than following the last war and that in itself is a silver lining that should give us considerable encouragement.

Now that the preliminaries are out of the way the 1948 election can get under way in dead earnest. It is comforting to know that the campaign will be over in less than seven weeks and that during that period we will have a world series and a lot of good football to keep us from getting too far off the beam.

Most Minnesota citizens favor the payment of a state bonus to veterans, according to a Minnesota Poll survey of sentiment, and that is not surprising. The fact that the state has paid a bonus to veterans of the first World War and the Spanish American war makes it difficult to oppose a similar grant to our latest crop of vets. What is surprising is the sentiment revealed by the poll in favor of a state sales tax if such a tax should become necessary to pay the cost of the bonus. Two out of every three favored the bonus even if it means a sales tax. And if a bonus is authorized it is quite likely that we will have to resort to a sales tax to raise the large sum of money that will be needed. Estimates of the cost run from 100 to 200 million dollars. To finance this cost by borrowing and pay over a period of many years would mean an additional large cost of interest. The right way and the cheap way to pay the bonus is to pay it fast and without interest, and the only source of revenue that could be expected to produce in the required amounts would be a sales tax.

Despite the derogatory remarks made about this country by the Russia-lovers, we at least are allowed to participate in free elections in this country.

If you didn't vote Tuesday, don't be too critical of the candidates in the November election.

And now the modest leaves are due to start blushing.

It is futile, if nothing else, to toss eggs and tomatoes at Henry A. Wallace. That won't change his politics.

The candidates all talk about what they will give the voters, but in these days of high taxes, the main business of government seems to be taking away.

Beefsteaks sold these days must have been cut off the cow that jumped over the moon.

Speaking of names, a writer in the Minneapolis Star telling about methods of ridding the land of weeds, bears the name of Wendell Weed.

The greatest optimist is the man who ran against Mike Holm for the Republican nomination for secretary of state.

A woman has been defined as a person who reaches for a chair when she answers the telephone.

Cynical quoted comment—It ought to be easy to make an honest living these days—there is so little competition.

Land O'Lakes Creameries Will Supply Speakers for Veterans' Classes

For the second year Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., will make available special speakers and demonstrations on quality milk production and on farmer cooperatives to veterans' agricultural classes throughout the Upper Midwest, it was announced this week.

This service is a part of the Land O'Lakes program to maintain and improve quality standards of milk and help keep the dairy industry in its place as the topnotch producer of income in this region.

The speakers, provided without charge to the veterans' classes, will duscuss production and marketing of dairy products in an effort to increase the trainee's over-all understanding of the industry. The economic and social importance of farmers' cooperatives to the well-being of agriculture and the nation's prosperity will also be discussed.

John Dysart, public relations director of Land O'Lakes, is in charge of the program. The service is available to all veterans agricultural classes.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor The Times:

We read with interest the last three paragraphs of the article entitled, "Commission on Court House to be Appointed", in the issue of September 9th.

There seems to be a small group of citizens that are secretly working and advocating the converting of the City Auditorium into a court house and City Hall. This plan is not practicable and would not serve the purpose of a court house. The change would be very expensive and when finished it would not be an asset or a credit to the county or the city.

Pennington County is in need of a new and up to date court house, with adequate offices, court room and facilities needed for court purposes, also a room provided for historical purposes. An old building will not serve the purpose of a court house. We need to keep the City Auditorium for public meetings, conventions, automobile shows and poultry shows, these are only a few things that the Auditorium is used for.

We can hear this group say, use the high school auditorium for public meetings. That is not practicable because the school auditorium is used every school day during the term of school and also many evenings each week. The school auditorium was planned and built for the schools and is not large enough for the use of the general public for all purposes.

Yours very truly,
C. E. Heuquist

Easter Island

Only three or four ships visit Easter island, in the South Seas, yearly. This mysterious island is famed chiefly for its colossal statues, hewn of compressed ash from a volcano's crater wall. Between 400 and 500 statues, varying in height from 3 to 36 feet were cut from a quarry before the work came to a sudden and mysterious end.

American Timothy Hay

First recorded reference to timothy under that name occurs in a letter written by Benjamin Franklin about 200 years ago. Prior to that time, it had been grown as a hay crop in a number of northeastern states. Records show that it was called Herd grass after John Herd, who found it growing along a river bank near Portsmouth, N. H. Later timothy became the common name as a result of the efforts of Timothy Hansen, a man supposed to have been responsible for the early spread of the use of the grass. This is really quite a short span for a cultivated plant to become so universally accepted. It is grown extensively in this country as well as in many European countries.

French Colony

France's oldest and smallest colony is the island group of St. Pierre and Miquelon, 15 miles off the southern coast of Newfoundland.

New Electric Eye Has Wide Field of Operation

An "electric eye," which can see nearly four times as far as present equipment and which is not adversely affected by outside light, snow or rain, has been developed, says National Patent council.

The new "eye" can see up to 1,000 feet. Previous commercial equipment has been used for distances up to 275 feet, the average being about 60 feet, it was explained.

Engineers see applications as including automatic counting of automobiles on highways, operation of traffic signals upon approach of a vehicle and the "fencing" of restricted locations. When the beam, sent by the light source, to the relay, which may be up to 1,000 feet away, is broken by any object, the relay sets into operation alarms, signals, counters and other electric equipment.

The light source of the device operates on the modulated-light principle. It sends a beam of light which is interrupted 900 times per second. The photoelectric relay is tuned so that it is responsive only to light at this frequency. Its performance is not influenced by changes in natural or artificial illumination. The light source has an infra-red filter which removes most of the visible light from the beam.

Enclosed in a weatherproof case, the device is so mounted that it has a wide field of operation.

Heart Deaths in Minnesota

During 1947 diseases of the heart caused 8,872 deaths in Minnesota—one death an hour. After the age of 45, nearly one out of every two deaths is caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels. Rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease are the leading fatal diseases among children.

Bull Fighting

The idea for bull fighting is supposed to have originated in Crete, ancient land of the minotaur. There is little history of its progress until the reign of Julius Caesar in Rome, shortly before the beginning of the Christian era. Caesar favored bull fighting, and encouraged it. Succeeding rulers of Rome arranged such contests as part of the program for fete day.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved daughter, Violette Lu, who left us one sad year ago, Sept. 12th.

The sweetest girl this world could hold,
A cherished smile, a heart of gold.
Those who knew her well, will know,
How much we lost, one year ago.
The days that shone so brightly,
Are dimmed now that you're gone.
And sights, once beauty to our eyes,
Have dimmed since you passed on.
The minutes move so heavily,
Time glides on leaden feet,
To the Ancient Door of Eternity,
Where once again we shall meet.

Sadly missed by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Fort. 38p

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother Leatle Quam who passed away 6 years ago, Sept. 17, 1942. Always and forever remembered by Oscar Quam and sons Dean and Raymond. 38p

We have more things added to our line of Stanley home products. Salad forks and butter spreaders are now available as premiums. Remember, as appreciation prize to the hostess who has the largest sales, goes our $17.50 all wool blanket. This ends Oct. 1. For further information call Maybelle Green, Ph. 1184. 38p

In Memoriam

In memory of my loving husband who was killed in action in Italy, September 17, 1944.

The memory of someone dear
Is like a thing of gold
That never dulls or tarnishes
Or grows the least bit old.
It is a ray of sunshine bright
That fills an empty room
And it is like a flower fair
That never fails to bloom.
It offers consolation in
The face of strife or stress
And adds a certain beauty to
Each dream of happiness.
The memory of someone dear
However long apart
Is like a soothing melody
That lingers in the heart.
It is the perfect picture of
It is the portrait of a past
That cannot ever die.

Mrs. Beatrice Mosbeck. 38p

Prowlers Win 20-7 Over Roseau Friday in Season's Opener

The Prowlers inaugurated their football season on Friday night when they defeated an agressive Roseau eleven, 20 to 7, in a game played on the local field. On Friday afternoon the blue-and-gold squad will travel to Red Lake Falls for their traditional game against the Eagles. Coach Harold Kraft's Red Lake Falls team, with a number of lettermen available, defeated the Warroad Warriors, 8 to 0, at Warroad last Friday.

The Prowlers revealed in their opener against Roseau on Friday night that the local forward line will be one of the most powerful in the conference. Roseau marked up four first downs, but they were all made in the fourth and final quarter when a number of reserves were in the Prowler lineup. The locals, meanwhile, tallied twenty first downs, getting seven in the opening period.

Don Stadum angled off right tackle for 11 yards. Bradley chopped off two yards at right guard; Stadum lost 3 yards on a fumble. A pass was incomplete, but another aerial, Stadum to Furuseth, was completed on the Roseau 9-yard line. Stadum cut off left tackle for 7 yards, and then Bradley plowed through the center of the line for a touchdown. Al Williamson's place kick for the point was good.

With a 7 to 0 lead, coaches Johnson and Nick sent a number of reserves into the local lineup, and the Prowlers, in the second period, made a strong threat for another touchdown, having a first down on the Roseau 7-yard line following a drive that started on the Prowler 30-yard line. Wally Grovum picked up 5 yards at left tackle, and Wes Olson gained a yard at right guard. Maynard Troland lost five yards around right end, and an incompleted pass halted the drive.

The Prowlers racked up a pair of touchdowns in the third period, with Wally Grovum tossing a 23 yard scoring pass to Harley Wagner for the period's first touchdown. A partially blocked punt, recovered by Jerry Rasmussen on the Roseau 24-yard line, set up the Prowlers final touchdown. Stadum went through center for 8 yards; Grovum made a yard at left tackle. Stadum drove off right tackle to the Roseau 4-yard line. Grovum and Stadum picked up two yards on three slants off the tackles, and then Bradley hit the center for the touchdown. Williamson, who had place-kicked the point following Wagner's touchdown, failed to make the kick on the final score when Stadum bobbled the pass from center.

Roseau averted a shutout by scoring a touchdown in the fourth period. Hedlund intercepted a Prowler pass on the locals' 48-yard line and carried the ball to the Prowers' 32. Lisell hit right guard for 3 yards. A lateral pass play to Hedlund gained 2 yards. A pass was incomplete, but another aerial, Hedlund to Meade, and with Meade tossing a lateral to Bob Row, carried the ball to the Prowlers' 1-yard line. Row then hit Joe Meade with a scoring pass. And another pass, Row to Meade, added the extra point.

The summary:

CROOKSTON WHIPS ALL-STARS IN 10TH INNING, SCORE 5-4

All-stars Utilize Four Pitchers in Contest at Crookston Sunday

Jimmy Medved's ground single into centerfield in the 10th inning, hitting a three-and-one pitch, scored Andy Carey with the run that gave the Crookston Pirates a well-earned 5 to 4 win over the Northern Minny league All-Stars in an exhibition game played at Crookston's Highland Park on Sunday afternoon.

Medved's hit off Erskine's right-handed Al Thompson, the fourth hurler to "work" for the All-Stars, broke the 4-all deadlock that had forced the game into extra innings. Toddie Johnson opened the Pirates' half of the 10th by lining out to Connie Swanson, who made a spectacular diving catch. Carey drew a walk. Johnny Merell's single down the first base line sent Carey around to third base, and Medved's blow plated Andy with the winning tally.

Crookston, on an error, a stolen base, and a "squeeze play," with Johnson laying down a neat bunt, scored a run in the 3rd inning off George Saunders to take an early lead. But the All-Stars, in the top half of the 4th, and after two men had been retired, tallied a pair of runs. Bill Hallamack hit one of Ken DuPuis' lefthanded slants for a single and then the locals' Blackie Stephens poled a triple up against the left field fence to score Hallamack. A wild pitch permitted Stephens to rack up the second run. Medved's single, a stolen base, and Bill Lakies' single into centerfield gave the Pirates their second score in the last of the 4th inning off Pinky Kraft's pitching.

Willis Swanson, who had taken over the Crookston hurling chore in the 5th inning, was tagged for three hits and a pair of runs in the 7th inning. Harlan Olson was safe on an error, Mel Tranby popped out for the inning's second out. Dean Burns drove a single past third base, scoring Olson who had stolen second base. Woody Almquist kept the rally alive with a hard single past shortstop, with Burns stopping at second base. Milan Rude's single tallied Burns with the All-Stars final run.

Andy Carey's double to open the Pirates' half of the 8th inning, and Medved's single to center field, gave Crookston the run that evened the score and forced the game into extra innings.

CROOKSTON LOSES IN STATE TOURNEY

Bows to Lester Prairie Wednesday by 8-7 Score

The Crookston Pirates, the Northern Minny league champions and representatives of Region Two in the Class B baseball tournament being conducted in Shakopee, "blew" a two run lead in the 9th inning in their first round game Wednesday afternoon and lost to the Lester Prairie nine, 8 to 7.

The Pirates, Ken DuPuis on the mound and pitching fine ball, gained an early 5 to 0 lead, only to have Lester Prairie score twice in the 5th, two runs in the 6th and a single run in the 7th inning to tie the game at 5-all.

Two runs in the top of the 9th inning pushed the Pirates into what appeared to be a "safe" lead; but Lester Prairie, the Crow Wing league champions, rallied for three runs, and the game, in their half of the inning. DuPuis walked the first man to face him in the 9th, and an error put another runner on base. With men on second and third and one out, Plummer's George Saunders replaced DuPuis on the mound, and with better infield support, Saunders would have pulled the game into the Crookston win column. An error and a single off Andy Carey's glove permitted the tying and winning runs to score.

Bowling League Team Sponsors Are Urged to Register by Sept. 23

Fred Protz, secretary of the City Bowling Association, announced the league officers and directors are prepared to arrange the league schedules for the 1948-49 season. Men's league bowling will be limited, as in the past, to Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights, and that means that men's league bowling will be restricted to four leagues and thirty-two teams.

Team sponsors are requested to make arrangements with league secretary Fred Protz not later than Sept. 23rd. Sponsors of teams last year and who do not intend to enroll a team in league play this season should notify the secretary's office to that effect, as there are a number of sponsors wishing to enter new teams this year.

Keeping Score

Line, Adequate; Backs Doubtful

With scouts from Red Lake Falls, Crookston, East Grand Forks, and Grand Forks in the crowd Friday night, coaches Wayne Johnson and Bob Nick kept the Prowlers pretty much "under wraps" in their opening game against Roseau, which found the locals winning by a 20 to 7 score.

The play of the game did reveal, though, that the Prowlers, as expected will have a strong and aggressive forward wall, but that the team will lack depth and versatility in the backfield. Last year's reserve backs haven't improved to such an extent that the loss, by graduation of such hard running and ground-gaining boys as Swede Lund, Marlow Davidson, and Bob Larson isn't noticeable. Such boys as Wally Grovum, Don Stadum, Jerry Furuseth, and Cal Bradley are still a year away from starring honors.

The best runners on the team are Al Williamson and Jack Winter, and last Friday, Al, under instructions, carried the ball only once, and that time on a quarterback sneak for a first down in the opening period, while Jack watched the game from the sidelines because of a knee injury. Those two boys may "pep" up the Prowler attack. Winter received good news Monday when his doctor told him that the report on the knee X-ray was favorable and that he, Jack, could play football. That was good news for the Prowlers, too.

But it's the Prowler line that's going to provide most of the sideline comment and furnish the opposition with most of the anxious moments. Led by such rough-house characters as guards Joe Bradley and Don Green, and with Harley Wagner, Keith Rosengren, Harry Simons, Jerry Rasmussen, Jim Russell, Harvey McMahon, Graydon Garlough, Harold Baker, Jim Bimmler, Jim Arras, Rod Kaisler, and Luvern Olson throwing their weight around, the Prowler forward wall should spend quite a bit of time in their opponent's backfield this year. That's the hope that the fans have, and if the Prowler line plays up to its exceptions the blue-and-gold squad will make a strong bid to retain its conference championship.

All-Northern Minny Team

Last Sunday's exhibition game between the All-Stars and the Pirates at Crookston put an officials end to the Northern Minny league for the 1948 season. It is, perhaps, the proper time to name the players that we thought were the most outstanding during the year. First base would be filled by St. Hilaire's Harlan Olson, a fine fielder and a consistent hitter; and second base would be Crookston's Les Gullickson or the Thieves' Babe Paulsen; at shortstop the league's best was Jesse DuChamp of Plummer; and with Red Lake Falls' Bill Hallamack at third base, the infield would be first-rate. Patrolling the outfield would be Crookston's Bill Lakies in left field, the Thieves' Phil LeGault in right field, and either Johnny Merell of Crookston or Connie Swanson of St. Hilaire in centerfield. The pitching would be done by Crookston's stylish left-hander, Ken DuPuis, with Red Lake Falls' Dean Burns or the locals' Merle Carlson doing the receiving. Merle is the better defensive man, while Burns is stronger at the plate.

Bowling Activity

Irv Wilson has re-furnished and renamed the Mint alleys—they are now called the Pla-Mor alleys—and local bowlers have been engaging in pre-season warm-ups the past two weeks. Ed Karwand of the City Bowling Association remarked that it wasn't too soon for the bowlers planning on joining league teams to get their bowling arms "in shape," and that the team sponsors, too, should complete their plans for the bowling season.

Trying out with the Millers

Les Vigness, former Prowler all-round athletic star, left town yesterday morning for Brandon, Manitoba, where he will join the Minneapolis Millers hockey camp. Les made a trip to Minneapolis late last season and "worked out" with the Millers for a few days. At that time he was told that the management would place his name on file and call him for next fall's early season practice drills, and this week Vigness received his notice to appear at Brandon.

Swede Lund and Bud Brossolt, also former Prowler hockey luminaries, are headed for Michigan State College at East Lansing. Babe Paulsen, hockey coach at Michigan State, was instrumental in getting the two boys to enroll there, and I think that Swede and Bud are making a good move. Swede is planning on a physical education course, while Bud intends to study civil engineering.

HUNTING GROUNDS DEDICATION SET AT ROSEAU OCT. 7

Ground-breaking to be Attended by Numerous Prominent Officials

Prominent state officials will highlight the program at inauguration ceremonies of the Roseau River game refuge and public hunting grounds, October 7th, when the official ground breaking takes place, announce President H. B. M. Rognlie and Archie Lee, coordinating chairman.

Governor Luther Youngdahl has accepted the invitation of the Conservation Club to be present at inauguration ceremonies and will make a short speech at the site, they said. Because of previous engagements, he will be unable to stay for the remainder of the program.

Also speaking at the historic turning of the first shovel of sod by Mr. Rognlie, will be Harold Hagen, representative from the 9th district—one of the first to express his desire to attend.

Officiating at the dedication of the 'duck factory' will be Chester Wilson, commissioner of game and fish, who will be accompanied by Frank Blair; director of game and fish; supervisor of game, Taylor Huston; and Pittman-Robertson coordinator, Richard J. Door, who have all been instrumental in securing final approval for the great 36,000 acre breeding and hunting ground.

F. G. Dudley, famous dog trainer and exhibitor from St. Cloud, will bring two Golden Retrievers to the field trials, which he will supervise, and put through their paces for the benefit of dog owners. He will also run a trial on unexperienced dogs and give valuable tips for training hunting dogs.

The trap shoot and field trials will last throughout the afternoon with prizes to be awarded at the Hunter's Supper.

Kern Olson, Thief River Falls, president of the Northwest Association of Conservation Clubs, will be the master of ceremonies at the supper and will introduce the speakers of the evening. Slated to speak are Chester Wilson, Frank Blair, Stafford King, and Joseph Ball.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Farming" Versus "Ranching"

Talked to some editors who run my column in their papers—in states where there's mostly cattle and sheep raising—about the differences there might be between farming and ranching.

And they told me: "Joe, there's no real difference between cattlemen and farmers. We make our living from the land like your folks do; we have the same 4-H Clubs and Granges; the same problems of prices and marketing.

"When it comes to recreation, we have the same liking to get together now and then for a barbecue and a friendly glass of beer."

And from where I sit, that about sums it up. Ranchers may have different names for things or grow different crops. But all over America folks who work the land share those common traits of hard work, sober moderation, and good fellowship, whether they're growing cattle for beef, or barley for good American beer and ale.

EMPLOYMENT IN STATE IS AT PEAK

Over 823,000 Workers on Payrolls in August

More than 823,000 workers were on payrolls in Minnesota in August, and 3,200 fewer persons were looking for jobs, than in July, Victor Christgau, director of the Minnesota division of employment and security says. This is a new peak for employment in the state and a low for job seekers.

The employment figure covers non-agricultural employment and is 10,200 more than in July; 34,800 higher than a year ago.

In August, the employment service filled 10,485 jobs. Of that number, 6,501 wer on farms. The farm help supplied is twice what it was a year ago. Some offices of the employment service had as high as 58 times as many placements as they did in August of 1947.

This activity, Christgau says, is partly the result of the new employment security representative program, that has placed employment office services handy to farmers all over the state.

Land of Lobsters

Nova Scotia is the world's largest producer of lobsters, and, remarkably enough, its geographical outline resembles a lobster. It is almost entirely surrounded by the sea and has a coast line more than three times as long as the entire Pacific frontage of the United States.

September

"The golden rod is yellow; the corn is turning brown"—the beginning lines of this age-old well memorized poem really typifies rural September as it is now. That wonderful month—it is the month for reaping our harvests—the harvests that have been given so much backbreaking care and toil,—and it is the month for canning and storing the abundant garden products and filling the cellars,—to beat the frost. Certainly September opens new avenues to childhood when they resume studies in the back-to-school days. The beauty of fall is something to behold — nippy mornings, warm noons, and the nostalgic scents of peat smoke in the midst of the low hanging fog at nightfall. Fall, indeed, means fulfillment!

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Beiswenger, Dolores, Shirley, and Phyllis and Roger Mickelson were in Fosston Sunday. They were all dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Beiswenger's sister, the Myron Robinson's (Sarah Sanders.)

Mrs. L. C. Smith, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Smith, all of Crookston spent Sunday at the Ed Johnson and Anton Torkelson homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Orton Olson and Byron of Long Beach, Calif., have arrived by car for their vacation with home folks, O. N. Olsons, Dave Christensens, and Mrs. Regina Johnson.

Jean Nelson returned to her home Wednesday from Pelican Rapids where she had spent a few days with her cousins, the Carl Westby's.

Congratulations from the good folks of Smiley to Melvin and Helen Torkelson for bringing a dandy addition to Smiley — a new baby daughter.

Mrs. A. R. Newton is now in Minneapolis visiting indefinitely with her son-in-law and daughter, the Odin Bolstad's (Selma Newton).

4-H Quips

The regular monthly meeting was held Friday evening at the Smiley Hall with a fine attendance. Both County Agent Frank Hobbs and Assistant Agent Bob Hayes were present. The program started out with community singing led by the leader, Mrs. Rudolph Hanson; Bernice Knutson gave a reading; reports were then given on the State Fair trips by Loretta Bolstad, Shirley Matzke, Dianne Lendobeja, and Jerald Nelson. Mr. Hobbs and Mr. Hayes also gave brief impressions of the state fair. Election of officers then took place with a brand new panel elected. They are Joan Johnson, president; Shirley Matzke, vice president; Jean Nelson, secretary; Jerald Nelson, reporter. The leaders for the year will be Mrs. Adam Lendobeja and Mrs. Norman Johnson. A social time followed the meeting and lunch was served by Mrs. Robert Peterson and Mrs. S. S. Nelson.

Sunday at Itasca State park was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja and Dianne, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and children. The group ate a picnic dinner there and enroute home they had their picnic supper in Fosston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim. McCrum and youngsters visited at the Dave Christensen home south of Hazel Sunday. Also there were Mrs. Regina Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of Minneapolis, who had just arrived there for a two weeks vacation. The McCrum's also called at the Clarence Weckwerth home where a birthday party for their 3-year old daughter was in progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kolden and family of Detroit, Mich., visited at the home of Mr. Kolden's cousin, Mrs. Rudolph Hanson, Sunday.

Visitors overnight last week at the Mark Olson home were her brother and his family, the Robert Waller's of Harlow, N. Dak. On the previous Sunday, Mrs. Olson entertained at a lawn dinner party for another brother and his family, the Art Waller's, of Viking.

A very large crowd attended the Bethany Luther League in the church parlors last Sunday evening. An excellent program was arranged by Mrs. S. S. Nelson, who had the following provide the entertainment: Mrs. Walter Pedersen sang two beautiful songs; Eleanor Gustafson and Wanna Torkelson sang duets; Rev. Walter Pedersen gave an interesting talk; and prayers and songs closed the meeting.

A baptism was held for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anenson. Rev. O. O. Bjergan conducted the rites. The boy was named Vernon Harry and the sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Tieman and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anenson. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Art Knutson and Mrs. Joe Knutson.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lendobeja attended the State Fair. They and their car were in a three car caravan of which Mr. and Mrs. Al Burstad and family of Kratka were one that journeyed with a large group of Smiley and Steiner and Kratka youth who won free trips to the fair. A wonderful time was enjoyed by everyone. So much to be seen everywhere. It was truly worthwhile, so they say. Mr. Lendobeja returned home by train Tuesday while the rest of the gang came home Thursday by way of Itasca State park. Mrs. Rudolph Hanson, Smiley leader went down on Thursday for the fair. Her husband and three daughters accompanied by Truman Hemmestvedt and Engvold Hanson motored down Saturday and the whole group came home Sunday evening. Mrs. Hanson also visited her sisters, Mrs. Elwood Anderson (Signe Angell), Mrs. Ed DePuy (Lennie), and Miss Ruth Angell.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Barstad and daughters of San Lorenzo, Calif., made the rounds of old friends and neighbors in north Smiley one day last week.

Mrs. Anna Burtness, Olaf Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Liden and daughter Kay and Mrs. Olaf Olson (Laura Larson) motored to Grand Forks Sunday. Mrs. Olson remained at her home there after a week's visit here at the Burtness home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Erickson of Thief River Falls spent one evening at the home of her sister and family, the Norman Johnsons.

Mrs. Carl E. Olson was down in the Cities last week for a check-up at the University hospital. She also visited at the John Altin home there.

Visitors at the Martin Karlstad home Sunday were Oscar Gilbertson, and Mr. Karlstad's aunt, Mrs. Lena Johnson of Grand Forks. Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Karlstad had not seen each other for thirty-eight years.

"What's Cookin'?"

The Bethany Ladies Aid will meet Sept. 23rd in the church parlors. The hostesses Mrs. Frank Hardisty and Mrs. Bert Johnson extend a very cordial welcome. A very special request is being made, herewith, that all members are asked to please be present so that plans can be made for the annual dinner and sale that will be held November 11. The business meeting will start promptly at 2:30 p. m.

NORTH

Disappearing Island

Bogoslov island, 25 miles north of the Aleutians, consists of three volcanic cones, and is one of the mysteries of the Bering sea. It is of volcanic formation, and since its first eruptive appearance in 1796 it has disappeared, reappeared and changed physiographically many times. Its most recent eruption was in 1910. Sea lions and birds have returned to the island at every reappearance.

Does your HIGH SPEED EQUIPMENT BOUNCE ALONG over Rough Fields?

EVERSMAN
AUTOMATIC LAND LEVELER and DIRT MOVER

Sixty miles an hour won't hurt your car on a paved road. Half that speed on a rough road will shake it to pieces. The same thing happens with high speed farm machinery. Rough fields can slow up your work, cost you money. That's why it will pay to plane fields with an EVERSMAN AUTOMATIC LEVELER.

Here's a machine you can handle with your own tractor. It levels and smooths land AUTOMATICALLY. Blade mounted on exclusive crank axle. When wheels go onto a high place the blade lowers to take a cut—when wheels go into a low place blade raises to release dirt. The EVERSMAN breaks clods, pulverizes the soil, smooths and packs the surface, forming a fine seed bed while AUTOMATICALLY LEVELING. Makes possible even depth of planting and covering of seed, better germination, more uniform stands.

Dirt moving feature enables you to drain comparatively flat fields where water stands in low areas. With Eversman (in dry weather) you can move dirt back into low areas. Eversman makes wide, shallow, perfectly controlled cuts and well packed fills, so water spreads out. Fields surface drain themselves...eliminates ditches which cut up your fields and start erosion. Ideal for planing slopes before terracing and contouring. Invaluable when building grass waterways or preparing ground for permanent seeding. Ask today for further details.

The NEW Allis-Chalmers Model "G" TRACTOR

For All Jobs on Some Farms and Some Jobs on All Farms!

It makes no difference whether you farm a large acreage or a small one, the ALLIS-CHALMERS MODEL "G" TRACTOR and its companion implements will adapt themselves profitably to some or all of your field operations.

Because of its low price and extreme operating economy, it is a tractor that operators of even the smallest acreages can afford to own. Because of its accuracy and precision in planting and seeding row-crops, it will profitably take the place of that last team of horses that have been kept by many farmers.

ANY YOUNGSTER CAN OPERATE IT AND THE NUMBER OF JOBS IT CAN DO ON A LARGE FARM DEPEND ON THE VISION OF THE FARMER.

The Model G comes fully equipped. Electric lights, starter, full size rubber tires and a swinging drawbar are standard equipment. Front and rear wheels are quickly adjustable to fit any row-crop spacing. The 4-speed transmission makes possible speeds of 1 to 7 miles per hour.

For versatility, economy and all-round usefulness the Model G is truly in a class by itself—it sets a new standard in farm power. Like the rest of the Allis Chalmers line, it will pay for itself in a short time and make for better living on the farm. Best of all, you can get immediate delivery.

Palmetto Braiding

Palmetto, palm and straw braiding is an art as old as history, the skill being perpetuated, as is most frequently the case in native crafts, by horse or word-of-mouth teaching from mother to daughter. The braiding art at one time was practiced throughout the country, the material employed being that near at hand. In the grain-growing sections, grain straws were used; in other sections, grasses, rushes and sedges. In the coastal plains and west coast area, where palms and palmettos grow, the fronds of these were used. The palmetto craft was a flourishing industry in the early seventies and sustained many a "cracker" family, according to "Palmetto Braiding and Weaving" by Viva Cooke and Julia Sampley.

GRYGLA

Village Light Plant Burns

Early last Friday morning a fire of undetermined origin burned the local power plant to the ground. Included in the loss were the two diesel engines which supplied the current for the village as well as which was housed in the same building. When the fire was discovered by Mrs. H. P. Gram, night operater in charge of the plant, it was too late to save any of the equipment. A portable diesel engine has been brought here and will supply current for this village until the REA is hooked up.

There will be a benefit dance at the Grygla hall on Saturday evening, September 25. The proceeds will be used for new fire fighting equipment.

By Arthur Naftalin

Candidates who survived this week's primary elections now face a seven-weeks period of intensive campaigning before the November 2 general election. The volume of political oratory will mount furiously, reaching a shrill pitch by election day, as aspirants from the Presidency on down attempt to lay their case before the voters.

Campaigning, in these days of high prices, is a costly enterprise, and for every candidate the financing of his campaign is a problem of no small proportions. We can expect, as the electioneering proceeds to hear continued appeals for financial support by all parties.

This problem is one that receives surprisingly little attention from the public at large. Most voters are ignorant of what goes on behind the scenes, and, as a result, have tended to take for granted that the candidates, in their own mysterious ways, can pay their campaign expenses without too much difficulty.

To the candidate, however, the problem is ever-present. Printers customarily demand cash in advance before the literature is prepared. Newspapers, outdoor advertising firms, radio stations, and the other media outlets seldom, if ever, are willing to extend credit, because they know, from sad previous experience, that nothing is so difficult as attempting to collect an unpaid bill for political advertising after the election is over.

As a result, in every campaign headquarters, there is a frantic scurrying from day to day to meet the current bills. There is always more activity projected than the available cash will pay for. The candidate is hounded from morning to night by a host of solicitors and bill collectors, and before long he is deeply enmeshed in financial woes.

The problem of finances is particularly difficult for the candidate who is seeking statewide office. A single piece of literature will cost from $6 to $10 a thousand. To get statewide distribution he will need from 250,000 to 500,000 pieces. This one item, for printing alone, will be $1,500 to $5,000. On top of this comes the cost of distributing the literature, which may cost as much again as the printing.

A single statewide radio network, which has become a standard operating item, will cost from $500 to $1,000, depending on what stations are used and how much newspaper advertising is obtained to advertise the broadcast.

To place an advertisement in each daily and weekly newspaper in the state takes $2,000 or more, and this will not be a large insertion. In the matter of outdoor advertising, a single large billboard will cost from $50 to $250, depending on type and location.

These basic items, taken together with direct mailing and novelty items such as window stickers and campaign buttons, soon run the total cost into the tens of thousands of dollars.

It is doubtful whether a candidate for state office can make any kind of splash without spending less than $50,000, and it would be possible to spend twice that amount without waste or extravagance.

Even candidates for the offices down the line from the governorship and the senatorship must count on spending upwards from $10,000, if they are to get their name before the public.

Where does the money come from? This is a question that should concern the public a great deal more than it does. There are always special interests of one sort or another that are willing to support a campaign in the hope that there will be proper reward for the support at the proper time.

It is not uncommon for a special interest to contribute to the campaigns of two or more opponents in the same contest, thus assuring itself of a winner no matter what happens.

The corrupt practices act, both federal and state, places restrictions on who can give and the amounts candidates can spend, but such restrictions do not solve the problems. They merely lead to new techniques and new ways for collecting and spending the money.

Observers of this problem of finances in American political campaigns are advocating that a basic change be made so that candidates need not rely on large contributors for their financial backing. Governmental allowances for party nominees is one suggestion, but this would raise the threat of bureaucratic interference in elections. It is a thorny problem, and, if you listen closely, you will hear the candidates mutter about money from now until November 2 and after.

Potash for Soybeans

With the increased demand for soybeans, as a source of edible vegetable oil (and as a protein concentrate for livestock feed, has risen the importance of increased yields of soybeans through good stands of adapted varieties and proper fertilization. As a rule, little fertilizer or lime is used on soybeans or on the crops in rotation with soybeans. However, potash and phosphorous are required just like cotton, corn, tobacco or any other crop.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Pursuant to adjournment the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, convened in session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on August 30, 1948. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with Aldermen Bredeson, Fuller, Gjernes, Hellquist present and Aldermen Hall and Stanbridge absent.

The Council then, pursuant to duly advertised notice, proceeded to conduct a hearing in the matter of application for special permit to allow the construction in the residential district of a garage to house an ambulance and funeral car and the remodeling of the residential building on Lots 1-3 and 11-14, Block 10 of Porter's Addition, at a cost of $3,000, for maintenance of a funeral home, by M. C. Gulbranson (and in the matter of an application for special permit presented by Nels G. Olson, to allow the construction of a lumber storage warehouse on Lots 1-2, Block 23, Knox Addition, cost $1000; both of which applications were accompanied by waivers of objections by more than 75% of the property owners within 300 feet of such proposed locations. No persons or property owners appeared in objection thereto and Alderman Fuller then moved that such applications be approved and that the Clerk be directed to issue the permits therefor. The motion was seconded by Alderman Hellquist and the same was thereupon unanimously adopted.

There was brought to the attention of the Council an item of repairs to the Fire Department Ford V-8 truck in the amount of $321.95, paid by the City in the year 1947, such repairs being occasioned by collision of the Fire Department truck and a school bus operated by School District No. 18 at the corner of Second Street and Main Avenue on November 20, 1946 at which time it is alleged that the Fire Department truck had the right of way. Alderman Hellquist moved that the matter be referred to the City Attorney with instruction that he proceed legally against the School District to enforce payment for the damages incurred to the Fire Department Truck. Alderman Fuller seconded the motion which was unanimously adopted.

Alderman Hellquist moved that the Clerk cause notice to be published calling for proposals for the furnishing and delivery for use by the Department of Streets, of one two-ton motor truck and a manhole and catch basin steamer or heater, bids to be opened and considered on September 20, 1948, at eight o'clock P. M. Alderman Gjernes seconded the motion which was adopted.

He brings you the most useful book in town

WHEN THE INSTALLER puts in your new telephone, he brings you a telephone directory—so that from the beginning you can use this most-read book and avoid calling wrong numbers.

As soon as he checks your telephone with the test board your name and number will be in the hands of "Information"—available to those who wish to call you. At the same time your name and number go to the directory department to await publication in the next directory.

Name, address and telephone number are set in type, dropped into the exact alphabetical spot for accuracy—accuracy that's as important to us as to everyone whose name is listed.

Each of the 1,400,000 listings in the hundreds of different local directories we publish gets this same careful scrutiny. It's a big job to make this essential part of telephone service as useful as possible. But then every part of providing good telephone service is an important job.

BIRTH OF A DIRECTORY. It's typeset, printed, bound and delivered and the print order must provide for not only all present telephone customers but for those that will be added during the life of the directory.

PERFORMS DOUBLE SERVICE. A brand new directory lists alphabetically every customer's name and number—except for current installations. In addition, in many directories, numbers are listed under business headings in the "yellow pages." You can find who-what-where—quickly and accurately in this buyers' guide for everyone.

"Fair Price, Fair Treatment For Dairy Farmers"

TO CARL BENDER, Princeton, Minn., dairy farmer, "fair price and fair treatment" are two of the biggest reasons why it pays him and his son and partner, Gerald, to sell milk and cream through Land O'Lakes.

"With Land O'Lakes," he says, "we get all the benefits of dealing through our own marketing organization. Over the years, Land O'Lakes has cut down the spread between New York butter prices and what we get for our butterfat. We're proud of Land O'Lakes. Education Provisions of State Constitution

As a public service this newspaper is printing the third article in a series of six devoted to the problem of constitutional revision in Minnesota. The work and findings of the Minnesota Constitutional Commission, established by the 1947 legislature to recommend changes in Minnesota's 91-year-old basis law, will provide a basis for most of the discussions.

Chares J. Turck, author of this commentary, is president of Macalester college in St. Paul, Minnesota, and a member of the Committee on Education, a sub-group of the Minnesota Constitutional Commission.

The opinions expressed by the authors are entirely their own, and do not necessarily reflect the opinions held by either this newspaper or the Minnesota Constitutional Commission.

The Proposed Revision of the Article on Education of the Minnesota State Constitution

By Charles J. Turck

The Constitution of the State of Minnesota, originally adopted in 1857, contains four provisions in Article VIII dealing with School Funds, Education and Science, of such permanence and excellence that the revision committee has made no changes therein. In the retention of these clauses, the Committee on Education of the Minnesota Constitutional Commission, has indicated its adherence to the fundamental educational concepts which our forefathers adopted and on which a great educational systm has been built. The significance of the revision of the article on education lies primarily in what has been retained, and not in the few verbal additions.

1. Section 1 of the Constitution as it now stands recognizes public education as the basis of a sound republican form of government. The proposed article reads as follows:

"Section 1. As a basis for a sound republican form of government, the legislature shall establish and shall make provisions for the maintenance and support of a uniform system of public education."

2. Again, Section 3, paragraph 2, of the present Constitution prohibits aid to sectarian education, and the proposed Constitution includes this paragraph practically unchanged as Section 2 of the new Article, reading as follows:

"Section 2. In no case shall any public moneys or property be appropriated or used for the support of schools wherein the distinctive doctrines, creeds or tenets of any particular Christian or other religious sect are promulgated or taught."

3. The new Section 3 contains the exact wording of the present Constitution dealing with the University of Minnesota. The greatness of that institution is largely due to its status as a constitutionally established government agency, beyond the power of temporary majorities in the legislatures to hamper or control it. The liberal financial provisions that the legislature itself has made session after session are the proof that the creation of an independent Board of Regents lifts the state university above partisan politics and makes it a truly worthy educational institution.

4. The proposed financial provision for the schools continues the principle of dedicated funds, which all American states have found to be a most important safeguard of the public school system. The present constitution sets up a permanent fund consisting of "the proceeds of such lands as are or hereafter may be granted by the United States for the use of schools within each township of this State." This is the permanent common school fund. It was also provided that "all swamp lands" shal be in "al swamp lands" shall be appraised and sold, and the principal of such funds "shall forever be preserved inviolate," and the proceeds shall be appropriated, one-half to the common school fund, and "one-half to the educational and charitable institutions of the state in the relative ratio of cost to support said institutions." (This last provision has been cumbersome to administer, and the revision provides for all the income to go to the public schools.)

The revision of Article 8 keeps these funds inviolate. It eliminates certain detailed regulations as to the type of approved investment for the funds, and permits their investments only in bonds of the United States, the State of Minnesota and its political subdivisions, and in bonds of other states as may be provided by law. The principle that a great fund, now amounting to $129,672,454.22 shall be forever inviolate as a capital fund and its income dedicated to the public schools of the state is a bulwark against sudden hostility or indifference to the needs of the public schools. The revision committee sought to expand this principle, rather than to limit it.

The extension of the principle of a dedicated fund took the form of a suggestion that "all minerals on, in, or under lands which lie beneath waters owned by the state and beneath navigable lakes and waters belong to the state." The proceeds arising from the use, sale or other disposition of such lands, it was suggested, were to constitute a perpetual trust fund for the public schools. It was believed that a valuable heritage of the state may lie beneath these waters and that no more appropriate dedication of such a public waters fund could be found than a dedication to the uses of public education.

The income from the original public school fund was to be distributed to the different townships throughout the state in proportion to the number of scholars in each township between the ages of five and twenty-one. This constitutional provision has been eliminated by the revisers, it being their belief that the legislature should determine the method of distribution in the case of this fund as it now does with other funds. The wisdom of fastening into a constitutional provision a single permanent method of distributing the income to the schols is questionable, since it is not possible to foresee the special educational needs that may arise twenty or fifty years hence. The legislature, guided by the recommendations of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, will be able to select the principle of distribution in accordance with the needs and judgment of the times.

The essential contribution that the revision of Article VIII makes is in the retention of the educational trust funds. The proposed Section 5 gives clear and simple direction for the appropriation of the income from

"... from the public waters fund, the school fund and the swamp land fund to the public schools; from the University fund to the University of Minnesota; and from the internal improvements fund as is, or hereafter may be, provided by law."

In the elimination of obsolete material and the combination of certain sections dealing with the creating and investment of of state educational funds, the committee has clarified Article VIII of the original Constitution. Above all else, it has made plain the continuing interest of the people of Minnesota, 91 years after the creation of the educational funds, to preserve them inviolate for the public schools of the state.

IS THERE NEITHER EAST NOR WEST?

Boundaries obviously aren't as strictly guarded in these United States as in other parts of the tumultuous world. A case in point is the fact that Minnesota owns right-of-way and maintains a Minnesota state Highway Number 23 from Sandstone through Askov to Duluth, cuts across the extreme northwest corner of Wisconsin, where it is operated in every respect as a Minnesota highway.

Democracy Begins at Home

Have you ever considered what a monotonous world this would be if all the people in it were alike? Even the suggestion of such a thought sounds uninteresting and dull. However, because people are different, we too often fail to understand and appreciate their uniqueness as individuals. As a result, wars and internal strife ensue.

So far America has been history's greatest experiment as a melting pot of different social backgrounds. We have demonstrated that people of different nationalities, creeds and cultures can live together in a democracy. Nevertheless, we cannot hope to preserve our democracy, much less hope for a world democracy unless we begin to put forth conscious efforts to build relationships in our own communities. Yes, we might better begin in our own homes. For truly, democracy begins at home, and, furthermore, it must be taught.

Webster defines democracy as "a belief in, or practice of social equality" but the "or" in the definition might well read "and" for the time has arrived when we need to emphasize the practice of democracy. As an illustration, consider the case of Mrs. A who religiously sends her daughter to Sunday School to learn the Golden Rule and yet forbids her the companionship of the daughter of a neighbor who professes a different creed.

Many similar cases could, of course, be cited. Children are not born with prejudices, but lasting imprints are made upon impressionable children by thoughtless adults such as the mother in that instance.

Homemaking is a noble profession and if the parents have reared their children well they need not be alarmed when their childrn play with many kinds of children. It is through such practices that children receive a valuable education in tolerance and understanding.

200 SWEETHEARTS BUT NEVER A BRIDE

Northfield.—Edward J. Thye, Minnesota's distinguished senator, figures in the news of the nation this week in an unusual manner. His uncle, Christ Wangen, died last week in Aberdeen, S. Dak. Which of course could happen to an one's uncle. But Mr. Wangen held undisputed the title of the nation's oldest bachelor. He was 100 and had lived in South Dakota 60 years. Though never married he joked that he had two sweethearts every year he was alive.

OVER A MILLION STATE RESIDENTS GIVEN TB X-RAYS

One Person in 200 Tested to Date Give Evidence of Tuberculosis Infection

More than a million Minnesota residents have been chest x-rayed in the statewide program to discover hidden tuberculosis.

This is reported by Dr. Hilbert Mark, TB control officer for the state department of health. Of this number, he estimates, 10,000 persons about one in 50 have been found to have some type of chest abnormality. Findings include tuberculosis, suspected TB, chest tumors, heart conditions, and other pathologies and abnormalities.

The "One in 50" estimate is based on a report compiled for 231,280 consecutive x-ray films taken during surveys in rural communities, according to Dr. Mark.

Of the more than 200,000 person, .54 per cent or about one in 200, had TB findings. An additional .12 percent showed suspected TB. Other findings were: Cardiac, .58 per cent; pleural changes, .33 percent, and other pathology, .53 percent.

X-rays for everyone are made possible through the cooperation of the state health department, the U. S. public health service, state and county Christmas Seal organizations, and other official and voluntary groups, according to Dr. A. E. Meyerding, executive secretary of the state Christmas Seal organization.

Farmers who applied more chemical weed killers than manufacturers recommended this year were lucky. The story may not be the same next year and considerable damage may result from this practice.

These five infant "stowaways," shown here with Nurse Carol Deneghue, were born aboard the American President Lines vessel General W. H. Gordon on a voyage across the Pacific from the Orient. It was a postwar record for births in one trip and possibly an all-time mark for a Pacific crossing.

N. W. SCHOOL WILL PRESENT NEW TYPE OF HOG SATURDAY

More than 100 Specimens of No. 2 Hog to be Sold at Auction at Crookston

A new breed of hogs, the Minnesota No. 2 hog, produced at the Northwest School and Experiment Station at Crookston, will be formally accepted in the Minnesota Inbred Livestock Registry Association on the Swine Day program to be held at the Northwest School, Crookston, on Saturday, September 18. The field Swine Day program will start at 10:00 A. M. with Dr. C. H. Bailey, dean and director of the Minnesota Experiment Station, making the presentation of the new breed of swine to John Olson, president of the Inbred Livestock Association.

Other features of the morning program as announced by T. M. McCall, superintendent of the Northwest Experiment Station, will be the formal christening of the breed and the parade of more than one hundred spring boars and gilts of the new Minnesota No. 2 swine.

The Minnesota No. 2 hog was produced by crossing the Yorkshire, a bacon breed, on a fast-developing inbred strain of Poland China, a fat-hog type. The new hog is a product of the research work done in swine by the Minnesota experiment station as a cooperator in a regional swine breeding project.

The new Minnesota No. 2 breed of hog has met with the approval of hog men of Minnesota and adjoining states because of its rapid development as a market hog and its excellence of carcass.

The auction sale of the more than one hundred purebred Minnesota No. 2 boars and gilts will be held in the livestock judging room at the Northwest School with the sale starting at 1:00 p. m. A nationally-known livestock auctioneer will cry the sale.

NATIONAL GUARD DAY IS OBSERVED

State Organization Notes Its Anniversary

The oldest military force in the nation today observed National Guard Day. Units of the Minnesota National Guard joined with other states in a nation-wide observance of the eighth anniversary of the calling to federal service of the National Guard prior to World War II.

The history of the Minnesota National Guard dates back to the territorial militia. The birth of the Guard in its modern form was marked in 1883 when the state legislature enacted the first military code and made the first appropriation of funds for support of the Guard.

Since that time the Minnesota National Guard has grown to a force of more than 7,000 officers and men in ground and air units throughout the state. The state of Minnesota has 49 National Guard armories valued at more than $6,000,000. In addition, the state has established Camp Ripley, valued at more than $5,000,000., for the summer training of the National Guard.

On the Mexican Border and in World War I, the Minnesota National Guard contributed more than 8,000 troops. In World War II, Minnesota troops of the 34th Infantry Division were the first to land in the European theater and fought throughout the North African and Italian campaigns.

ANNOUNCE AWARD OF CONTRACTS FOR SOO LINE BUILDING

Trainmen's Locker Room Will Provide Needed Facilities

Contracts have been let, for the construction of a Soo Line trainmen's locker room building to be located on the west side of the tracks opposite the yard office according to an announcement made last week by E. A. Hamerski, division superintendent. He also stated that plans have been completed for an addition to the grain inspection building located in the local yards.

E. W. Wylie, Inc., general contractors of St. Paul, were the successful bidders for the construction of the locker room building, including heating and plumbing facilities. Another contract has been awarded to Casper-Lyons of this city for the extension of city sewer and water mains. This building, 24 feet by 36 feet, will be fully equipped with tables, benches, lockers, lavatories and shower baths. It is expected that construction will be started shortly. It is hoped that construction of the 12 feet by 18 feet addition to will also be completed this fall.

Testimony as to the need for the improved facilities was heard at a hearing on the matter conducted last Friday morning in the Auditorium before Ray P. Chase, member of the railroad and warehouse commission.

W. J. Quinn, counsel for the Soo Line, asked the dismissal of the proceedings on the ground that the matter was not within the jurisdiction of the commission, and that necessary steps had already been taken to remedy the situation. Chase denied the motion.

Among those submitting as to the inadequacy of the present yard office were Millard Nelson, yard clerk, and Max Jensen, switchman foreman, while Alvin Anderson, foreman of the crew of grain samplers, testified as to the poor condition of facilities provided for their use.

Clearwater River Channel Improvement to be Started Soon

Equipment is already being moved in by the Hallett Construction Co., of Crosby, Minnesota, whose low bid was accepted by army engineers for the improvement of the first section of the Clearwater river, and L. He says the company plans to start at the lower end of the job with a small unit and probably will start farther up the river with a larger unit later on.

Reporting on the progress of the Red Lake river project, Mr. Oberg says the work has progressed to within a half a mile above River Valley, which point should be reached within a month. It is the present intention to by-pass the River Valley bridge he says and complete the excavation at this point at a later time when the bridge work itself is undertaken.

A review of the votes cast in the primary election last week failed to change the tie that had been unofficially reported in the fifth commissioner district. Waldie Christenson and Simon Breiland, the candidates who ran neck and neck for second place, agreed to settle the problem by tossing a coin. The ceremony was conducted under the direction of the members of the Pennington county canvassing board and with both candidates present, Breiland won. Members of the canvassing board were A. R. TO STUDY PLAN FOR DISTRICT REORGANIZAT'N

Meetings to be Held for Consideration of Committee Proposals

Published elsewhere in this issue are the recommendations of the school survey committee for the reorganization of Pennington county school districts. This is a tentative report, copies of which have been distributed to school board members thruout the county. Survey committee members ask that this report be studied and that they be given the reaction of citizens as soon as possible in order that they may be guided by public sentiment in the preparation of their final report which must be completed not later than November 1.

The recommendations call for the reorganization of present districts into eleven consolidated districts, but the recommendations also call for leaving eleven individual districts as they are. Seven of these eleven, districts 7, 64, 147, 127, 2, 25 and 135 join each other and lie west of Thief River Falls. The other four for which no change is recommended at this time are districts 54, in Rocksbury, 13 in Kratka, 125 in Wyandotte and 48 in Reiner.

Several districts along the south border would become a part of Plummer or Oklee districts in which high schools are now maintained. Parts of Marshall county would come into the Thief River Falls district and a large portion of Eastern Marshall would join with Goodridge.

Under the terms of present law it is required that the final report of the survey committee as of November 1 must be submitted to the voters for their rejection or approval within nine months. Members of the Pennington county survey committee are of the opinion that this does not provide sufficient time for action of this kind and may recommend that a further study be made of the problem. Sentiment thruout the state indicates that the legislature will be asked to extend this time at the coming session.

Van de Streek of rural Thief River Falls, and Walter L. Morehouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Morehouse of this city, exchanged marriage vows. Rev. Carl F. Johnson read the service before an altar decorated with vases of mixed garden flowers, and lighted candelabra.

The processional from Lohengrin was played by Miss Vivian Scholin, friend of the bride, and before the ceremony Deloris Omundson sang "Together With Jesus", and while the couple were kneeling she sang "Precious Lord Take Their Hand."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was gowned in white slipper satin with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves that came to a point at the wrist. She wore a fingertip veil with lace edging, which was borrowed from her sister. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses and baby mums. Her attendant was her sister Ruth Van de Streek, wearing a gown of white marquisette over taffeta skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies. The groom was attended by Ernest Thune as best man.

The bride's mother wore a black dress and the groom's mother wore pink with black. They both wore corsages of roses and carnations.

Winton Fischer of Minneapolis, friend of the groom, was best man, and Russell Davis of Elbow Lake, a brother-in-law of the groom, and Morris Melby of Grand Forks, N. Dak., brother of bride also attended the groom.

The mother of the groom and Mrs. Leo Moe, an aunt of the bride, wore corsages of gardenias and sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony a reception given by the bride's father and aunt was held in the church parlors, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to northern Minnesota, and are now making their home in Glenwood.

INCREASE DAIRY AND LIVESTOCK BRANDT URGES

May Take Five Years to Catch up With Big Demand He Says

With world shortages of grain rapidly being overcome, agriculture is now approaching the time when good farm management dictates a policy of return to dairy and livestock production, according to John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc. Farmers realizing, with this year's crop going to market that the "honeymoon" is over and that 1948 presents some problems of grain surpluses that will have to be dealt with, he said.

"As the picture unfolds," Mr. Brandt declared, "the business of dairying as compared with grain farming, from the standpoint of both farm income and soil fertility, is again well on its way to becoming a stabilizing factor in farm operations." He pointed out that it will probably take five years before the deficiency in dairy production has any chance of being overtaken. He said that cheaper feed costs and favorable prices for dairy products will encourage greater feeding of grain to cattle, and that this will influence production per cow and cushion the decline in cow numbers to some extent.

In planning their operations, Mr. Brandt said, farmers must be in a position to meet reverses that are bound to come in the production of grains where the hazard of crop failures are far greater than the risk existing on a balanced farm where dairy and livestock production fit into a wise program of diversification.

Shall We Amend the Judiciary Article of Our Constitution

As a public service this newspaper is printing the fourth article in a series of six devoted to the problem of constitutional revision in Minnesota. Each article is written by a prominent Minnesotan and is designed to acquaint the citizens of the state with important aspects of Minnesota's constitutional problem. The work and findings of the Minnesota Constitutional Commission, established by the 1947 legislature to recommend changes in Minnesota's 91-year-old basic law, will provide a basis for most of the discussions.

by Leroy E. Matson
Associate Justice
Supreme Court of Minnesota

Essential to the preservation of the rights of free men is the existence of an independent judiciary that, in the light of the declared law, acts and thinks with freedom in administering justice to all litigants with unquestioned impartiality and reasonable promptness.

Our state judicial system has been in operation for ninety years. Nine decades have brought many new social and economic problems of considerable complexity. It is only good sense to ask whether our judicial system continues to function efficiently. Is it equipped to deal with present-day problems? Who will defend our justice of the peace courts? For decades they have been recognized as inadequate, although from time to time certain incumbents have rendered meritorious service. Why should not our probate courts be given full jurisdiction for dealing effectively with all matters essential to the administration of an estate? Are we not in need of special juvenile courts? Ought the legislature to have the power to establish a court of claims? Many other pertinent questions come to mind. In seeking to improve the machinery of our courts, it is of vital importance, however, that nothing be done to impair the independence of the judiciary in dispensing justice with fearless impartiality.

After statewide discussion and careful thought, the Constitutional Commission, with the aid of its Judiciary Committee, has prepared a proposed revision of the Judiciary Article of our Constitution that is deserving of favorable consideration. If adopted, the judicial power of the state will be vested in three courts established by direct constitutional mandate, namely, the supreme, district, and probate courts; and in such other courts inferior to the supreme and district courts as the legislature may establish. In other words, the justice of peace courts are removed from the constitutional framework, and may be continued only in such form as the legislature may provide. A special provision insures that the legislature may give jurisdiction over cases and proceedings relating to the care and welfare of minors to any court below the supreme court. The need for a juvenile court has long been recognized. Of no little significance is the granting of power to the legislature to establish courts and judicial officers with jurisdiction inferior to the supreme and district courts. This provision insures sufficient elasticity for the creation of special and local courts adapted to the needs of any particular situation.

Nothing has been done to impair the jurisdiction and independence of the present supreme and district courts. This is likewise true of the probate court; but it is proposed that it shall given unlimited jurisdiction for the administration of estates, and over all guardianship and incompetency proceedings. The wisdom of this extension of jurisdiction becomes at once apparent when we are reminded that the present probate court has, for example, no jurisdiction to settle a dispute as to attorney's fees between an administrator and his attorney. By legislature action jurisdiction may be given over trusts, and for the determination of taxes contingent upon death. Clearly these provisions give the probate court the necessary power to fulfill the purpose for which it primarily exists.

Provision is made for the establishment of an administrative council designed to formulate policies for the improvement of the administrative or business end of our judicial system. This council will exist of one representative from each of the courts; one representative from the legal professon; and one from the public at large. What can be achieved by improved administrative policies has in part been demonstrated already by our federal courts. It will also serve as a clearing house for the exchange of ideas between the various courts, and thus provide a basis for effective cooperation. In order to preserve the full independence of the judiciary, four safeguards have been established: (1) An overwhelming majority of the members of the administrative council will always consist of judges. (2) Its administrative powers may be limited by law. (3) In no event may the council take any action which interferes with the exercise of the judicial functions of a judge in any case or proceeding. (4) In the event a question arises as to whether any policy or act of the council impinges upon or interferes with the judicial function of any judge, the question is to be determined by the judiciary itself as a purely judicial matter.

Any judicial system, however well designed, requires incumbent judges who are adequately trained in the law. Provision is therefore made that judges of the supreme, district, and probate courts must be learned in the law; that is, they must be individuals whose training is attested to by the fact that they have been admitted to the bar. In view of the many laymen on the probate bench, who by years of experience have become versed in the law and have rendered good service, a schedule of exceptions recognizes all incumbent probate judges as learned in the law, for the purpose of their re-election and continuance in office. The qualifications of all other judges are to be prescribed by the legislature. Although the other courts ought likewise to be occupied only by trained men, it is recognized that they are not available in all communities.

All judges are to be automatically retired at the age of seventy years. The desirability of a uniform age of compulsory retirement is recognized in industry and elsewhere. Our leading universities provide for the retirement of their faculty members at an even earlier age. It should be remembered that occupants of the bench ought to be alert and possessed of full mental vigor in adjudicating the rights of their fellow citizens. Certain exceptional individuals are mentally alert long beyond the age of seventy. Compulsory retirement, however, cannot be based on the condition of exceptional individuals, but must be related to the average. In fact, some states have established an earlier retirement age. In order that able lawyers of many years of experience will be willing to give up their practice for the bench, and in order to avoid any hardship that may result from compulsory retirement, a retirement allowance is to be provided by law for judges who have continuously served a minimum period of ten years immediately prior to their retirement. Any judge who has reached the age of sixty-seven years during the term of office for which he has been elected will have his term automatically extended until he retires at seventy. This provision has been designed to avoid the absurd situation of requiring a judge to stand for re-election when he may have left only a short time—perhaps only a few months or weeks — to serve before he is compelled to retire. This provision might well be extended to all elective officials, if and when they are subject to compulsory retirement has no application to judges now in office.

All judges, including those of the probate court, are to be elected for six-year term. Vacancies are to be filled by appointment by the governor, and the appointee is to serve until his successor has been elected and qualified. With respect to the supreme court only, the legislature is empowered to establish a special plan of appointment for the filling of vacancies and for the re-election of the chief justice and his associates. If the legislature should ever decide to put this plan into effect, any vacancy on that court would be filled by appointment by the governor from a list of three persons nominated by a non-partisan judicial commission created by law. A person so appointed would serve until he or a successor was duly elected. Once a justice of the supreme court had been elected in a free-for-all election, his name would go on the ballot in all succeeding future elections without an opponent; but with the simple question whether he should be retained in office. This latter provision would make it unnecessary for incumbents on that high court, who have once been elected, to engage in active political campaigns; but at the same time the voters would retain the necessary power to retire any incumbent who had proved himself unsatisfactory.

The proposed plan for the amendment of the Judiciary Article is deserving of wholehearted support. Without in any way impairing the independence of the judicial branch, it gives us a stabilized and modern judicial system, equipped to cope with the complexities of present-day litigation. It is significant that it is the product of, and unanimously recommended by, a judiciary committee composed of members representing the branch, the bar, the press, the farm, organized labor, and the legislature. In turn it has been unanimously approved by the Constitutional Commission as a whole. It gives us a genuine opportunity to improve the administration of justice.

Chilean Nitrate

Commercial exploitation of the Chilean nitrate deposits began early in the nineteenth century, says a Twentieth Century fund report. Since that time, nitrogen has become the basis of both life-giving and death-dealing activities. As an essential plant food, nitrogen has greatly increased crop yields and has permitted a growing population to be continuously better fed and better clothed. In high explosives and propellants, it has made possible death and destruction on an unprecedented scale. In peacetime, nitrogen is used in modern refrigerants, industrial explosives, nitric acid, dyes, plastics and other industrial products.

SCHOOL REORGANIZATION

Pennington county's school survey committee has submitted a tentative report with recommendations for consolidations of districts, and this report will now be given consideration by school board members and citizens thruout the county. The committee is asking for opinions, and of course opinions by groups, after study and discussion, are preferable. But individually or by groups, your opinions are wanted and they must be in in time to enable the committee to prepare a final report by November 1st.

These county study committees, here and elsewhere, are doing a uniformly good job with a difficult assignment. They have moved slowly, taking into consideration as much as possible local preferences. Their tentative recommendations probably fall far short of what may be the ultimate goal, probably because of a realization that changes in this field should come gradually. One of the recommendations in the final report of many of these county committees will be that more time should be allowed for further study of the problem.

And the legislature in its coming session probably will extend the time for final action, or remove the time limit altogether.

There are other problems that will require legislative attention before the ultimate in school district reorganization can be achieved. Large districts are desirable in the interests of higher standards and lower costs. But if we are to have larger districts, presumably organized around cities where high schools are maintained, then we will have to give consideration to the problem of representation. A city like Thief River Falls could properly be the center for a large school district area, and probably should have the balance of power in the control of the school system, but citizens of the rural communities should also have a voice in the government and be assured of some representation in its management.

And the enlargement of school districts should not come faster than roads are developed and equipment becomes available for quick and safe transportation of youngsters to and from school.

There are many things to be considered in this problem, some of them general in nature and some due to peculiar local conditions. It is your reaction to these problems and your reasons for either favoring or opposing consolidation that the county study committee wants to hear. So stand up and let yourself be heard.

The head of the British government spoke plainly to Parliament this week about the Russians. He stated that the present Russian government had no intention of maintaining peace, that they are not acting in good faith and are no more to be trusted than was the government of Hitler. Nothing strange about this perhaps. Not even the fact that the speaker is the head of Britain's labor government is unusual. American labor leaders have come to the same conclusion and that is the bright spot in the foreign picture. On this question we are united.

Top home game of the football season will be played on the Lincoln High grid tomorrow night when Grand Forks tries to square accounts for the drubbing administered to them last year by the Prowlers.

KILL RATS, SAVE FEED

Rats consume and destroy millions of dollars worth of foodstuffs yearly! One rat alone, it is estimated, spoils the equivalent of 1 to 2 bushels of corn every year. So kill rats and save your feed! Use Dr. Salsbury's Rat Death, containing antu, in powder or prepared-bait forms.

Growing the Avocado

The avocado is a subtropical fruit. Its commercial production thus is limited to localities with winters as mild as those in parts of Central and South America, in the islands of the Caribbean and in the extreme southern parts of the United States. It has been consumed primarily in areas adjacent to where it is grown, because people were familiar with it and because transportation to more distant places was difficult. Under present methods of handling, however, the fruit should reach consumers about one month after harvesting. The total supply of avocados in the United States available for consumption has expanded tremendously although irregularly between 1924, when it amounted to only 2,161 tons, and 1943, when it reached 27,618 tons. Between 1940 and 1946, the total yearly United States supply averaged 21,500 tons, compared with just over 3,560 tons between 1924 and 1930.

Carbon Monoxide Gas Is Winter Driving Hazard

Don't let cold weather be the beginning of the end for you, is the advice of University of Wyoming engineers. If there are any leaks in the exhaust system of cars and trucks operated with the windows tightly closed, a dangerous concentration of deadly carbon monoxide gas may accumulate inside the vehicle.

The muffler, exhaust pipe and exhaust manifold should be checked for leaks, because carbon monoxide gas is invisible and odorless and cannot be detected by either smell or sight. Actually, its first visible effect on a car or truck driver is drowsiness.

Because of the same danger from this lethal mixture, extreme care should be taken to avoid warming up automobiles, trucks or tractor motors inside buildings with closed doors. The doors always should be opened wide before the motor is started, so a free circulation of air can carry away the dangerous, death-dealing carbon monoxide gas.

American Dairyland Is Melting Pot of Breeds

The importation of cattle into the United States began fully 100 years before the great improvement in breeds started in England. Columbus may have brought some cattle to Cuba or South America on one of his later trips but it is certain that none of his animals were brought to the present boundaries of the United States.

Beginning with colonization of America, the first records of the importations became more definite and more accurate. The colony at Jamestown, Va., imported its first cattle in May, 1611. These were the black cattle of Spain, but a part of the stock came from England.

Devon cattle were shipped in 1624 from Devonshire, England, to the Plymouth colony. The Dutch settlers on Manhattan (New York) brought with them, in 1625, 103 head of livestock. These came from the Isle of Texel, near the coast of Holland and therefore probably were the Black and White (Friesian).

Delaware brought cattle in 1647 from Sweden. New Hampshire cattle were from the "large yellow" Danish cattle.

Jerseys, Elsie's breed, were first introduced into the United States in 1850. Their development began soon thereafter and has been pushed with earnestness.

Still Unearthing Pompeii

Mount Vesuvius struck at the thriving city of Pompeii in 79 A. D. Archaeologists are slowly revealing, through clues turned up in two centuries of digging, details of everyday life of the ancient community.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Peter Johnson, who passed away Sept. 28, 1947.

One year has passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away.
God took her home, it was his will,
Within our hearts she liveth still.
Rest on, dear Mother, thy labor is o'er,
Thy willing hands will toil no more,
A faithful mother, both true and kind,
A truer one we could not find.
For all of us she did her best,
God grants her now eternal rest.
Sadly missed by her family. 39p

JUNG WINNER OF SHORT-STOP HERE SUNDAY

Canadian Hot-shots Give Local Champ Tough Competition

Favored by near-perfect weather, eleven flights of golfers participated in the Autumn shortstop golf tournament played over the local course on Sunday. Vic Jung, of the local club, won top honors when he defeated Bob Gardner of St. Boniface, Manitoba, 2-up, in the finals. Other local golfers winning flights championship were Hans Chommie in the first flight, Ole Ekeren in the seventh flight, Jerry Tygeson in the eighth flight, and Phil LeGault in the tenth flight.

The tournament was given an international color by the presence of several Canadian golfers. Heading the Canadian contingent were Mike Pidlaski of Winnipeg and Bob Gardner of St. Boniface. Pidlaski is rated as one of Canada's top-flight amateur golfers, and he has won the Manitoba open and amateur championships several times. He won the International tournament held at Grand Forks last month.

In the championship flight, Vic Jung progressed through to the title by defeating Dr. Richard Robertson in a first round match, eliminated Wally Iverson in the quarter-finals, took the measure of Winnipeg's Pidlaski in the semi-finals, and then subduing Bob Gardner in the finals. Gardner, meanwhile, was defeating Crookston's Ernotte Hiller in a first round encounter, beating Edwood Karwand, 1-up, in the quarter-finals, and trouncing Bill Hovde in the semi-finals.

The match of the tournament, though, was the semi-finals battle between Vic Jung and Mike Pidlaski, and which was not decided until the fifth extra hole when Vic, on the green in two, dropped a 12-foot putt for a birdie three. The two golfers had finished the nine holes with a pair of 38's to force the match into extra holes. Pidlaski, with pars on the 3rd and 4th holes, had taken a 2-up lead, but Jung picked up a hole when he scored a par 4 on the 5th and evened the match with a birdie 4 on the long 7th hole.

Moving into extra holes, Jung was off to the left with his tee shot No. 1 hole, with Pidlaski's tee shot stopping on the apron below the green. Vic made a spectacular chip shot to lay his ball four feet from the pin. They halved the hole with par 3's. The long 2nd hole was halved with par 5's. The match was nearly ended on the 3rd hole when Pidlaski, on the edge of the green, and to the left, with his second shot, rolled an approach putt to within a yard of the pin. Jung had overplayed his approach and was past the pin and at the edge of the green with his third shot. Jung tried for the long putt, but the ball was a foot from the cup. Pidlaski's putt for a four and a win rimmed the cup and stayed out, giving Jung his opportunity to win the match on the 5th hole.

Jung	365	544	434—38
Pidlaski	364	434	534—38

Davis cup team who again clinched the classic tennis trophy for the United States by virtue of victories over Australia in matches held at Forest Hills, N. Y. Left to right are: Frank Parker, Bill Talbert, Alrick Mann, non-playing captain; Gardner Mulloy and Ted Schroeder. They are posed with the handsome trophy which they retained for the U. S. without being put to too much trouble. Winning the Davis cup matches has become a habit with American teams in recent years.

Grand Forks Here Friday---Prowlers Took Eagles 26-0

Don Stadum's 33-yard off-tackle run; two forward-lateral plays, with Stadum throwing a pass to Jerry Furuseth, and with Jerry tossing a lateral to Harley Wagner; and a pair of pass interceptions, with Don Green and Al Williamson doing the intercepting, gave the Prowlers four touchdowns and 24 points against Red Lake Falls on Friday afternoon, and a safety by the Eagles' Dwight Thibert added a pair of points to the locals' score to give the blue-and-gold squad a 26 to 0 win over coach Pinky Kraft's team in a district football game played at Red Lake Falls. On Friday night the Prowlers will move into North Valley conference competition when they meet the powerful Grand Forks Maroons on the local field. Grand Forks swamped the Crookston Pirates, 31 to 7, Saturday night and gave indications that they are primed to avenge the "upset" victory that the Prowlers scored over the Maroons last year and which led to a conference title for the Prowlers.

Against the bulky Eagles of Red Lake Falls on Friday afternoon the Prowlers made four sudden scoring thrusts. Midway in the opening period, from the Red Lake Falls' 33-yard line, Don Stadum sliced off right tackle and, shaking off a pair of tacklers and handing out a jolting stiff-arm, scampered over the west goal for a touchdown.

The second quarter found the locals adding 8 points to their total when they scored on a safety and a touchdown. Cal Bradley, from the Eagles' 5-yd. line, fumbled just as he drove over the goal line and Red Lake Falls' Thibert recovered the ball for a safety and two points for the Prowlers. Following the free kick, the Prowlers, from the Red Lake Falls' 45-yard line, scored on a nifty forward-lateral. Stadum pitched a pass to Jerry Furuseth on the Eagles' 20-yard line, and Jerry, just as he was about to be tackled on the 10-yard line, flipped a lateral to Harley Wagner, and the big end drove over for the touchdown.

The Prowlers added their 3rd and 4th touchdown in quick succession in the third period. Don Green intercepted a Red Lake Falls pass on the Prowler 28-yard line and ran 72 yards for a score; and five plays later, Al Williamson intercepted another Eagle pass to sprint 69 yards for a touchdown.

NORTH VALLEY CONFERENCE

Results of the week's game:
Crookston, 7, at Grand Forks, 31.

Games this week:
Grand Forks at Thief River Falls.
Grafton at East Grand Forks.
Crookston at Devils Lake.

All six teams of the North Valley conference will be in league play this week, with the highlight game being the encounter between the Grand Forks Central eleven and the defending Thief River Falls Prowlers at Thief River Falls. The powerful Grand Forks team opened its conference season last Saturday by swamping the Crookston Pirates, 31 to 7, at Grand Forks.

The Grand Forks team was sparked to its decisive win over the Pirates by speedy Ron Thompson, North Dakota high school sprint champion, scored two touchdowns and was a threat whenever he took the ballon a sweep around the ends, ends.

The Prowlers, who scored a surprising 20 to 0 win over the Maroons last year, had a comparatively easy game with Red Lake Falls on Friday afternoon, wining by a 26 to 0 score, and are "primed" for their crucial game against Ed Bohnhoff's Central squad. Jack Winter, the locals right halfback, was used sparingly in the Red Lake Falls game and it is expected that the speedy Prowler will be in the starting lineup on Friday night.

In the evening the parade will start at 7 p. m., followed by the game at 8:30 p. m.

A special attraction of Homecoming this year will be the dance held in the high school gym after the game. Senior high students, faculty, and alumni and their husbands or wives are cordially invited. Attendance will be restricted to the above groups; no outsiders will be permitted at the dance.

Shoes Require Special Care in Wet Weather

Shoes often suffer from wet weather. Once soaked they may never look as well or fit as comfortably unless they are properly dried and cared for.

Extension clothing specialists say that wet shoes should be taken off as soon as possible. Leather is weak when it's wet. Wearing wet shoes may pull them out of shape and cause breaks and other damage. Wet shoes should be stuffed with soft paper or absorbent cotton to take up moisture. Never use tension shoe trees because they may stretch the leather out of shape. Instead of drying the outside of shoes by rubbing, which may roughen the leather, pat with a soft cloth. When the inside moisture is absorbed, remove the stuffing and let the shoes dry slowly away from the heat. Fast drying with heat makes leather shrink, harden or crack.

As the shoes dry, clean them with saddle soap. Follow this with a little sulfonated castor oil rubbed in by hand. This treatment keeps leather soft and pliable. Work or play shoes that do not need polishing may be softened and made to resist moisture by rubbing them with beeswax, tallow, wool grease or petroleum jelly. Well-oiled shoes not only turn off moisture but also last longer. Outdoor work or children's shoes may be softened after getting wet by rubbing them with warm — not hot — neat's foot oil, castor oil or tallow.

Leather soles can be made moisture resistant by setting the shoes in a pan of just enough warm oil to cover the soles. Let them stand in this 15 minutes, taking care not to get the heels in the oil, for oil rots rubber.

Keeping Score

. . . . With HUCK OLSON

Could be the Championship

It isn't often that the outcome of an early season game has such an important bearing on the conference championship as Friday night's game between the Prowlers and Grand Forks Central, for the odds are that the winner of that game will ultimately win the league title.

"This is going to be our year," said Grand Forks' coach, Ed Bohnoff, following the Maroons 31 to 7 win over the Crookston Pirates on Saturday night. And coach Ed may be right, but he'll bump into a group of golden-helmeted Prowlers who will try and prove him wrong on Friday night.

Whether Bohnoff is a true or false prophet will be dependent upon whether or not the Prowlers will be able to keep Grand Forks' Ronnie Thompson "bottled up." The chunky and sturdy Thompson, the North Valley conference sprint champion the past two years, was spectacular against the Pirates on Saturday, and it appeared that he has developed some elusiveness to go with his breakaway speed. Thompson is one of the fastest players, if not the fastest, to appear on the local field. He's especially dangerous on sweeps around the ends and on the run-back of kicks, for then he can utilize his fine speed.

But the Prowlers aren't awed by Thompson's reputation, and if the fast-charging local line can smash into the Maroon backfield before Grand Forks' quarterback Dick Koppenhaver can set up the T-formation plays and before the blockers can punch open a lane, Thompson may have difficulty in getting loose. There will be some terrific play in the center of the line Friday night for Grand Forks takes great pride in their guards, Jerry Rossow and Dave Sullivan, and the Prowlers will have co-captain Joe Bradley and husky Don Green at the guard positions.

Friday night's game, which will start at 8:30 P. M., as will all the other home games on the Prowler schedule, will be the thirteenth between the two teams. The series began back in 1922 when a Prowler eleven captained by Rusty Anderson, and with such players as Ernie Barzen, Chuck Herron, Stan Sorenson, Melford LaBree, Craig Halvorson, Toby Holmgren, Hank Vorlicky, and John Sether in the lineup, defeated the Maroons, 20 to 0. To date each team has won five games, with two of the games, in 1930 and 31 ending in 0 to 0 ties. The most lop-sided score of the series was rolled up by Grand Forks in 1923 when the Maroons with Eddie Boe and McCracken heading the offense, defeated the Prowlers, 57 to 0.

Big Trapshoot on Sunday

A number of the boys will be able to reduce the High Cost of Living on Sunday when they participate in the merchandise trap shoot at the Fair Grounds and win for themselves a chicken or two.

Starting at 9:00 A. M. and continuing all day, shooters will be engaging in matches for merchandise. According to Cliff Bjorkman, who's in charge of the arrangements, the procedure to be followed will be the usual five shots to an entry, with each shooter limited to one shot from each position, and the winner being awarded the prize. In case of ties, and there are bound to be quite a few, those shooters will move back a yard and continue shooting until one winner has been determined.

Shotgun shells will be available on the grounds, but hunters may provide their own loads. Entry fee will be fifty cents.

With the opening of the duck season less than three weeks away, it will perhaps be wise for hunters to take advantage of the "chicken" season on Sunday.

Hockey Notes

Warroad's all-state high school hockey player, Max Oshie, was in town this week and, contrary to all reports, he hasn't made a definite decision as to his future. The report that he had signed a Chicago Black Hawk contract was an error, and the report that he had enrolled at Minnesota wasn't definite. Max had been down in Minneapolis attempting to arrange a program whereby it would be possible for him to attend the "U", but he didn't make the proper contacts. He made a trip to North Dakota this week, and it's possible that he'll enroll there.

The North Dakota hockey team received quite a blow this week when Russ and Milt Johnson verified the rumor that they wouldn't return to school this year. The two boys are planning on joining the A. H. A. all-star team that is to tour Europe this season. Russ was named to the all-star team following the tournament at Toledo, Ohio, last spring when, as a member of the Grand Forks Amerks, he was one of the tourney's stars. Milt, or Prince, was named as an alternate to the team, and the two boys have been invited to report to the Boston Arena for the try-outs.

TRAFFIC ARRESTS HIT ALL-TIME HIGH RECORD IN AUGUST

2,094 Drivers Were Arrested and 4,062 Tagged During Month

Minnesota traffic law violaters apprehended by the Highway patrol last month hit a new all-time high for the patrol's 19 years of existence with 2,094 arrests and 4,062 drivers tagged for operating with illegal or unsafe equipment. Last month's arrests for traffic violations on the state trunk system were 229 higher than July and 120 above those for last April, which previously had been record months. Traffic fatalities last month were 52 as compared with 66 in July.

The 4,062 illegal equipment tags dealt out to motorists, also an all-time one-month record, covered a total of 5,628 cases of faulty and dangerous mechanisms, of which 636 involved hazardously indequate brakes and 4,111 faulty lights. Of the drivers tagged for accident-inviting of their lights, 1,792 were driving without proper taillights, 850 had one headlight out, 108 were operating with illegal types of lamps, 112 had insufficient light for safety, 263 were trucks with no clearance lamps, and 986 had headlights which threw improperly adjusted beams.

In addition to those given "must repair" tags, 503 motorists were driving with equipment so grossly in violation of the law that they were placed under arrest.

Other arrests by Highway patrol officers included 220 for careless driving, 216 for speeding, 142 for running through stop signs or disobeying traffic signals, and 122 for improper passing or driving in the wrong lane. Eighty-four drunken drivers were arrested during the month, 294 motorists were apprehended for driving without a drivers license and 213 truckers were halted on the highway and hailed into court for hauling overweight axle loads.

In addition to arrests and illegal equipment tags, 1,288 drivers were dealt out written warning tags for marginal violations. Speed accounted for 222 of these improper passing or driving in the wrong lane for 161, "rolling stop" at stop signs for 158, and failure to have drivers licenses in the car or on the drivers person for 501. Patrol officers attended and gave aid in 306 serious traffic accidents during the month, making 71 arrests in connection with these mishaps.

DRIVERS LICENSE SEIZURES MOUNT DURING AUGUST

Total Forfeitures and Revocations Up From Last Year

Drivers licenses of 1,688 motorists were taken away by the courts during August for offenses against the state traffic laws, the State highway Department's Drivers License division reported this week. The forfeitures represented 414 drivers license revocations, as compared with 297 in August of 1947, and 1,254 suspensions as compared with 1,005 suspensions for the same month a year ago.

As of August 31, an even 3,000 Minnesota motorists had lost their driving privileges by license revocation since Jan. 1 and 10, 419 more drivers had been barred from the wheel by license suspensions. This was a total of 13,419 drivers license forfeitures for the first eight months of the year, compared with 10,538 in the corresponding eight months of 1947.

Revocations for drunken driving totalled 353 last month, with the permits of 22 other drivers being revoked because they were committed as inebriates. Speeding resulted in 22 revocations and 240 suspensions. Careless driving was the basis for 6 revocations and an even 100 suspensions.

Failure to comply with the state's safety responsibility act cost 528 motorists the suspension of their driving privilege, and failure to prove financial responsibility after an accident accounted for 98 suspensions. Of the 1,254 drivers whose permits were suspended, 296 were under 20 years of age and 528 were below the age of 25, while only 152 were over the 55 year age mark.

Small Business Holds Its Own Survey Shows

The number of small business in the country today; per thousand of population, is as large as at any time in our history and numerically there is no downward trend in sight, according to A. D. H. Kaplan, economist, whose report, "Small Business: Its place and Problems," is issued today by the Research and Policy committee of the Committee for Economic Development. This does not rule out the probability that the next few years will see a weeding out among the small businesses that mushroomed in the wartime and post-war sellers' market.

While small business has maintained its strength in numbers, it has lost some ground in the proportion it does of the nation's business. Three main factors will affect its future vitality, according to Kaplan: first and foremost, improved management; also greater availability of equity capital and an improved long range program of federal taxation.

In reviewing the present state of small business, Kaplan points to is importance for a healthy free enterprise economy and for our democratic society. In 1939, small business represented the source of 11 million jobs. If it is to contribute its future share to high productivity and employment, we should look to small business for 14 million jobs.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

By Arthur Naftalin

Last week's primary elections, as anticipated, provided no definite clue as to how Minnesota will go in the all-important November general election. But they did make clear one significant point, namely, that Minnesota is once again a two-party state and that the Democratic-Farmer-Labor Party is a genuine threat to the continuance of Republican dominance in the state.

The strong vote that State Auditor Stafford King polled against Governor Luther Youngdahl in the GOP primary indicated that there is a significant note of dissatisfaction in Republican ranks and that the GOP will have to fight to keep the support it has received in the last 10 years from among the state's large independent vote.

The stage is now set for the grand battle between Republican incumbent Senator Joseph H. Ball and his DFL opponent, Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey of Minneapolis. This is not likely to be a test of the comparative strength of the two parties, but there is little question that both party organizations will be out to win the day by electing their candidate.

Ball polled a larger vote than Humphrey, which led Ball's supporters to claim that he has the advantage. Humphrey's camp, on the other hand, insisted that Ball failed to get as large a percentage of the total GOP vote as Humphrey got of the total DFL vote.

Whatever the meaning of the primary, it is certain that neither side will concede victory or defeat until the ballots are in on November 2.

King's note of congratulations to Youngdahl contained an interesting comment. "I accept the result with a great sense of pride and gratitude," he said. "Together we fought the good fight," he continued, referring to his supporters, "and we are the stronger for it."

Observers immediately saw in this comment an indication that King is laying plans for two years hence. King had a few exciting moments early in the election countings when the first votes from St. Paul gave him a rather impressive lead over Youngdahl, but the votes from other sections of the state soon reversed the trend.

King's large vote in the primary has fired the hopes of Charles Halsted, the DFL nominee, that he may inherit much of the King support and spring an upset in the November election.

But the DFL chances for victory appear best in the Senatorial contest and in several of the Congressional districts. The contests that will be watched most closely are those in the Fourth district, where Eugene J. McCarthy opposes the GOP incumbent, Edward Devitt; the Third, where Roy Wier opposes GOP incumbent George MacKinnon, and the Eighth, where DFL incumbent John Blatnik is opposed by the winner of the William Berlin-William Pittenger GOP contest.

The victory of two of Henry Wallace's supporters in the contests for minor state offices and in two Congressional primaries is a source of embarrassment to the DFL Party.

The defeated Wallaceites immediately announced plans to set up a third Party. But their plans will be complicated by the very fact that a few of their primary candidates won positions on the DFL ticket. As a result, the Wallaceites will be in the strange predicament of campaigning for some DFL'ers and some Third party candidates.

It is unlikely that the DFL will attempt to run candidates on an independent basis for the offices that are lost to the Party in the primary, but the Party will certainly not embrace the victorious Wallaceites.

The latest Minnesota Poll shows that the Presidential contest is likely to be close in the state. Governor Dewey was shown as having 40 per cent; Truman, 39.

As a result, both sides will be gunning with unusual vigor for the state's 11 electoral votes. Already scheduled to appear are a long series of national speakers. Both Governor Dewey and Governor Warren will be in the state, as will President Truman and Senator Barkley. All the dates will be during the month of October.

In addition, a host of lesser lights are also being booked, including Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., for the Democrats, and Senators Vandenberg and Lodge for the Republicans.

In view of the closeness in the Presidential contest and the national excitement over the Ball-Humphrey clash, national news agencies are making extensive plans for full coverage of developments in Minnesota. National radio chains are angling for a Ball-Humphrey debate, which may or may not finally come off.

CHECK LIGHTS ON 476 CARS IN CITY

Patrol Finds Lights on 115 Cars Are Defective

The state highway patrol last Thursday evening checked the lights on 476 automobiles at a station on Second st., just west of Main av., and found 361 cars had satisfactory lights, while 115 were defective.

Drivers of the cars with glaring lights or otherwise out of adjustment received tickets ordering them to have the necessary corrections made.

At the same time the patrol checked on drivers licenses. Nearly all the motorists were found to have valid licenses, two being arrested for having expired licenses, while four others received written warnings for not having their drivers license on their person.

Cooperating in the check were patrolmen from this city, Roseau, Crookston and Moorhead.

Yeast in Swine Feed

From the experimental evidence to date, the value of dried yeast in swine nutrition, under average farm conditions, appears to be centered in its vitamin content. In certain areas where there are shortages of animal proteins, which likewise serve as vitamin carriers, the use of yeast as a vitamin source may be warranted. When plant proteins, especially soybean oil meal, are fed, there may be some beneficial effects in feeding 2 to 4 per cent of yeast in the ration as a source of some of the B-complex vitamins in which soybean oil meal is deficient. The limiting factor in the more widespread use of yeast in swine rations is dependent on its comparative cost with other comparative protein and vitamin sources. As soon as yeast can be sold at prices similar to those of animal protein supplements, it will have a place in certain swine rations.

SMILEY

There seems to be no end to the weary load the farmer carries nowadays. Time apparently hastens its tempo as the days just fly by. Flax harvesting is still going strong not to mention the combining and threshing of that treasure crop. Corn cutting and silaging are slowly taking place before frost hits its mark. There is plenty of haying and plowing to do not to mention getting the pullets housed and the barn ready for winter, who was it that said that the farmer had it soft.

Alan Cabot has arrived from spending the summer with his mother and brother, Mrs. Grace Cabot and Hugh in San Luis Obispo, Calif., Alan spent the week-end with his uncle's Will and Jim McCrum. He is attending Bemidji Teachers College and likes it swell. Hugh is attending a branch of the University of California in San Luis Obispo, Calif.

Coffee party guests at the Dave Christensen home Tuesday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Nels Severson and Bernice of Thief River Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Orton Olson and Byron of Long Beach, Cal. and Mrs. Regina Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rude and family motored to River Valley Sunday afternoon to see the huge dredging outfit work. It was very interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Lysum Cota spent Wednesday in Bovey. They attended the reburial services for a foster brother of Mrs. Cota's who was killed in action in the Philippine Islands during the recent war. The Cotas returned home the same evening.

Airways Travellers

Quite an unique event happened in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. L. Stenseth last week. They went on an airplane trip. Thats something that wouldn't happen to the best of us in any blue moon. It was like this—their son, Lynn, who is employed with the American Airways as one of their very able mechanics in Los Angeles, Calif. received free passes for himself and his parents on a week's planned vacation beginning from Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Stenseth journeyed by train to Chicago and met Lynn there. Together they boarded a huge plane that took them to Milwaukee where they visited shortly with Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Skjerping, a nephew of Mrs. Stenseth's. Back to Chicago the Stenseth's flew only to board another plane, that took them to Washington, D. C. There they saw the white house Washington Monument and many other points of interest. But the beauty of the streets all park like appalled them. They thought it was a very beautiful city. From there, they flew to New York City, oh that was out of this world, Wall Street, Rockerfeller Center, that lightning ride in the elevator to the top of the Empire State building. Words could not express the interesting things to see. They saw Mount Vernon, too. Back to Washington, D. C. they flew and thence to Chicago again to entrain for home. They including Lynn who will visit home folks for a week, arrived here Wednesday pretty tuckered out but, oh so pleased with their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoff spent the week-end with her folks the Walter Lendobejas. The Hoffs are now living in Grand Forks where they purchased a home. He is employed as one of the pharmacists in the brand new clinic across from the Deaconess hospital. He transferred from Bismarck, N. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grundhaus accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ranum and Maynard Ranum of Viking motored to the cities Friday evening. They attended the reburial services for Mrs. Grundhaus' brother, Glen, at the Fort Snelling chapel Saturday. The three little Grundhaus boys, Roger, Billy, and Leslie stayed with their aunt, Mrs. Howard Christie in twon.

The Melvin Torkelsons have sure been busy on their new farm in south Smiley. He has built a nice round roof barn for his livestock and they will soon move their house before winter sets in.

Making Camphor

Camphor is literally "sweated" out of the camphor trees, according to the World Book Encyclopedia. Branches of the tree are steamed until they give off drops of camphor as if they were perspiring. The camphor is then drained and pressed to remove the oil and water it contains, leaving whitish crystals.

Shipment of Animals

Overcrowding animals in trucks quite often occurs as farmers may wish to market a certain number of animals, or truckers are trying to get a better paying load. This is one of the principal causes of bruising, crippling and killing animals in transit.

Larger Eggs

Through a careful breeding program, commercial egg producers in North Carolina have increased the size of eggs considerably during the past few years.

Haswell Has Water

Water has played a big role in the settlement of the West. Founders of Haswell knew that, and used the name to inform pioneers that it was the site of a deep well of sweet, fresh water.
